

We're in Obama's Third Term

On January 25th, 2022 I posted my “Blessed Hope” #93 and on page 16, I suggested that former President Barack Hussein Obama might be the puppet master for Joe Biden or his surrogate in the office. A few hours after posting my article, I had an email post by Alexandra Bruce that was quite compelling of my point. I share Alexandra’s article for you to share, with a short video replay that is stunning in of itself.

Nobody believes that Joe Biden is actually running the country and there have long been rumors that the horror show that we're now living through is actually Obama's third term.

Many in the Biden administration served under Obama and we've also seen that, rather than leaving DC after the end of his term – like every other US president before him – Obama bought a mansion near the White House, from where he, Valerie Jarrett and other Globalist agents allegedly plotted the endless putsches against Trump.

Last Friday, rumors of the real éminence grise piloting the shipwreck of state were re-ignited, when White House Press Secretary, Jen Psaki made a Freudian slip during her remote appearance on The View.

After the low-IQ coterie of resident CIA assets had obsequiously fluffed Psaki and the regime for an entire segment, Joy Behar asked her if it was true that she would soon be leaving her post.

Psaki responded, "I don't know when I'm leaving, this is an honor and privilege and I love working for President Ob- – President Biden – every single day!"

And now, footage has emerged of John Kerry in December 2019 during the Democratic Primary campaign in New Hampshire, appearing to let slip that a Joe Biden presidency would equate to having President Obama back in the White House.

Kerry was seated next to Biden. After Biden tells the interviewer, "No matter what the circumstance is, I'm gonna need John's advice," the interviewer then asks Kerry, "You wanna come back?"

Kerry replies, "I have no plans. I've been very happy doing what I've been doing but I certainly would be thrilled if we had President Obama..."

Biden's head swerves to face Kerry, his expression betraying some alarm as Kerry continues, "so I could be confident that the country's in good hands and I'd offer advice whenever the President asked me."

Kerry didn't even bother correcting himself. He was actually stumping for Obama's third term.

But we don't have to augur the gaffes of these Globalist minions, we can go straight to the horse's mouth.

In November 2020, President Obama, himself told a slavering Stephen Colbert on The Late Show that he would consider doing a third term from his basement, in his sweats and speaking into the earpiece of a "frontman or frontwoman".

Recall, as well the controversy during the 2020 debates about whether Biden was wearing an earpiece.

Anyone could see that Biden's press conference last Wednesday was completely scripted and that, despite having Obama in his earpiece and despite not having public appearances for 5 days so that he could rest and rehearse, his criminal agenda and his dementia proved insurmountable. Like everything else about his presidency, it was a spectacular catastrophe.

And now, the clueless trust fund babies who run the Biden Regime are perched to get us into World War III, to distract us from the debacle of their blatantly treasonous domestic policy.

I was unable to save the URL video link with the above commentary. If you want to hear the short video portion you might try going to Alexandra Bruce's web page Forbidden Knowledge TV.com. Scroll down on posts on the right side of the page and then click onto this title "We're In Obama's Third Term". The video itself is very alarming.

Most ex-presidents when they leave office go back to their home state and try to resume normal life for ex-presidents, but as we know, Barack Hussein Obama, is a CIA cut-out, and bought a mansion in D.C. to influence the direction the U.S. is going. As I challenged the identity of this stand-in actor playing Joe Biden, we are being played for fools, and my fears are they are not good for the Republic.

When you find the link, click on the picture of the Obama mansion and listen to the short 1-minute clip.
