Skin penetrating nanoparticles made airborne, enhanced with human chimeric spike proteins. And activated by 5G wireless energy!

Creating new MERS viruses with a fatality rate greater than 30 percent.

Newly leaked documents reveal researchers led by Peter Daszak applied for $14 million in funding. Make no mistake about this, this is all about global genocide!

Wuhan scientists were planning to release enhanced airborne coronaviruses into Chinese bat populations to inoculate them against diseases that could jump to humans, newly leaked grant proposals show.

New documents show that just 18 months before the first Covid-19 cases appeared, researchers led by Peter Daszak had submitted plans to release skin-penetrating nanoparticles containing “novel chimeric spike proteins” of bat coronaviruses into cave bats in Yunnan, China.

They also planned to create chimeric viruses, genetically enhanced to infect humans more easily and requested $14 million from the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency DARPA to fund the work.

They were hoping to introduce “human-specific cleavage sites” to bat coronaviruses which would make it easier for the virus to enter human cells.

When Covid-19 was first genetically sequenced, scientists were puzzled about how the virus had evolved such a human-specific adaptation at the cleavage site on the spike protein, which is the reason it is so infectious.

The documents were released by Drastic, the web-based investigations team set up by scientists from across the world to look into the origins of Covid-19.

In a statement, Drastic said: “Given that we find in this proposal a discussion of the planned introduction of human-specific cleavage sites, a review by the wider scientific community of the plausibility of artificial Covid insertion is warranted.”

The proposal included plans to mix high-risk natural coronavirus strains with more infectious varieties.

The bid was submitted by British zoologist Peter Daszak of EcoHealth Alliance, who has worked closely with the Wuhan Institute of Virology researching bat coronaviruses.

Team members included Dr. Shi Zhengli, the WIV researcher dubbed ‘bat woman’ as well as researchers from the University of North Carolina and the United States Geological Survey National Wildlife Centre.

DARPA refused to fund the work, saying: “It is clear that the proposed project led by Peter Daszak could have put local communities at risk”, and warned that the team had not properly considered the dangers of enhancing the virus, known as a gain of function research or releasing a vaccine by air. But that did not stop the work!

Grant documents show that the team also had some concerns about the vaccine program and said they would “conduct educational outreach ... so that there is a public understanding of what we are doing and why we are doing it, particularly because of the practice of bat consumption in the region.”

As promised, the documents have been released. A big thanks to anonymous whistleblowers around the world who have helped to expose and confound our enemies. The challenge has been to explain to those willing and wanting to listen to the big picture of Covid.

The world will never know the entire story of this crime, and the government will not let it be told, ever! The U.S. Government is complicit from beginning to end in what constitutes crimes against humanity. Sixteen U.S. intelligence agencies and many countries are involved.

Lieber later in this article. He is the only major named individual who has been arrested and prosecuted for Coronavirus which was as the top portion of the patent states it was patented in 2018, more than a year before by the Pirbright Institute, Bill Gates, and Richard Rothschild. That it in itself raises red flags!

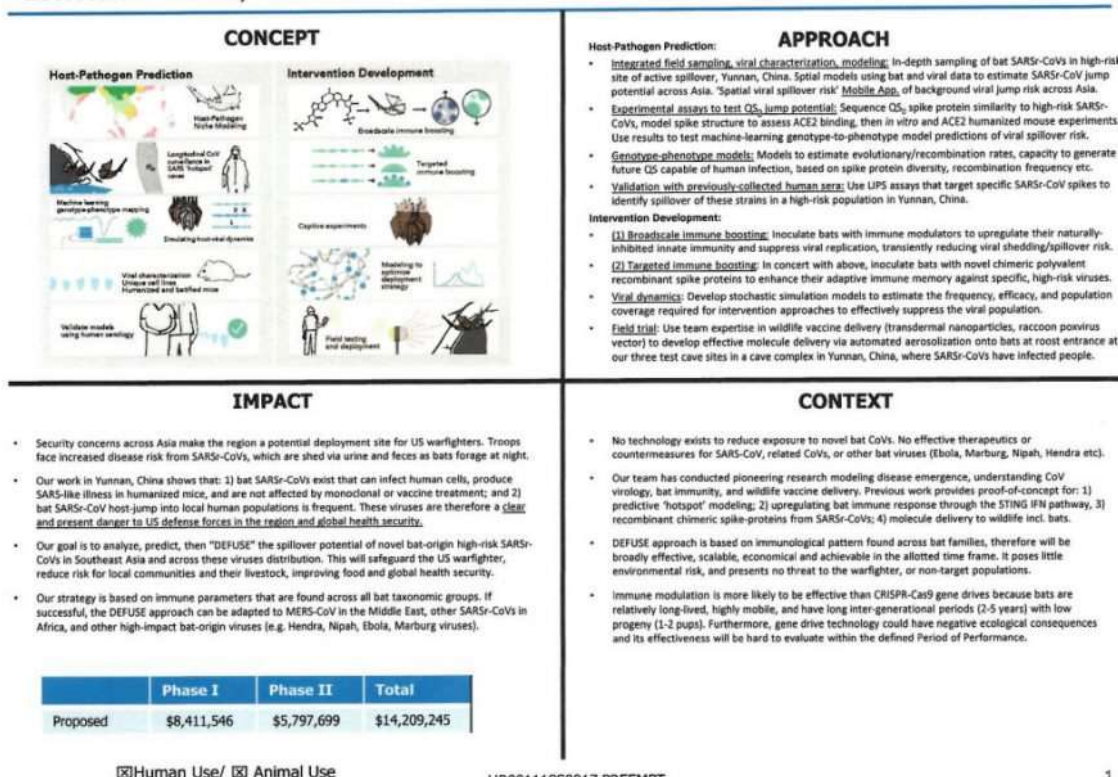

On Jan. 28, 2019 the FBI came knocking on his door. Lieber faced charges of trading knowledge for money and lying about it. Prosecutors allege he set up a lab in China in exchange for hundreds of thousands of dollars in payments from the Chinese government and then denied knowledge of those payments to U.S. investigators.

The Lieber case centers on a Chinese recruitment program called the Thousand Talents Plan. It was started by the Chinese government in 2008, primarily as a way to draw Chinese researchers back to China, according to Michael Lauer, the deputy director of extramural research at the National Institutes of Health.

"The Chinese government wanted to bring back outstanding scientists to China, so as to develop their science and technology," Lauer says. First, we need to know that it was Dr. Peter Daszak of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill who learned how to weaponize the Corona virus.

This proposal aims to identify and model spillover risk of novel, pandemic-potential SARS-related coronaviruses (SARSr-CoVs) in Asia, focusing specifically on known hotspot bat caves in China. In prior work under USAID Predict, the team identified high risk of SARSr-CoVs in specific caves in Asia. The project has a good running start since the hotspot caves already test positive, with high prevalence, for several SARSr viruses so the team won't be looking for needles in haystacks. The team will build on past surveillance work as well as some impressive work in developing geo-based risk maps of zoonotic hotspots based on past spillovers and ecological data. Two approaches are proposed to preempt zoonotic spillover through reduction of viral shedding in the bat caves: 1) innate immune boosting to downregulate viral regulation; 2) targeted immune boosting via vaccine inoculations using chimeric polyvalent recombinant spike proteins to protect against specific high risk viruses.

Two of three reviewers marked this proposal as Selectable. Key strengths are the experienced team and the selected coronavirus hotspot caves that show high prevalence for novel bat coronaviruses. Experimental in vivo and in vitro work is logically thought out and will be used to

Angus Dalgleish, Professor of Oncology at St Georges, University of London, who struggled to get work published showing that the Wuhan Lab had been carrying out “gain of function” work for years before the pandemic, said the research may have occurred even without the funding.

“This is clearly a gain of function, engineering the cleavage site and polishing the new viruses to enhance human cell inflexibility in more than one cell line,” he said.

Dr. Peter Daszak was also criticized for writing a letter published in 'The Lancet' last year which effectively shut down all global scientific debate into the origins of Covid-19.

Viscount Ridley, who has co-authored a book on the origin of Covid-19, and who has frequently called for a further investigation into what caused the pandemic in the House of Lords, said: "For more than a year I tried repeatedly to ask questions of Peter Daszak with no response."

"Now it turns out he had authored this vital piece of information about virus work in Wuhan but refused to share it with the world. I am furious. So should the world be?"

Peter Daszak and the EcoHealth Alliance proposed injecting deadly chimeric bat coronaviruses collected by the Wuhan Institute of Virology into humanized and 'beatified mice, and much, much more."

A Covid-19 researcher from the World Health Organization, who wished to remain anonymous, said it was alarming that the grant proposal included plans to enhance the more deadly disease of Middle-East Respiratory Syndrome MERS.

"The scary part is they were making infectious chimeric MERS viruses," the source said.

"These viruses have a fatality rate over 30 percent, which is at least an order of magnitude more deadly than Covid-19. If one of their receptor replacements made MERS spread similarly, while maintaining its lethality, this pandemic would have been nearly apocalyptic."

Peter Daszak, EcoHealth Alliance, and the Wuhan Institute of Virology have not responded to requests for comment.

Tony (cc'ing David so that you might pass this on to Tony once he has a spare second)

As the PI of the R01 grant publicly targeted by Fox News reporters at the Presidential press briefing last night, I just wanted to say a personal thankyou on behalf of our staff and collaborators, for publicly standing up and stating that the scientific evidence supports a natural origin for COVID-19 from a bat-to-human spillover, not a lab release from the Wuhan Institute of Virology.

It's been a very hard few months as these conspiracy theorists have gradually become politicized and hardened in their stance. Especially because the work we've been doing in collaboration with Chinese virologists has given us incredible insight into the risks that these viruses represent, so that we can directly help protect our nation from bat-origin coronaviruses. We're fighting to keep the communications open with our Chinese colleagues, so that we can better address future pandemics like COVID-19.

From my perspective, your comments are brave, and coming from your trusted voice, will help dispel the myths being spun around the virus' origins.

Once this pandemic's over I look forward thanking you in person and let you know how important your comments are to us all.

Cheers,

Peter

I am sharing some of Dave Hodges post for Wednesday, September 22, 2021 as evidence showing the Plot to Exterminate Most Americans Is Generations Old and The Plans Are Finally Coming to Fruition.

The revelation that there are medical martial law FEMA camps emerging into the full view of the public in Washington, upset many people. I (Dave Hodges) was accused of fabricating the story and that no American President would ever authorize such an action against American citizens. I was accused of click baiting the story.

Let's take a walk down memory lane as I lay the foundation for the people who are obviously new to the struggle between globalists and the average citizen. The proof for the coming genocide is overwhelming and this is the short version.

Forced Labor Camps

One of the first Soviet forced labor camps was the Solovetsky Special Purpose Camp (SLON), known as Solovki. It was at this camp that the idea was hatched of expanding the prison system into a huge network caught on. It was found that prisoners could be used for labor at practically no cost to the state because prisoners require no wages and only minimal expense for room and board. Prisoners could simply be forced to work until they dropped dead. As you will see later in this article, we are beginning to see the same thing happen in American prisons. The Gulag Camps rapidly spread across the Soviet Union in the 1930's.

Administered by the NKVD, the Gulag became a state within a state, with its own laws, government and even its own economy, which some speculate may have been larger than the Soviet state. Camps were located in isolated areas, many in the vast expanses of Siberia, where the climate and the land were often fatal to the political prisoners over time. Most Soviet citizens, who were sent to Siberia, never returned.

Detention Centers

Every effective martial law plan must have a series of detention centers to deal with dissenters (i.e. enemies of the state). To some the existence of FEMA camps may be controversial, but what is not controversial is that there are clear legislative references to the unwarranted detention of American citizens which have been written into law. In other words, the practice of rounding up segments of the American population and forcibly detaining them has been codified into law.

Again, the tenets of the NDAA make unwarranted and unconstitutional arrests and indefinite detention a "legal action" on the part of the Federal Government. As a reminder, Presidential Executive Order EO 13603 calls for the establishment of such labor camps.

Regardless of one's position on FEMA camps, the following legislation speaks clearly to the preparations on the part of the U.S. government. Here are only a very few examples of concentration camp plans for use on American soil:

Back in 1970, the former head of FEMA, planned to detain as many as 21 million African Americans in case of a black militant uprising in the U.S. Readiness Exercise 1984 (Rex 84).

Operation Garden Plot, an operational plan to use the Army, USAF, Navy, and Marine Corp. in direct support of civil disturbance control operations. It has since added numerous elements under the rubric of Continuity of Government, the overall war on terror, civil disturbance and emergency response.

A Bush era Executive Order, Presidential Decision Directive 51, gives Obama dictatorial powers in times of declared, and not necessarily a real national emergency.

Go to The Common Sense Show's website, use the search engine and read about FM 39.4...

The plot to incarcerate dissidents for purposes of deciding who can be re-educated and who should be exterminated, is decades old. Everyone from the Bolshevik left ranging from Kissinger and now the Bush crime family to Obama to the Biden Crime family has had a hand in the preparation.

Bill Ayers was the person credited for selecting and guiding Obama's meteoric rise to political fame and power. Ayers, in effect was one of the early members of the Deep State who made selections about who would become the President. Ayers was the head of the infamous Weather Underground which was comprised of so-called "red-diaper- dissidents". These revolutionaries were not the typical hippies of the 1960's, they were educated Ivy-League grads, many with Master's degrees, who have penetrated the American power structure and have had an enormous influence on "selected" people who would assume the reins of power.

The late Larry Grathwohl penetrated the Weather Underground, as an FBI special informant, and recounts in the following video, what people like Ayers have had in mind on how to deal with people like you who dare to visit web sites such as these. The following is Grathwohl's chilling account of our collective future in the so-called FEMA camps that many are afraid to admit exist, or are trying obfuscate their true existence and purpose.

Please note that Ayers and his wife are still DNC operatives.

America Has Slave Labor Camps, Today, That Will Easily Convert to the Traditional Political Prisoners Camp and It's Sanctioned by Multiple State Governments.

Many years ago, when Dave Hodges' critics were not paying attention, researchers, like Ben Stein, stated that The American Legislative Exchange (ALEC), comprised of a think-tank of 2,400 state legislators from the 50 states, wrote uniform legislation which "has proven expertly capable of devising endless ways to help private corporations financially benefit from the country's massive prison population." This is state-sponsored slavery. Welcome to the administration of justice, Gulag style. How this does not violate the 13th Amendment's prohibition on slavery is a mystery, or maybe it is not so mysterious, when one considers that the Bush family is at the center of privatizing prisons for profit.

When the Biden administration crackdown comes in its final form, they will be hunting humans who fall into one of several categories. Are you on the list, keep reading and you will have a very good idea?

According to the Department of Homeland Security, You Are a Domestic Terrorist If You Possess Any of the Following attributes:

- If you question election integrity on any level, then you are a terrorist.
- If you question the ever-changing medical opinions of the CDC, FDA, Big Pharma Czar Dr. Fauci, any Health Official, then you are a terrorist.
- If you worship the Lord on any religious holiday, then you are a terrorist.
- If you challenge anything coming out of the Biden administration, then you are a terrorist.
- If you are Christian who believes the Bible is the Word of God, then you are a terrorist.
- If you are a returning veteran, then you are a terrorist.
- If you are a Libertarian, then you are a terrorist.
- If you are a supporter of the Constitution, then you are a terrorist.
- If you are a supporter of Ron Paul ideals of limited government, then you are a terrorist.
- If you store more than 3 days of food and water, then you are a terrorist.
- If you grow your own food, then you are a terrorist.
- If you are a gun owner or support the Second Amendment, then you are a terrorist.
- If you question government authority and notice the conspiracies that they ferment, then you are a terrorist.
- If you protest against the government's unconstitutional acts, then you are a terrorist.
- If you take photographs in public, then you are a terrorist.
- If you videotape the cops committing police brutality, then you are a terrorist.
- If you make a phone call, send an email or text message, visit a pro-constitution website, email anyone, post or visit on Facebook, use Google, travel by plane, then you are a terrorist because every one of these actions are monitored under the guise of detecting terrorism.

Did you see yourself on these DHS identified lists? If so, you are an enemy of the state and there are plans to deal with you. If you think you can maintain a low profile and avoid what is coming, think again.

Enemies of the Emerging Bolshevik State Are Dealt With

Following the identification of the new enemies of the state, the martial law authority gives itself permission to act against these groups and this is exactly what we are seeing in America. The Nazis, the KGB and the East German Stasi have nothing on the DHS. What would have been unthinkable only a generation ago in the form tyrannical abuse of power by the government, has arrived inside our country and it has arrived with a vengeance. Below, is just a small cross-section of the tyranny which has been visited upon America.

- The NDAA allows for unwarranted, illegal and indefinite detention of American citizens without the due process of law. Every person reading these words fits into one of the above categories in which DHS declares you to be a terrorist. This violates the entire Bill of Rights. No lawyer, no bail, no arraignment, no show cause hearing, no restrictions on length of incarceration, no right to cross examine witnesses against you and no right to ever be heard from again. Attorney General Holder has declared that any left-leaning President can use this act to murder Americans, through the use of domestically deployed drones, and it is presently being done. This act alone negates any civil liberty protections from this criminal enterprise government.
- Executive Order 13603 gives the President the right to take control over every material resource in America including food, water, industry, transportation, personal property and especially human capital. EO 13603 legalizes state-sponsored slavery. Look it up, do your research. Use the search engine of The Common Sense Show.
- The Patriot Act gives the government the right to spy on your every communication in violation of the Fourth Amendment in order to determine who constitutes a threat to the state. White House Press Secretary announced that the Biden administration, compliant SMS providers and social media will report and censor any email or text message.
- Please note, that every personal conversation is recorded by the AI of the NSA through any electronic device. Virtually, every word you say is recorded, scored and catalogued. All Americans have an evolving threat matrix score. On some bright morning, the people below the cutoff point will be "dealt with."
- New gun legislation sweeping the country negates your right to self-protection against intruders or an unconstitutionally intrusive government.
- As reported several times on the CSS, foreign troops are now on American soil training to confiscate guns and permanently deal with resisters to the confiscations.

The late Zbigniew Brzezinski was an insider's insider. He sets the tone for the coming genocide against the American people. He and David Rockefeller co-founded the Trilateral Commission. He served as Jimmy Carter's National Security Adviser. He may as well have been called Mr. President during the Carter years because he ran the U.S. economy into the ground while undermining American sovereignty during the Carter administration. Many suspect that he also controls Obama. He was, after all, Obama's Russian Studies professor at Columbia back in the 1980's. We know that he handpicked Jimmy Carter to become the President and many suspect he had a large hand in grooming Obama for the same job. Brzezinski's close affiliation with Rockefeller makes him a person of interest when it comes to the subjugation, of not only this country, but of the entire planet. Brzezinski was obviously the globalist's man on the ground and serves the role as puppet master. Therefore, we would be wise to listen and to take seriously what this New World demagogue has to say because he and his globalist colleagues are beyond hiding their intentions, they are making their move because they know if they don't move soon, that too many people on the planet will awaken and stop their tyranny in its tracks.

The Late Brzezinski Admitted That the NWO Is Losing the Propaganda War

During a speech in Poland, Brzezinski publicly lamented that it has become "increasingly difficult to suppress" and control the "persistent and highly motivated populist resistance of politically awakened and historically resentful peoples." Brzezinski is clearly referring to us, the people in the alternative media.

Whether you have a large following by hosting your own talk show, or you have a large website where you expose the truth, or you simply write on message boards and also alert your family to the tyranny that has overrun our country, all of us are part of the alternative media. None of us are more important than any other freedom fighter. Look in the mirror, you are the last line of resistance to the planned eugenics take over on this planet and we are damned effective!

This is why McCain once introduced legislation to fine bloggers $300,000 for "offensive" comments. This is why McCain sponsored another piece of legislation to give away control of the Internet to Verizon and Bell South several years ago. This is why we have seen SOPA and Feinstein's recent attempt to silence citizen journalists. Obama/Brzezinski tried to give the Trans Pacific Partnership to give control of the Internet, for its member nations, to a small tribunal and this cannot be challenged in Congress. Trump shut down the Trans Pacific Partnership.

Brzezinski Sounds Like a Scared Despot Before His Death

Brzezinski's call of warning to the "global political awakening" has only intensified in recent years. In 2012, Brzezinski also blamed the accessibility of "radio, television and the Internet" for the "universal awakening of mass political consciousness." This statement is tantamount to admitting that the globalists are losing.

Brzezinski expressed even more of a sense of globalist dread and panic during a 2010 Council on Foreign Relations speech in Montreal in which he stated that "the major world powers, new and old, also face a novel reality: while the lethality of their military might is greater than ever, their capacity to impose control over the politically awakened masses of the world is at a historic low. To put it bluntly: "in earlier times, it was easier to control one million people than to physically kill one million people; today, it is infinitely easier to kill one million people than to control one million people," said. There can be no other reasonable interpretation, that this is a direct threat against all who oppose being enslaved and eventually exterminated.

The meaning of Brzezinski's words are quite clear. If the globalists are unable to control us, they will attempt to kill us. This is not a surprising statement from a man who has proven himself to be a dedicated sociopath and will stop at nothing to realize his dream of globalist domination of the planet within his lifetime.

The day for killing has arrived. Whether it is the incessant trail of jabs that they have planned for us, World War III, or FEMA extermination camps, the global depopulation plan is in full swing.

In a previous article, for those who are unconvinced, I revealed the FEMA camps that are hiding in your neighborhood in plain sight. Covid isolation camps by any name is still a FEMA extermination camp.

A whistleblower has sensationally claimed China deliberately spread Covid at a military tournament two months before the rest of the world knew about the deadly virus.

Ex-Chinese Communist Party insider Wei Jingsheng said The World Military Games in October 2019 could have acted as the virus' first super spreader event.

The international tournament for military athletes was held in Wuhan - the origin of the Covid-19 pandemic - two months before China notified the World Health Organization about its first cases. Mr. Jingsheng claimed it was no coincidence some of the 9,000 international athletes who gathered for the event reportedly became sick with a mystery illness.

A Chinese whistleblower claims Covid was in Wuhan months prior.

While China has tried to insist the virus originated elsewhere, academics, politicians and the media have contemplated the possibility it leaked from a high-level biochemical lab in Wuhan - raising suspicions that Chinese official's simply hid evidence of the early spread

"I thought the Chinese government would take this opportunity to spread the virus during the Military Games, as many foreigners would show up there," he told the new 'Sky News' documentary What Really Happened in Wuhan.

The whistleblower claimed he had heard of the Chinese government carrying out an 'unusual exercise' during the games.

"[I knew] of the possibility of the Chinese government using some strange weapons, including biological weapons, because I knew they were doing experiments of that sort," he said.

His claims were supported by the former Principal China Adviser to the U.S. State Department Miles Yu. He said French, German and American athletes were among those to fall ill at the tournament with Covid-like symptoms, but were never tested for the virus.

August 2021: The world's first Covid-19 patient may have been infected by a bat while working for a Wuhan lab in China, WHO chief Dr. Peter Embarek said.

August: A damning report by Republicans in the U.S. claims coronavirus leaked from the Wuhan Institute of Virology, shortly after the facility tried to improve air safety and waste treatment systems.

The report also cited 'ample evidence' that lab scientists were working to modify coronaviruses to infect humans and such manipulation could be hidden.

"We see some indications in our own data... that there was Covid circulating in the United States as early as early December, possibly earlier than that," ex-U.S. State Department Covid-19 investigator David Asher said.

Mr. Jingsheng also claims he took his concerns about the unfolding situation to senior figures within the Trump administration in November 2019 but was ignored. The long-time democracy campaigner, who has served time in prison for 'counter-revolutionary activities', said he made the approach as whispers of a 'new SARS virus' began circulating on WeChat and other Chinese social media platforms.

"I felt they were not as concerned as I was, so I tried my best to provide more detail and information," he said.

"They may not believe that a government of a country would do something like that (cover up a virus), so I kept repeating myself in an effort ... to persuade them."

Xi Jinping's authoritarian regime tried desperately to shut down whistle-blowers and silence any discussion of the virus in the early stages of the Wuhan outbreak - even when an untold number of corpses started flooding the city's hospitals.

Any references made in social media about a new SARS virus or 'outbreak' were censored and brave medical staff who tried to speak out and warn the world were detained and forced to sign false confessions of panic-stirring.

Mr. Jingsheng who was exiled to the U.S. years earlier said he was aware of what was happening through Beijing Communist Party insiders who shared their fears about the situation and described the central government cover-up.

But despite the impending health crisis set to devastate the U.S. and the rest of the globe, his message was not being taken seriously, he claims.

The Chinese dissident would not disclose which political leaders he spoke to but insisted they were senior government figures and had the ear of then-President Donald Trump. "I'm not sure if this politician wants me to talk about him right here," he said. "But I want to say he is a high enough politician, high enough to be able to reach the President of the United States."

As coronavirus cases continued to ravage China, the authoritarian state kept the outbreak hidden from the WHO until December 31, when it was no longer possible to contain knowledge of its existence.

But even then, Beijing denied the virus could be transmitted from person to person until eventually coming clean a month at the end of January.

The WHO labelled the mysterious outbreak a Public Health Emergency of International Concern on 30 January 2020, as infections started sweeping across other nations including the US earlier that same month.

In August this year, Dr. Peter Embarek, who led the WHO probe into the origins of the coronavirus pandemic in China, said the world's first Covid-19 patient may have been infected by a bat while working for a Wuhan lab in China.

Dr. Embarek made the shocking claim despite initially dismissing the notion that the virus escaped from a lab as extremely unlikely.

Embarek later admitted that the lab leak theory could have happened, suggesting that a Chinese researcher could have been infected by a bat while taking samples in connection with research at a Wuhan lab.

Some have suggested the source of the virus was the Wuhan Institute of Virology, a Chinese lab that is the world's largest centre of research on coronaviruses. They believe the virus was either uncovered at the lab - which collects coronaviruses from wild animals - or else engineered through 'gain of function' research.

Such research involves adding properties such as increased transmissibility to already-existing viruses to study the effects and develop treatments before such diseases crop up in the wild. But the research is hugely controversial, with many scientists arguing the risks of creating such viruses far outweigh the potential benefits.

According to proponents of this theory, the virus then leaked from the lab - possibly by infecting staff who then unwittingly passed it to the general population.

One intelligence report passed to agencies in Washington claims three members of staff at the laboratory sought hospital treatment in November 2019 - a month before the first official cases of Covid were detected, the Wall Street Journal reported.

Their symptoms were 'consistent with both Covid-19 and common seasonal illness', the report says, calling for further investigation.

That tallies with a body of evidence suggesting Covid may have been circulating for months before China first reported it to the world - either as a result of the often-mild disease going undetected, or the result of a cover-up.

Scientists in Italy claim to have detected evidence of Covid in blood samples taken as far back as September 2019, while researchers in Spain say the disease could have been present there in January 2020 - months before the first official case.

Even the authors of the much-derided WHO report admitted they could not rule out the possibility that Covid was circulating before December 2019. But it was not until December 31, 2019 that the WHO's China office was informed of a mystery pneumonia which had sickened 44 people in Wuhan.

Later, the WHO was informed that at least one patient in Wuhan - a major transport hub - had been showing symptoms as early as December 8, 2019.

The Chinese dissident would not disclose which political leaders he spoke to but insisted they were senior government figures and had the ear of then-President Donald Trump.

Chinese scientists and officials have been keen to point the finger of blame outside their own borders - variously suggesting that the virus could have originated in Bangladesh, the US, Greece, Australia, India, Italy, Czech Republic, Russia or Serbia.

Multiple countries have uncovered evidence that the virus was circulating months earlier than originally thought. While Beijing has tried to insist this proves the virus originated elsewhere, most scientists still think China was the origin - raising the prospect that communist officials simply hid evidence of the early spread.

A separate WHO-backed report said it was 'clear' that 'public health measures could have been applied more forcefully by local and national health authorities in China' last January. It said there was 'potential for early signs to have been acted on more rapidly' by both China and the WHO.

The criticism was at odds with the WHO's public statements at the time, when it praised China for the 'remarkable speed' with which it responded to the outbreak.

Beijing has touted its recovery from the early outbreak as a triumph for its Communist leaders, with China's economy the only major one to grow in 2020.

But numerous reports have detailed how China withheld key details about the virus in its early stages, including from the WHO which has praised China in public.

The great cover-up of China: Beijing punished Covid whistleblower, claimed it came from the U.S. and 'lied about death figures'

China has lied and covered up key information during virtually every stage of its coronavirus response - from the initial outbreak to the number of cases and deaths, and is still not telling the truth, observers, experts and politicians have warned.

Beijing initially tried to cover up the virus by punishing medics who discovered it, denying it could spread person-to-person and delaying a lockdown of affected regions - meaning early opportunities to control the spread were lost.

Then, once the virus began spreading, the Communist Party began censoring public information about it and spread disinformation overseas - including suggesting that US troops could have been the initial carriers.

Even now, prominent politicians have warned that infection and death totals being reported by the regime are likely to be wrong - with locals in the epicenter of Wuhan suggesting the true tolls could be ten times higher.

Initial outbreak

Doctors in China, including Li Wenliang, began reporting the existence of a new type of respiratory infection that was similar to SARS in early December last year.

But rather than publicize the reports and warn the public, Chinese police hauled Wenliang and eight of his colleagues who had been posting about the virus online in for questioning.

Wenliang, who would later die from the virus, was forced to sign a document admitting the information he published was false.

While China has been widely-praised for a draconian lockdown that helped slow the spread of the virus, evidence suggests that the country could have acted much quicker to prevent the spread.

Dr. Li Wenliang, one of the first Chinese medics to report the existence of the new coronavirus, was forced by police to confess to spreading false data. He later died from the virus

Samples analyzed as early as December 26 suggested a new type of SARS was circulating, the 'Washington Post' reported, but Wuhan was not locked down until January 22 - almost a month later.

Wuhan's mayor also admitted an error that allowed 5 million people to travel out of the city before the lockdown came into place without being checked for the virus, potentially helping it to spread.

Chinese authorities have also been reluctant to hand over information on the country's 'patient zero' - or the first person known to have contracted the virus.

While Beijing claims the first infection took place on December 8th, researchers have traced the virus back to at least December 1st and anecdotal evidence suggests it was spreading in November of 2019.

A lack of information about the first patient has meant scientists are still unclear how the disease made the leap from animals into humans.

Theories include that it could have been carried by a bat or pangolin that was sold at a market in Wuhan and then eaten by someone, but this has not been confirmed.

Chinese authorities initially reported that the virus could not spread person-to-person, despite evidence that it was spreading rapidly through the city of Wuhan including doctors being infected by patients.

This was used as justification for keeping the city of Wuhan operating as normal through a major CCP conference that was held between January 11th and 17th, with authorities claiming zero new cases in this period.

China did not confirm human-to-human transmission of the virus until late January, when large parts of Hubei province including Wuhan were put into lockdown.

Despite reporting the existence of a 'novel type of pneumonia' to the World Health Organization on December 31, Wuhan's largest newspaper also made no mention of the virus until the week of January 20.

That meant people in the city were not taking precautions such as social distancing to stop it spreading. It also meant that people had begun travelling for the Lunar New Year holiday, which was due to start on January 24 and sees millions of people visit relatives, spreading the virus further.

Furthermore, China delayed reports suggesting that some 14% of patients who initially tested negative for the virus or who appeared to have recovered tested positive a second time, only confirming such cases in February.

That further hampered efforts at early containment of the virus in places such as Japan, where patients who tested negative on board the "Diamond Princess" cruise ship were allowed to leave - only to test positive later.

Authorities in Beijing were also slow to report the deaths of two doctors from the virus, including one who was killed on January 25th but whose death was not reported by state media until a month later.

The market was shut on January 1st after dozens of workers there had contracted the disease.

Origin of the Virus

Despite early admissions that the virus began in the city of Wuhan, China later backtracked - even going so far as to suggest American troops had brought the infection over after visiting the province.

Lijian Zhao, a prominent official within the Chinese Foreign Ministry, tweeted out the claim on March 12 while providing no evidence to substantiate it. "When did patient zero begin in U.S.? How many people are infected? What are the names of the hospitals," he wrote.

Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Zhao Lijian said the U.S. lacked transparency and accused American military members of bringing the coronavirus to Wuhan.

Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Zhao Lijian accused American military members of bringing the coronavirus to Wuhan.

Referencing a military athletics tournament in Wuhan in October, which U.S. troops attended, he wrote: "It might be U.S. army who brought the epidemic to Wuhan."

"Be transparent! Make public your data! U.S. owe us an explanation!"

In fact, America's 'patient zero' was a man who travelled from China to Washington State on January 15th. The case was confirmed by the CDC six days later.

Chinese has also tried to push the theory that the virus originated in Italy, the country with the most deaths, by distorting a quote from an Italian doctor who suggested the country's first cases could have occurred much earlier than thought.

Zhao spread the theory in a tweet, while providing no evidence to back it up

Giuseppe Remuzzi said he is investigating strange cases of pneumonia as far back as December and November, months before the virus was known to have spread.

Chinese state media widely reported his comments while also suggesting that the virus could have originated in Italy. In fact, Remuzzi says, there can be no doubt it started in Wuhan - but may have spread out of the province and across the world earlier than thought.

China has reported a total of some 95,000 infections from coronavirus, and at points has claimed a domestic infection rate of zero for several days in a row - even as it eased lockdown restrictions in places like Hubei.

But, by the country's own admission, the virus is likely still spreading - via people who have few or no symptoms.

Beijing-based outlet Caixin reported that 'a couple to over 10 cases of covert infections of the virus are being detected' in China every day, despite not showing up in official data.

Meanwhile foreign governments have heaped scorn on China's infection reporting cannot be trusted.

Marco Rubio, a prominent Republican senator and former presidential candidate from the U.S., tweeted that 'we have NO IDEA how many cases China really has' after the U.S. infection total passed Beijing's official figure.

"Without any doubt it's significantly more than what they admit to," he added.

Meanwhile the UK government has also cast doubt on China's reporting, with Conservative minister and former Prime Ministerial candidate Michael Gove claiming the Communist Party could not be trusted.

"Some of the reporting from China was not clear about the scale, the nature, the infectiousness of this [virus]," he told the BBC. Meanwhile sources told the 'Mail' that China's true infection total could be anything up to 40X times as high as reports had suggested.

Marco Rubio, has said that China's figures cannot be trusted and at a far higher rate than has been reported.

Doubt has also been cast on China's reported death toll from the virus.

Locals in epicenter city Wuhan have been keeping an eye on funeral homes since lockdown restrictions were partly lifted, claiming they have been 'working around the clock' to dispose of bodies. Satellite photos confirmed this to be the case.

China has reported a few thousand deaths from the virus, but social media users in Wuhan have suggested the toll could be in excess of 42,000. Cancelled cell phone accounts suggest that could be as high as 21-million!

Life in Beijing starts to return to normal after months of quarantine.

The facts suggest that the UK set up China to be the fall guy in a fake setup so that the public would take a vax once it was released. The patents link back to espionage on the part of the UK and its Pirbright Institute Labs and UK agents from MI5 and MI6. The U.S. was also set-up in the process, designed to provoke a war between China and the U.S. Thomas Paine of Americans for Intelligence Media explains that in their video "Then he conquered the common cold." Gabriel (pen name Thomas Paine) unravels how Kinetics, spelled with a Q and ends with a Q.

Douglas Gabriel and Michael McKibben discuss the evil secret society called the Pilgrims Society. Once you see how this organization is responsible for war, strife, and white supremacy around the world, you will demand that your elected officials shut them down for being a domestic and foreign terrorist organization.

If you want to find the source of WHITE SUPREMACY, look no further than this domestic-foreign group – the Pilgrims Society. This is the world's most dangerous enemy and they should be named as a terrorist organization in all freedom-loving countries. They fund terrorism, war, and internal strife. They own the media and the publishing houses and spew fake news, revisionist history, and propaganda. They are the enemy of the people.

At the time, Professor Charles Lieber was one of the biggest names — and one of the few not of Chinese origin — swept up in the wide-ranging China Initiative, which was ostensibly launched to prosecute trade secret theft, hacking, and economic espionage.

I have written other articles on how the Pirbright Institute back in Surrey, UK used its 5G technology to activate the Corona virus as it was passing directly over Wuhan City as China was activating its “smart city” 5G technologies through nanotubes pictured on page 29 below. It is titled “A Weaponized 5G Wireless Nanotube Delivery System” If you study the drawing of Professor Charles Lieber, you can begin to grasp the larger agenda afoot to depopulate large segments of population through 5G wireless energy. It is a hurdle for many who are not tech savvy as to how 5G will play into the goals of “Silent Weapons for Quiet Wars”. With heavy chemtrail spraying almost constantly across the nation for twenty-five years most people are oblivious that they are walking targets in what are “kill zones” in which 5G will be turned on to activate absorbed Corona virus.

I have the impression this article was never meant to see the light of day from all that I have read. There is a great deal of confusion and disinformation that has been put out to confuse those following the trail of evidence. Two months ago I received specifics relative to this report above containing a number of links containing documents that in my view appeared to be an indictment of the Chinese CCP and the medical-academic complex of the U.S. I studied the documents, listed in the links as PDF files. I set it aside in a working file that I keep for ‘work-in-progress’ and let it sit there since I had additional questions that remain unanswered. I am a lone researcher in this investigation of the Covid drama which I have from even before “day one” was convinced it was not about a virus, merely being used as a “smoke screen” for other agendas, and filled with globalist intrigue.

Recently, a prominent Harvard scientist was convicted of a series of crimes related to the Covid story going back to an arrest made in early 2020. His work-related ties to Canada, China, the UK, Israel, had been in my focused attention in early 2020 when he was arrested. I could be entirely wrong on this but my suspicions are and continue to be that Dr. Charles Lieber was also operating as a double and possibly a triple agent. This will be detailed in more detail below. The Department of Justice conviction suggests those six counts were a white-wash slap on the wrist of something far more serious and sinister in nature and the government could not reveal in that it could prove to be of embarrassment to one or more of the U.S. alphabet intelligence agencies.

I have an article in my files stating indicted Harvard carbon nanotube bio-warfare [likely constructed the Coronavirus nanotube 5G delivery system] professor Charles M. Lieber has hidden from public disclosure that his father (the son of a Romanian Jewish émigré candy manufacturer Leo Lieber), Robert I. Lieber, was a satellite tracking and radar spy for RCA's AEGIS satellite system (Sir Geoffrey Pattie, Privy Council, NBC, GE, BBC, Sarnoff) now managed by Lockheed Martin, SERCO, QinetiQ and the British Privy Council.

Charles Lieber, a Harvard professor and one of America's top research chemists, was found guilty on Tuesday of hiding his ties to a Chinese government recruitment program and accepting millions in payments.

The Department of Justice announced Lieber was convicted by a jury on two counts of making false statements to federal authorities, two counts of making a false income tax return and two counts of failing to report foreign bank and financial accounts with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). All six charges stemmed from Lieber's efforts to conceal his ties with China's Thousand Talents Program and the Wuhan University of Technology (WUT).

Lieber served as Principal Investigator of the Lieber Research Group at Harvard University, which received more than $15 million in federal research grants from 2008 to 2019. During the same time Lieber led his research group at Harvard, and unbeknownst to the Ivy League university, Lieber also acted as a "Strategic Scientist" at China's WUT and then as a contractual participant in China's Thousand Talents Plan.

The Thousand Talents Program is a Chinese government-backed effort to recruit primarily Chinese citizens who have been educated in elite programs overseas. The program aims to find these highly educated Chinese citizens and recruit them to bring their talents back and serve Chinese government interests.

According to prosecutors, Lieber worked by contract on behalf of the Thousand Talents Program from at least 2012 to 2015. Under the terms of his three-year contract, WUT paid Lieber a salary of up to $50,000 per month, living expenses of up to $150,000 and awarded him more than $1.5 million to establish a research lab at WUT.

Lieber was accused of concealing the income he received through WUT and the Thousand Talents Program in his 2013 and 2014 tax filings.

Lieber was also accused of opening a bank account at a Chinese bank during a trip to Wuhan in 2012. Through this bank account, Lieber reportedly received his regular salary payments from WUT. According to prosecutors, Lieber failed to disclose the account, in violation of U.S. law requiring citizens to disclose to the IRS the existence of any foreign bank account that holds more than $10,000 at any time during a given year. Lieber failed to disclose the account for the 2014 and 2015 tax years.

Prosecutors further charged that Lieber lied to federal investigators in 2018 and 2019 about his involvement in the Thousand Talents Program and his affiliation with WUT.

As the 'New York Times' reported, while it isn't illegal for scientists to participate in Chinese recruitment efforts like the Thousand Talents Program, U.S. scientists are required to disclose their participation to the U.S. government, which often also funds their research and can deem working with China as a conflict of interests.

According to CBS, Lieber's defense attorney Marc Mukasey argued that federal investigators kept no written record of their interviews with Lieber and argued that prosecutors could not prove Lieber acted "knowingly, intentionally, or willfully, or that he made any material false statement."

A jury reportedly returned with a guilty verdict on all six charges after about two hours and 45 minutes of deliberation.

No date has been set at this time for Lieber's sentencing.

A charge of making false statements to federal investigators is punishable by up to five years in prison, three years of supervised release and a $250,000 fine. A charge of making false tax returns is punishable by up to three years in prison, a year of supervised release and a $100,000 fine. A charge of failing to disclose foreign bank accounts is punishable by up to five years in prison, three years of supervised release and a $250,000 fine.

The Professor Charles Lieber case is typical of what can happen when the government wants to jail a person without showing its hand or case of more serious crimes without exposing the government's own position of guilt in things they do not want exposed to the public. They simply sandbag the victim. The term sandbagging simply refers to an intentional lowering of expectations. In Professor Charles Lieber's case, his sentence could be reduced but with a NDA or Non-disclosure Agreement that holds Lieber to a longer prison time if he decides to tell all to an author or newsman wanting to write a story on the Harvard scientist!

All of this soon becomes a distraction and obfuscation from what might be the more important story of Dr. Charles Lieber's work. That will not likely soon die in oblivion as publicity fades with the passing of time. This is the tip of the "iceberg" so to speak of what is certainly all about genocidal murder of millions. It is part and parcel of the Pilgrim's Society agenda to depopulate the world of seven billion people. The term Octopus has often been used to describe the strangling of humanity on the planet by the House of Rothschild. My thoughts are that Dr. Charles Lieber will quietly be transferred to less visible circles where he can continue his work in a high-security facility where he can continue to serve his UK/US masters after he has been forgotten!

A May 28, 2020 American Intelligence Media (AIM) report carried this headline: “Charles M. Lieber Uses Viruses, Nanotechnology, and 5G to Eradicate Humanity” DO YOU UNDERSTAND WHAT THIS HEADLINE MEANS????????

The UK was using China as their “007” to hide activities in Canada for their bioweapons work.

Harvard’s Charles M. Lieber holds the U.S. Patent for using 5G radiation to vibrate corona virus particles from preset nanotubule containers.

Harvard Pilgrims Society professor-surrogate exploited like Zuckerberg and the other Silicon Valley stooges to weaponize nanotechnology to deliver viruses and other weaponized pathogens via 5G (boil the water in the nanotube with 5G milliwave-lengths and it will release its toxic payload, see above); is this what happened in Wuhan, China?

A January 26, 2020 article in ‘GreatGameIndia’ there is a lengthy article on how “How China Stole Corona Virus from Canada and Weaponized it.” As the date notes, this was before Covid-19 became a problem in the U.S. on March 11, 2020.

Last year a mysterious shipment was caught smuggling Coronavirus from Canada. It was traced to Chinese agents working at a Canadian lab. Subsequent investigation by GreatGameIndia linked the agents to the Chinese Biological Warfare Program from where the virus is suspected to have leaked causing the Wuhan Coronavirus outbreak.

The findings of this investigation has been corroborated by none other than the Bioweapons expert Dr. Francis Boyle who drafted the Biological Weapons Convention Act followed by many nations. The report has caused a major international controversy and is suppressed actively by a large section of mainstream media.

The Saudi SARS Sample

On June 13, 2012 a 60-year-old Saudi man was admitted to a private hospital in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia, with a 7-day history of fever, cough, expectoration, and shortness of breath. He had no history of cardiopulmonary or renal disease, was receiving no long-term medications, and did not smoke.

Egyptian virologist Dr. Ali Mohamed Zaki isolated and identified a previously unknown coronavirus from his lungs. After routine diagnostics failed to identify the causative agent, Zaki contacted Ron Fouchier, a leading virologist at the Erasmus Medical Center (EMC) in Rotterdam, the Netherlands, for advice.

Fouchier sequenced the virus from a sample sent by Zaki. Fouchier used a broad-spectrum “pan-coronavirus” real-time polymerase chain reaction (RT-PCR) method to test for distinguishing features of a number of known coronaviruses known to infect humans.

This Coronavirus sample was acquired by Scientific Director Dr. Frank Plummer (key to Coronavirus investigation Frank Plummer was recently assassinated in Africa) of Canada’s National Microbiology Laboratory (NML) in Winnipeg directly from Fouchier, who received it from Zaki. This virus was reportedly stolen from the Canadian lab by Chinese agents.

The Canadian Lab

Coronavirus arrived at Canada’s NML Winnipeg facility on May 4, 2013 from the Dutch lab. The Canadian lab grew up stocks of the virus and used it to assess diagnostic tests being used in Canada. Winnipeg scientists worked to see which animal species can be infected with the new virus.

Research was done in conjunction with the Canadian Food Inspection Agency’s national lab, the National Centre for Foreign Animal Diseases which is housed in the same complex as the National Microbiology Laboratory.

NML has a long history of offering comprehensive testing services for coronaviruses. It isolated and provided the first genome sequence of the SARS coronavirus and identified another coronavirus NL63 in 2004.

This Winnipeg based Canadian lab was targeted by Chinese agents in what could be termed as Biological Espionage.

Chinese Biological Espionage

In March 2019, in mysterious event a shipment of exceptionally virulent viruses from Canada’s NML ended up in China. The event caused a major scandal with Bio-warfare experts questioning why Canada was sending lethal viruses to China. Scientists from NML said the highly lethal viruses were a potential bio-weapon.

Following investigation, the incident was traced to Chinese agents working at NML. Four months later in July 2019, a group of Chinese virologists were forcibly dispatched from the Canadian National Microbiology Laboratory (NML). The NML is Canada’s only level-4 facility and one of only a few in North America equipped to handle the world’s deadliest diseases, including Ebola, SARS, Coronavirus, etc.

Xiangguo Qiu – The Chinese Bio-Warfare Agent

The NML scientist who was escorted out of the Canadian lab along with her husband, another biologist, and members of her research team is believed to be a Chinese Bio-Warfare agent Xiangguo Qiu. Qiu was the head of the Vaccine Development and Antiviral Therapies Section in the Special Pathogens Program at Canada's NML.

Xiangguo Qiu is an outstanding Chinese scientist born in Tianjin. She primarily received her medical doctor degree from Hebei Medical University in China in 1985 and came to Canada for graduate studies in 1996. Later on, she was affiliated with the Institute of Cell Biology and the Department of Pediatrics and Child Health of the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, not engaged with studying pathogens.

Dr. Xiangguo Qiu, the Chinese Biological Warfare Agent working at the National Microbiology Laboratory, Canada.

But a shift took place, somehow. Since 2006, she has been studying powerful viruses in Canada's NML. The viruses shipped from the NML to China were studied by her in 2014, for instance (together with the viruses Machupo, Junin, Rift Valley Fever, Crimean-Congo Hemorrhagic Fever and Hendra).

Infiltrating the Canadian Lab

Dr. Xiangguo Qiu is married to another Chinese scientist – Dr. Keding Cheng, also affiliated with the NML, specifically the "Science and Technology Core". Dr. Cheng is primarily a bacteriologist who shifted to virology. The couple is responsible for infiltrating Canada's NML with many Chinese agents as students from a range of Chinese scientific facilities directly tied to China's Biological Warfare Program, namely:

1. Institute of Military Veterinary, Academy of Military Medical Sciences, Changchun
2. Center for Disease Control and Prevention, Chengdu Military Region
3. Wuhan Institute of Virology, Chinese Academy of Sciences, Hubei
4. Institute of Microbiology, Chinese Academy of Sciences, Beijing

Chinese Researchers Caught Stealing Coronavirus From Canadian Lab

Sources say Xiangguo Qiu and her husband Keding Cheng were escorted from the National Microbiology Lab in Winnipeg on July 5, 2019. Since then, the University of Manitoba has ended their appointments, reassigned her graduate students, and cautioned staff, students and faculty about traveling to China. (Governor General's Innovation Awards)

All of the above four mentioned Chinese Biological Warfare facilities collaborated with Dr. Xiangguo Qiu within the context of Ebola virus, the Institute of Military Veterinary joined a study on the Rift Valley fever virus too, while the Institute of Microbiology joined a study on Marburg virus. Noticeably, the drug used in the latter study – Favipiravir – has been earlier tested successfully by the Chinese Academy of Military Medical Sciences, with the designation JK-05 (originally a Japanese patent registered in China already in 2006), against Ebola and additional viruses.

However, the studies by Dr. Qiu are considerably more advanced and apparently vital for the Chinese biological weapons development in case Coronavirus, Ebola, Nipah, Marburg or Rift Valley fever viruses are included therein.

The Canadian investigation is ongoing and questions remain whether previous shipments to China of other viruses or other essential preparations, took place from 2006 to 2018, one way or another.

Dr. Xiangguo Qiu also collaborated in 2018 with three scientists from the U.S. Army Medical Research Institute of Infectious Diseases, Maryland, studying post-exposure immunotherapy for two Ebola viruses and Marburg virus in monkeys; a study supported by the U.S. Defense Threat Reduction Agency.

The Wuhan Coronavirus

Dr. Xiangguo Qiu made at least five trips over the school year 2017-18 to the above mentioned Wuhan National Biosafety Laboratory of the Chinese Academy of Sciences, which was certified for BSL4 in January 2017. Moreover, in August 2017, the National Health Commission of China approved research activities involving Ebola, Nipah, and Crimean-Congo hemorrhagic fever viruses at the Wuhan facility.

Coincidentally, the Wuhan National Biosafety Laboratory is located only 20 miles away from the Huanan Seafood Market which is the epicenter of the Coronavirus outbreak dubbed the Wuhan Coronavirus.

“Coronaviruses (particularly SARS) have been studied in the institute and are probably held therein,” said Dany Shoham, a former Israeli military intelligence officer who has studied Chinese biowarfare. He said. “SARS is included within the Chinese BW program, at large, and is dealt with in several pertinent facilities.”

James Giordano, a neurology professor at Georgetown University and senior fellow in Biowarfare at the U.S. Special Operations Command, said China’s growing investment in bio-science, looser ethics around gene-editing and other cutting-edge technology and integration between government and academia raise the spectra of such pathogens being weaponized.

That could mean an offensive agent, or a modified germ let loose by proxies, for which only China has the treatment or vaccine. “This is not warfare, per se,” he said. “But what it’s doing is leveraging the capability to act as global savior, which then creates various levels of macro and micro economic and bio-power dependencies.”

China’s Biological Warfare Program

In a 2015 academic paper, Shoham – of Bar-Ilan’s Begin-Sadat Center for Strategic Studies – asserts that more than 40 Chinese facilities are involved in bio-weapon production.

China's Biological Warfare Program is believed to include full range of traditional chemical & biological agents with a wide variety of delivery systems including artillery rockets, aerial bombs, sprayers, and short-range ballistic missiles. #coronavirus

China's Academy of Military Medical Sciences actually developed an Ebola drug – called JK-05 — but little has been divulged about it or the defense facility's possession of the virus, prompting speculation its Ebola cells are part of China's bio-warfare arsenal, Shoham told the National Post.

Ebola is classified as a “category A” bioterrorism agent by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, meaning it could be easily transmitted from person to person, would result in high death rates and “might cause panic.” The CDC lists Nipah as a category C substance, a deadly emerging pathogen that could be engineered for mass dissemination.

China's Biological Warfare Program is believed to be in an advanced stage that includes research and development, production and weaponization capabilities. Its current inventory is believed to include the full range of traditional chemical and biological agents with a wide variety of delivery systems including artillery rockets, aerial bombs, sprayers, and short-range ballistic missiles.

Weaponizing Biotech

China's national strategy of military-civil fusion has highlighted biology as a priority, and the People's Liberation Army could be at the forefront of expanding and exploiting this knowledge.

The PLA is pursuing military applications for biology and looking into promising intersections with other disciplines, including brain science, supercomputing, and artificial intelligence. Since 2016, the Central Military Commission has funded projects on military brain science, advanced biomimetic systems, biological and biomimetic materials, human performance enhancement, and “new concept” biotechnology.

In 2016, an AMMS doctoral researcher published a dissertation, “Research on the Evaluation of Human Performance Enhancement Technology,” which characterized CRISPR-Cas9 as one of three primary technologies that might boost troops' combat effectiveness. The supporting research looked at the effectiveness of the drug Modafinil, which has applications in cognitive enhancement; and at transcranial magnetic stimulation, a type of brain stimulation, while also contending that the “great potential” of CRISPR-Cas9 as a “military deterrence technology in which China should “grasp the initiative” in development.

In 2016, the potential strategic value of genetic information led the Chinese government to launch the National Genebank, which intends to become the world's largest repository of such data. It aims to "develop and utilize China's valuable genetic resources, safeguard national security in bioinformatics, and enhance China's capability to seize the strategic commanding heights" in the domain of Biotechnology Warfare.

Chinese military's interest in biology as an emerging domain of warfare is guided by strategists who talk about potential "genetic weapons" and the possibility of a "bloodless victory."

The Wuhan National Biosafety Laboratory is located just about 20 miles away from the Huanan Seafood Market, the epicenter of Coronavirus outbreak.

The Wuhan National Biosafety Laboratory is housed at the Chinese military facility Wuhan Institute of Virology linked to China's Biological Warfare Program. It was the first ever lab in the country designed to meet biosafety-level-4 (BSL-4) standards – the highest biohazard level, meaning that it would be qualified to handle the most dangerous pathogens.

In January 2018, the lab was operational 'for global experiments on BSL-4 pathogens,' wrote Guizhen Wu in the journal Biosafety and Health. 'After a laboratory leak incident of SARS in 2004, the former Ministry of Health of China initiated the construction of preservation laboratories for high-level pathogens such as SARS, coronavirus, and pandemic influenza virus,' wrote Guizhen Wu.

Coronavirus Bioweapon

The Wuhan institute has studied coronaviruses in the past, including the strain that causes Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome, or SARS, H5N1 influenza virus, Japanese encephalitis, and dengue. Researchers at the institute also studied the germ that causes anthrax – a biological agent once developed in Russia.

Charles Lieber age 62, former professor and chairman of the Chemistry and Chemical Biology Departments at Harvard University, is a world leading scientist in the field of nanowire technology and interfacing with human biology and neurology at the microscopic level, and is an inventor of 50 patents in this field.

For instance, he invented a transistor the size of a virus, which can penetrate the membrane of a cell without disrupting cell function. Also, in 2017, he was successful in making a nanowire mesh – a folded net of nanowires which can self-assemble later – that is capable of attaching itself to human neurons. Once the nanowire mesh is attached, it provides pulses to alter neurological function in intelligent response to electromagnetic frequencies.

“Dr. Lieber is a genius-level scientist who specializes in exotic nanowire technology and how it interfaces with human neurology and biology,” – Mike Adams

Below is a table list of Dr. Lieber’s vast collection of patents, which you can see for yourself. Keep in mind, a scientist of this caliber stands in high demand; especially among competing world superpowers with dark interests in biological warfare.

Here are a few interesting samples from Lieber's work:

1. United States Patent 7,399,691 Lieber, et al. July 15, 2008: Methods of forming nanoscopic wire-based devices and arrays

Abstract: "Electrical devices comprised of nanoscopic wires are described, along with methods of their manufacture and use. The nanoscopic wires can be nanotubes, preferably single-walled carbon nanotubes. They can be arranged in crossbar arrays using chemically patterned surfaces for direction, via chemical vapor deposition. Chemical vapor deposition also can be used to form nanotubes in arrays in the presence of directing electric fields, optionally in combination with self-assembled monolayer patterns. Bistable devices are described."

2. United States Patent 9,638,717 Lieber, et al. May 2, 2017: Nanoscale sensors for intracellular and other applications

3. Harvard Magazine May-June 2009: Untangling the Brain. From neuron to mind by Courtney Humphries

"Charles Lieber and Hongkun Park, two experts in nanotechnology, will be developing small-scale devices for studying and communicating with neurons in novel ways."

One must consider with some interest: Dr. Lieber, his graphene, nanotechnology and human cell interfacing research, and his Chinese military and bioweapons connections. Lieber's Arrest, China, NIH, NIAID, EcoHealth Alliance, and the DoD

Dr. Charles Lieber was arrested last year (January 28, 2020) by the Department of Justice, alongside two Chinese researchers, for three separate China related cases. One of these Chinese nationals, Yanqing Ye, is both a student at Boston University, and a lieutenant of the Chinese People's Liberation Army. The other, Zaosong Zheng, was supposedly a cancer researcher, who attempted to smuggle vials of SARS and MERS strains to China, through Boston's Logan Airport.

Whist also receiving grants from NIH and the Department of Defense, Dr. Lieber received $50,000 a month from China for "living expenses", and a lump sum of $1.5 million for his work with the Wuhan Institute of Technology. In video recordings between Lieber and the FBI after his arrest, he said "Money is a big temptation. That's one of the things that China uses to seduce people."

Reports allege that the DoD and NIH had previously conspired to deliver a collection of pathogens, developed by the US military in Fort Detrick, Maryland, to China, and accompanied this handover with carbon nanotube technology developed by Charles Lieber. All this, with the approval of Dr. Anthony Fauci (NIAID), assisted by Peter Daszak (EcoHealth Alliance), and Francis Collins (NIH).

For context of the hierarchy at play; the NIH, which has financial stake in Gates funded covid "vaccines", previously run by Francis Collins (who resigned because of the exposure of his cooperative gain of function research with China) is the umbrella organization that Fauci's NIAID operates under. Anthony Fauci is responsible for funneling money to the Wuhan Institute of Virology through the EcoHealth Alliance.

EcoHealth Alliance is a so-called "charity" which, under the guise of "protecting people, animals, and the environment from emerging infectious diseases," funds the development of biological weapons. They received $39 million from the Pentagon, which funded the Wuhan Institute of Virology between 2013 and 2020 (the year of Lieber's arrest), the same Wuhan lab accused of being the source of Covid-19.

Though the totality of cash flow from the U.S. to China through EcoHealth Alliance remains unknown, occurrences such as this $7.5 million grant from the NIH set off alarms, and this real conspiracy has become so open and bare that even the 2022 U.S. Defense bill has banned the Pentagon from further funding EcoHealth Alliance.

We hope that the arrest and conviction of Charles Lieber and his Chinese accomplices marks the beginning of justice and the return of rule of law in the U.S. and elsewhere. We hope that Lieber is not just a fall guy; but rather that even bigger snake heads like Gates, Fauci, and Covid agenda politicians are to follow. May this be the beginning of the Nuremburg 2.0 and the fall of the criminal Covid enterprise. It is time to end this everywhere. The future will be a second renaissance, or a new dark age.

It is not difficult to understand why early last year many people were linking the emergence of Covid-19 due to the installation of 5G towers across various countries. We have previously covered this in extensive detail where we felt it was a marriage of convenience for those looking for quick short answers to explain the origin of the pandemic.

However, since this time last year, the scale of 5G live roll out across the globe has simply been astonishing. There has never been anything like it in terms of scale and coordination.

But are you aware that China, USA, South Korea, Japan and the EU (spearheaded by Finland) have already begun development work on 6G? Also you may not have known that in Germany a Next Generation Mobile Networks Alliance launched a 6G research project in 2020 and the University of Surrey (UK) launched a 6G Innovation Centre in 2020.

If Blockchain is the brain behind this emerging beast system then 5G and 6G is the oxygen that brings it to life.

The geopolitical race for the next big thing in telecommunications technology is already heating up. The first to develop and patent 6G will be the biggest winners in what some call the next industrial revolution. I did say 6G not 5G!

Though still at least a decade away from becoming reality, 6G — which could be up to 100X times faster than the peak speed of 5G — could deliver the kind of technology that's long been the stuff of science fiction, from real-time holograms to flying taxis and internet-connected human bodies and brains.

Patented: the Matrix

One year ago, right in the midst of an emerging global pandemic, a patent is registered with worldwide rights by the licensing division of Microsoft. The patent details the creation of a system by which a human in performing a particular task will be able to elicit signals either from the brain or a signal conductor within the body to an external cryptocurrency system, which will then facilitate a financial transaction resulting in an incentive for the participant.

mRNA: the Operating System

It was a great decoy but its effectiveness is waning with us as we see more clearly. We are no longer wasting our time focusing on the viral vector Covid-19 vaccines because the future belongs to Messenger RNA (mRNA). The Astra Zeneca/Oxford University, Johnson and Johnson Covid-19 vaccines are here only to serve 1 purpose, show how inferior they are to the new breed of next generation mRNA vaccines.

Why is it that the mRNA vaccines can have an efficacy as high as 95% when traditional viral vector vaccines rarely are more than 70% effective? Why is it that government data is showing that the number of adverse events generated from the traditional "viral vector" vaccines are accelerating away from the number of adverse events experienced with "mRNA" vaccines? Why has the European Union already confirmed that it will only be renewing contracts for the "mRNA" vaccines but not the traditional "viral vector" vaccines.

Moderna was right when they said "Our approach to leveraging mRNA science started with creating an operating system."

BLOCKCHAIN: THE DIGITAL BRAIN

Behind all that you would have heard about cryptocurrency, whether it be Bitcoin, Ethereum or Ripple lies something ominous, disguising itself as friend to the public and an opponent of traditional banking institutions. Blockchain has always been perceived to be a difficult concept to grasp and yet it will explain why it could be the digital brain needed to map out all the probabilities and sequences needed to process, integrate and manipulate data whether it be signals from Covid-19 or Covid-19 vaccines, microchips, chemical, biological functions, medical history, employment and financial transactions. The digital brain to mastermind all of this is Blockchain. Read Bill Gates work if you think this is bovine excrement!

Pentagon scientists working inside a secretive unit have created a microchip to be inserted under the skin, which will detect COVID-19 infection. The team at the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) told '60 Minutes' just weeks ago on a Sunday night, that they were working on a microchip which detects COVID infection in an individual before it can become an outbreak.

A COVID-19 TESTING MICROCHIP!

Retired Colonel Matt Hepburn, an army infectious disease physician leading DARPA's response to the pandemic, showed the 60 Minutes team a tissue-like gel, engineered to continuously test your blood.

"You put it underneath your skin and what that tells you is that there are chemical reactions going on inside the body, and that signal means you are going to have symptoms tomorrow," he explains.

This revelation is quite ironic considering that fact checking websites have constantly tried to downplay the role of microchips in the Covid-19 roadmap. You may remember a video that went viral in 2020 discussing the mention of digital markers by Bill Gates. Well as usual, all of the government backed fact checking websites went on the offensive, claiming this all to be conspiracy theory. You wonder what they are thinking now with the release of this new revelation from DARPA.

Everyone's heard of them, yet few know how to explain what cryptocurrencies are or how they really work. The bitcoin was engineered in 2008 by Satoshi Nakamoto, and is the world's most familiar cryptocurrency – i.e. digitized money in the form of a string of encrypted computer data that is used to make online payments. But bitcoin isn't the only cryptocurrency around – new ones are popping up on a seemingly daily basis. Litecoin, Ethereum and DOJ coin are among the other cryptocurrencies gaining popularity.

Until March 2020, many Bible prophecy researchers could sense that the digital currency revolution would have some influence in the emergence of a one world economic order, but trying to tie this to the prophecy of the "Mark of the beast" was very much based on conjecture.

But then in March 2020 something incredible happened. A patent called WO2020060606 (World Order 2020 060606) CRYPTOCURRENCY SYSTEM USING BODY ACTIVITY DATA was registered. The patent was filed by 3 inventors (Dustin Abramson, Derrick Fu, Joseph Edwin Johnson) under the umbrella of "Microsoft Technology Licensing LLC".

The Abstract summary associated with the patent reads:

"Human body activity associated with a task provided to a user may be used in a mining process of a cryptocurrency system. A server may provide a task to a device of a user which is communicatively coupled to the server. A sensor communicatively coupled to or comprised in the device of the user may sense body activity of the user. Body activity data may be generated based on the sensed body activity of the user. The cryptocurrency system communicatively coupled to the device of the user may verify if the body activity data satisfies one or more conditions set by the cryptocurrency system, and award cryptocurrency to the user whose body activity data is verified."

A TWO TIERED SOCIETY?

What we have been warning against for the past two years+, is almost here, vaccine passports or certificates. Governments across the world are reviewing whether COVID-status certification will play a role in reopening the economy, and reducing restrictions on social contact.

If this law passes, it will be a license for discrimination to say the least. They are systematically dividing society, and it's time we stand together and put an end to this, or we will have to deal with it for the rest of our lives, however long that might be.

If you have been following the news for the last 30 days you will have seen that more and more publicity is being given to the concept of Covid-19 vaccine passports.

In the U.S., representative Marjorie Taylor Greene, is challenging the potential launch of a "vaccine passport" program that would allow inoculated Americans to prove they've received a coronavirus shot before entering businesses and venues that have been closed during the pandemic.

"They are actually talking about people's ability to buy and sell linked to the vaccine passport," the Georgia Republican tweeted. "They might as well call it Biden's Mark of the Beast." This is not about a virus, it is all about a bioweapon and people need to understand what that means. I simply refer people to the Principle #1 at the Georgia Guidestones down in Elberton, GA!

Greene's comments came after 'The Washington Post' reported that President Joe Biden's administration is working with private companies and groups to develop a credential system that would let vaccinated Americans enter concert venues, stadiums, movie theaters, offices and other businesses.

U.S. and international airline trade organizations, airline labor unions and the Chamber of Commerce have been among those lobbying for the vaccine passports, according to reports. Earlier this month, two dozen groups sent a letter to White House coronavirus response coordinator Jeffrey Zients, calling for the creation of temporary credentials that would let travelers show they have been tested and vaccinated.

Greene called on Georgia to be the next state to ban vaccine passports—following in the footsteps of Florida Governor Ron DeSantis. DeSantis, a Republican, who announced that he would take executive action against such a credential system in his state over privacy concerns.

"It's completely unacceptable for either the government or the private sector to impose upon you the requirement that you show proof of vaccine to just simply be able to participate in normal society," he said during a press conference at the Florida Capitol.

As Dr. David L. Martin has shown, this did not begin in 2000; it has legs that go back to the 1990s, and he put together the 4,000 patents confirming that this is not a rogue novel virus out of the wild in China. It was created through “synthetic” biology using a device called CRISPR and it is a “Bioweapon”, designed to harm and kill large segments of society through invisible 5G EMF wireless energy!
