

GATES AND FAUCI FUNDED GAIN-OF-FUNCTION RESEARCH FOR “NEXT” PROJECTED PANDEMIC, 50% CASUALTY BIRD FLU

As the media and public health figures warn that the “next” pandemic might be a devastating, highly contagious form of bird flu with up to 50% mortality, it has emerged that none other than Bill Gates and Anthony Fauci – the latter through the NIAID division of the NIH, funded a controversial scientist at UW-Madison, whose on-again, off-again, gain-of-function research over the past decade on bird flu has set the scientific community on edge.

In 2014 the UK Independent published “Controversial US scientist creates deadly new flu strain for pandemic research. Scientists express horror over the creation of a virus that could render the human immune system defenseless.”:

“A controversial scientist who carried out provocative research on making influenza viruses more infectious has completed his most dangerous experiment to date by deliberately creating a pandemic strain of flu that can evade the human immune system.”

The research by Dr. Yoshihiro Kawaoka at the University of Wisconsin has been the subject of many articles in science journals about scientists aghast at his work.

In February 2019 the journal Science reported:

“Controversial lab studies that modify bird flu viruses in ways that could make them more risky to humans will soon resume after being on hold for more than 4 years.”

“One of the projects has already received funding from the National Institutes of Health’s (NIH’s) National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID) in Bethesda, Maryland, and will start in a few weeks; the other is awaiting funding.”

The experiments recall gain-of-function research funded by Fauci’s NIAID in Wuhan, China, which landed Fauci before a US Senate committee and being repeatedly grilled by Sen. Rand Paul.

In a March 30, 2022 interview, former Director for the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Dr. Robert Redfield, stated:

“I believe the great pandemic still in the future, and that’s going to be a bird flu pandemic for man. It’s going to have significant mortality in the 10 to 50% range. It’s going to be trouble.”

The NY Post reported in May of 2020, even as the COVID pandemic had just begun, in an article entitled “Scientists say an apocalyptic bird flu could wipe out half of humanity”:

“The coronavirus has killed over 365,000 people worldwide in just five months — but that’s nothing compared to what could be coming if humans don’t clean up their act when it comes to chickens.”

The scientists quoted in the article place the danger squarely at the feet of commercial poultry farming, but Dr. Joseph Mercola writes:

“Natural bird flu is notoriously harmless to humans, but Bill Gates and Dr. Anthony Fauci have, for many years, funded research to develop a bird flu pathogen capable of infecting humans...”

“If the bird flu becomes highly transmissible and lethal to humans, it will be an engineered virus from U.S. or Chinese government-funded biolabs.”

As reported by Alexis Baden-Mayer, political director for the Organic Consumers Association:

“H5N1 kills more than half of the people who get it, but H5N1 has circled the globe for decades and there have only ever been 860 human infections worldwide. ...

“H5N1 isn’t transmitted person-to-person ... There are no food safety risks associated with H5N1. If farm workers and meat packers don’t get bird flu in filthy factory farms or slaughterhouses, it’s no surprise the rest of us don’t get bird flu from eating raw eggs or handling raw chicken.”

In February 2019 the Washington Post published an op-ed by Prof. Marc Lipsitch, professor of epidemiology and director of the Center for Communicable Disease Dynamics at the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health, and Tom Inglesby, director of the Center for Health Security at Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health.

The article raised an alarm over the work funded by Gates and Fauci performed by Dr. Kawaoka, entitled: “The U.S. is funding dangerous experiments it doesn’t want you to know about.” The scientists wrote:

“In 2014, U.S. officials imposed a moratorium on experiments to enhance some of the world’s most lethal viruses by making them transmissible by air, responding to widespread concerns that a lab accident could spark a global pandemic. Most infectious-disease studies pose modest safety risks, but given that these proposed experiments intended to create a highly contagious flu virus that could spread among humans, the government concluded the work should not go on until it could be approved through a specially created, rigorous review process that considered the dangers.”

“Apparently, the government has decided the research should now move ahead. In the past year, the U.S. government quietly greenlighted funding for two groups of researchers, one in the United States and the other in the Netherlands, to conduct transmission-enhancing experiments on the bird flu virus as they were originally proposed before the moratorium. Amazingly, despite the potential public-health consequences of such work, neither the approval nor the deliberations or judgments that supported it were announced publicly. The government confirmed them only when a reporter learned about them through non-official channels.”

In 2008, UW reported that Gates had given $1.3 million to Kawaoka, and again in 2009, Gates gave the scientists $9.5 million.

Although the grants were described as being for research which would “help identify mutations” of the H5N1 virus, in 2010, Kawaoka reported that he knew that dangerous mutations were possible, because he had made one.

In his paper “Virus hybridization could create pandemic bird flu” Kawaoka wrote:

“In laboratory experiments in mice, a single gene segment from a human seasonal flu virus, H3N2, was able to convert the avian H5N1 virus into a highly pathogenic form.”

In February 2010, Scott McPherson, Chief Information Officer for the Florida House of Representatives, wrote in his website:

“Today, respected researcher Dr. Yoshihiro Kawaoka of the University of Wisconsin-Madison (left) has issued a paper where he postulates that such an occurrence is not only possible — he has done it.”

There has been similar gene-editing work to Kawaoke’s, also funded by Fauci’s NIH. In 2011 Science reported in “Scientists Brace for Media Storm Around Controversial Flu Studies”:

“ROTTERDAM, THE NETHERLANDS—Locked up in the bowels of the medical faculty building here and accessible to only a handful of scientists lies a man-made flu virus that could change world history if it were ever set free.”

“The virus is an H5N1 avian influenza strain that has been genetically altered and is now easily transmissible between ferrets, the animals that most closely mimic the human response to flu. Scientists believe it’s likely that the pathogen, if it emerged in nature or were released, would trigger an influenza pandemic, quite possibly with many millions of deaths....In a 17th floor office in the same building, virologist Ron Fouchier of Erasmus Medical Center calmly explains why his team created what he says is “probably one of the most dangerous viruses you can make”

The logic the scientists employ is that, by creating the deadly viruses, they know what to look for in nature, and prepare for it. But gene-splicing jumps millions of cycles of evolution and creates organism that might never exist in nature at all.

Science writes:

“Knowing the exact mutations that make the virus transmissible also enables scientists to look for them in the field and take more aggressive control measures when one or more show up, adds Fouchier. The study also enables researchers to test whether H5N1 vaccines and antiviral drugs would work against the new strain.”

“Fouchier says he consulted widely within the Netherlands before submitting his manuscript for publication. The U.S. National Institutes of Health (NIH), which funded the work, has agreed to the publication...”

In March 2019 UW published in a university website: “UW-Madison scientist allowed to resume controversial flu research.” The report said:

“Controversial research at UW-Madison to make a deadly flu virus more dangerous, halted by the government in 2014, has been approved to start again.”

“The work by campus scientist Yoshihiro Kawaoka involves modifying bird flu viruses such as H5N1 so they can spread among ferrets, an animal model for studying the flu in humans.... But opponents, including many fellow scientists, have said the research could cause a flu pandemic if an enhanced virus escaped from the lab or was replicated by terrorists.”

Next week, the World Health Organization will consider new rules proposed by the Biden administration which would allow it to take control of any US pandemic response. The largest single contributor to WHO, even more than the US, is Bill Gates. In essence the new rules would hand US sovereignty during any health crisis to Gates.

Even the mainstream Politico agrees that Bill Gates controls WHO, writing in May 2017:

“Some billionaires are satisfied with buying themselves an island. Bill Gates got a United Nations health agency in Geneva...Over the past decade, the world’s richest man has become the World Health Organization’s second biggest donor, second only to the United States and just above the United Kingdom... The result, say his critics, is that Gates’ priorities have become the WHO’s.”

Early in the COVID pandemic in 2020 Gates gave an interview in which he said cryptically, with an unseemly smile, that the “next” pandemic “WILL get attention.”
