“Celebrity Millennium”

The Real Problem is 5G Wireless Radiation

June 10, 2021 (Reuters) – Cruise operator Royal Caribbean said on Thursday two guests onboard its Celebrity Millennium ship have tested positive for COVID-19, but are asymptomatic and currently in isolation.

The guests, who were sharing a room, are being monitored by the company’s medical team, the cruise operator said, adding that it was conducting contact tracing, expediting testing for all close contacts of the individuals.

Celebrity Millennium was one of the first cruises in North America to restart sailing last week, after more than a year of no cruising.

Royal Caribbean started sailing in June after meeting the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC) comprehensive guidelines that included a fully vaccinated crew and everyone over 16 presenting proof of vaccination against COVID-19.

Cruise operators are among the last to return to their pre-pandemic operations as the CDC laid out strict guidance earlier this year for the cruise industry for resuming trips, after some ships became hotbeds for the virus last year.

2 passengers on a Celebrity cruise tested positive for COVID-19; here's what a travel publication representative reported what she saw:

"As I reported earlier this week, I'm currently onboard Celebrity Cruises' Celebrity Millennium, the first big cruise ship to sail in North America — and to allow American passengers — in more than 15 months. Thursday, two passengers on the ship, which is sailing at only about 30% capacity, tested positive for COVID-19. Here's a look at what we know about how the situation was handled.

I spent most of Thursday ashore in Aruba, one of three ports on the itinerary and one of two that allowed us to meander about on our own. As such, I booked an independent excursion and spent seven hours exploring caves and lazing on the beach.

Two cases of COVID-19 were found onboard during testing required for re-entry into St. Maarten at the end of the sailing.

When I returned to the ship, I had messages from several industry colleagues, asking if I had heard the news. St. Maarten requires testing for all passengers on the ship in order for everyone to disembark at the end of the sailing on June 12. The line began testing passengers Thursday, and two of the results came back positive.

According to a press release from Celebrity — which required all cruisers 16 and older to be vaccinated for this sailing in order to prevent mass spread of the virus — the passengers, who are in the same cabin, were each tested again, and the second test came back positive also.

As a result, the line turned to the new protocols it has been developing for the past several months during the industry's hiatus and enacted its contact tracing methods to reach out to passengers who were likely to have been exposed.

I was told I would have to stay in my room until I could be tested and the results came back negative. I ordered room service because I had to miss dinner, and it arrived hot, beautifully plated and delicious.

Around 6 p.m. on Thursday, I was informed that the ill passengers, who are asymptomatic, were on the same shore excursion as I was two days ago in Barbados and that I should proceed down to Deck 3's conference center to be tested. (I had originally signed up to be tested Friday morning, a process that Celebrity made rather easy with the help of a QR code and a web-based scheduling system.)

When I reached the check-in desk outside the conference center, I was told to go back to my cabin and that one of the ship's nurses would come to test me. (The testing facility has extended hours until midnight tonight for anyone who wants to voluntarily be swabbed, but those who had close contact with the passengers who tested positive are being given priority.)

In the hour and 45 minutes that followed, I received a phone call to tell me to remain in my cabin and verify that a nurse was coming; an in-person visit from two officers who apologized for the inconvenience and reminded me, again, to stay in my cabin; and another phone call to verify that a nurse was on her way and that I'd have access to unlimited Wi-Fi and free on-demand movies.

The ship is offering free on-demand movies for quarantined passengers to watch while they wait for their test results.

From the start, Celebrity has been totally transparent about what's happening, and the captain of Celebrity Millennium, which is carrying about 600 passengers and 700 crew, made an announcement to say that 200 passengers had been tested since the first two positives had been detected, and no additional positive results were found.

At about 7:45 p.m., a nurse wearing lots of PPE and a gentleman in a suit, mask and face shield knocked on my door, at which point I was given a PCR test by the nurse. Although it was uncomfortable, it was pretty painless.

When I spoke with the first person who called me on the phone, I asked how long the test results take to come back. She said two hours, max, but the man who accompanied the nurse who administered my test told me that it would take several hours, and I might not have my results until Friday morning.

Because the isolation meant I had to miss dinner, I ordered room service. When it arrived, I yelled through the door to ask the crew member delivering it to please leave it outside the door for me, as I was awaiting a test result. He obliged.

The cruise line delivered sparkling wine and chocolates to my cabin while I was waiting for my test results.

Several minutes later, another knock revealed a member of the culinary staff, who stopped by to deliver sparkling wine and chocolates.

Celebrity took good care of me while I waited for my results to come back, which happened around 10:30 p.m., when I got a call from the hotel director. However, although I tested negative, I have to remain in my cabin until the morning, as the medical team wants all results returned before allowing us out and about onboard. (Everyone on the excursion was tested, along with the ill passengers' room steward and dining room waiters.)

It's important to note that, statistically, this was bound to happen, and I'm not at all surprised it did. Everyone onboard is fully vaccinated (except for the children, of whom there are only eight), and none of us, including kids, was allowed to board without negative PCR tests pre-cruise.

But vaccines aren't 100% effective, meaning that there's still a small chance for a fully inoculated vessel to see a COVID-19 case or two onboard. It's a risk I knew I was taking when I booked the sailing and one I'd take again in a heartbeat, especially after seeing how well this was handled.

If you look closely in this  $\frac{3}{4}$  aerial view in Arctic waters, you can see the 5G white globes extending high above the aft area's 11th deck of the Celebrity Millennium. These globes protect the 5G antenna transceivers from the elements. 5G because of its use of millimeter wave spectrum requires an obstacle-free point-to-point line of wireless communication. 5G has an Achilles heel so to speak, it is vulnerable to fog, sea mist, snow, ice, rain, dust, and cloud cover.

The key here is that, this time around, cruise lines are ready. So far, Celebrity has been up-front about the situation and quick to act to prevent the virus from spreading. It has contacted passengers known to have been potentially exposed to the cruisers who tested positive. It's testing all of us (at its own expense), and it's making sure we're exceedingly comfortable in the process.

Although officials haven't yet said whether this will affect Celebrity Millennium's next sailing, the line does have a plan for when this cruise ends.

I asked what will happen to the ill passengers when we reach St. Maarten in two days — we have a sea day tomorrow — and I was told that they will have to disembark, go straight to a hotel and stay there until they return negative test results.

In addition to being the first line to allow Americans back onboard, Celebrity will also be the first line to have a ship sailing from a U.S. port again. Celebrity Edge, helmed by Captain Kate McCue, is set to depart from Fort Lauderdale on June 26 with the same protocols in place.”

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) on Tuesday gave Royal Caribbean International the go-ahead to begin test cruises, the next step on the road to resuming revenue cruises.

They're the first cruise line company to receive CDC approval for test cruises. The company's Freedom of the Seas ship, which is based in Port Miami, will begin running simulated cruises with volunteer passengers on June 20.

It was the first cruise ship to sail from a U.S. port since March 2020, when the coronavirus pandemic brought the industry to a halt.

"After 15 months of hard work and collaboration, today's approval of our simulated cruises on board Freedom of the Seas is the latest promising step in our path to return to sailing in the U.S.," Royal Caribbean International CEO Michael Bayley told PEOPLE in a statement. "We look forward to welcoming our crew, loyal guests and supporters from around the world this summer."

According to the CDC's Framework for Conditional Sailing Order (CSO), passengers on simulated cruises are not required to be vaccinated — though if they aren't, they must either provide written documentation from a health care provider or must give a personal statement attesting they are not at high risk for developing a severe infection if exposed to COVID-19.

All must also agree to be evaluated for COVID-19 symptoms both before embarking and after disembarking, as well as agree to be tested for COVID-19 in a 3-5 day period following the test cruise's completion. In the case of the Celebrity Millennium, all passengers had been fully vaccinated for as part of the cruise lines requirements.

Test cruises will only be allowed to carry 10 percent of total passenger capacity permitted. Meals, excursions, and entertainment events will require social distancing.

Back in October, the CDC released its CSO, lifting a previous no-sail ban and replaced it with a list of new health protocols and actionable items, which acted as a pathway to a "framework of actionable items" for cruises to follow before safe and responsible sailing could continue. Cruise companies had to set up additional testing and social distancing requirements before they could move forward to operate mock voyages. The simulations, like the ones Royal Caribbean will now be allowed to operate, are meant to test cruise ship operators' ability to mitigate COVID-19 risk.

Those who are able to meet these requirements and obtain proper certification will then be on track to return to passenger voyages in a manner that mitigates COVID-19 risk among passengers, crew members, and communities.

"CDC is committed to working with the cruise industry and seaport partners to resume cruising following the phased approach outlined in the CSO," CDC spokesperson Caitlin Shockey told 'PEOPLE' in a statement on Tuesday. "Over the past month, senior leadership from CDC has met multiple times a week with cruise line senior executives to discuss the Framework for Conditional Sailing Order (CSO). During these meetings, participants asked questions and discussed the fastest path back to sailing without compromising safety. CDC and the cruise industry agree that the industry has what it needs to move forward and no additional roadblocks exist for resuming sailing by mid-summer."

Royal Caribbean will require all passengers over the age of 16 to present proof of vaccination when boarding, according to their Healthy Sail Panel. Starting in August, they'll require passengers over 12 show proof as well.

The requirement conflicts with Florida Governor Ron DeSantis' recent legislation, which bans businesses from requiring proof of vaccination in the state. The move has caused some cruise lines to consider skipping Florida ports altogether.

"I have refused to take the same approach as other lockdown governors," DeSantis said in a statement at the time. "In Florida, your personal choice regarding vaccinations will be protected and no business or government entity will be able to deny you services based on your decision."

Royal Caribbean did not immediately respond to 'PEOPLE's magazine request for comment.

I have been waiting to see what happened with the first cruise ship after more than a year of idled cruise ships. Billions of dollars have been lost over the past 15 months. In that the Celebrity Millennium has seven 5G antenna located on the 11th deck aft area, I would be interested in knowing the location of the stateroom where the two people who tested positive for COVID. Cruise dates have been shifting into the future almost on a weekly basis since plans were being prepared for sailing. Seven smaller cruise lines folded up and have went out of business since cruises were terminated a year ago.

As of this report, we do not know if any more passengers will be diagnosed with symptoms of COVID. This cruise was in Caribbean waters at a time of the year when weather is near perfect. I have stated since January, 2020, it's not COVID; it's really 5G wireless energy. The cruise line operators spent millions to "sanitize" the cruise ships and so only time will tell if I am correct. But this is certainly not a good sign for the first cruise of the year! Still, only a very small fraction of the world's cruise vessels are currently backed to sailing. It could be many months before a majority of cruise vessels are operating. Some lines already have said it could be well into 2022 before they return to normal service. Meanwhile, the COVID-19 pandemic has thrown a wrench into the launch plans for startup lines Ritz-Carlton Yacht Collection and Virgin Voyages. Ritz-Carlton Yacht Collection has now pushed back its inaugural voyage to Nov. 10. Virgin Voyages has pushed back its big debut in Miami to the fall (although it plans some sailings in the U.K. starting in August). Both lines were originally due to debut in 2020.

There have been a steady number of COVID-19 cases outside of the U.S. primarily involving European cruises in the last month, with the Asuka II and Costa Smeralda each having a passenger test positive for COVID during the first week in May. The Odyssey of the Seas experienced as many as 5 (per news outlets) crew members test positive for COVID on May 24th, and the MSC Seaside had two unrelated passengers test positive earlier this week.

The two cases on the Millennium bring the total to around at least 225 positive COVID-19 cases since the cruise industry stopped sailing in the U.S. last year.

Cruise lines have disclosed only 22% of COVID-19 cases on cruise ship outside of the U.S., since last March. Unfortunately, the Cruise Line International Association (CLIA) initially published false and misleading information that there were only "less than 50 cases" during this time period. In a March 24, 2021 press release aimed at convincing the CDC to drop its Conditional Sailing Order, CLIA said that "nearly 400,000 passengers sailed over the last eight months in Europe, Asia, and the South Pacific with fewer than 50 COVID cases."

Many cruise CEO's, travel writers and cruise bloggers repeated CLIA's false talking points and continue to do so to this day. The 'CruiseGuy' downplayed the positive COVID-19 cases by repeating the "less-than-50-cases" myth in a tweet just today:

This assortment of cruise lines, cruise executives, industry leaders and travel writers have consistently understated the true number of COVID-19 cases by over 77%, disclosing "less than 50" out of around 225 cases. A legal firm in Florida has meticulously followed the number of positive COVID cases on cruise ships since last summer involving passengers and crew members based on news reports, primarily from Europe and the Caribbean which are based on cruise line press releases, public health authorities and witness accounts. The cases involved MSC Cruises, Costa Cruises, TUI Group/Mein Schiff, AIDA, SeaDream, Hurtigruten and a number of smaller river cruise ships.

Only half of Americans (50%) are confident that the cruise industry can reopen safely coming out of the pandemic, according to a recent Harris Poll Covid-19 tracker survey fielded May 26-28 to 1,999 U.S. adults . . . When asked whether they were confident that various industries could keep customers safe, respondents rated the cruise industry dead last, behind everyday businesses such as retail stores (82%), restaurants (80%), movie theaters (63%) and sports and concert venues (59%). Notably, consumer confidence in the cruise industry's ability to keep passengers safe also lags well behind other travel subcategories such as hotels (79%), airlines (69%) and amusement parks (63%). This suggests that the "Trust" issue will remain a problem for the foreseeable future.

COVID-19 is a Smokescreen for 5G Radiation Sickness

The truth eventually comes to the light of day and it is only a matter of time. We know in a war the first thing that is lost is truth! We are in a war and that is visible by what is censored and blocked from the public's eyes and ears. The COVID-19 smokescreen will be no different, and the cruise industry will be the evidence. To refresh memories here, it was on February 5, 2020 the 'Diamond Princess' was boarded at port Yokohama in Tokyo Bay by Japanese health officials. Those health officials pronounced that 10 persons on board were diagnosed as having Coronavirus, later known as COVID-19. The ship was ordered quarantined for 14 days. Nobody could leave the ship during the quarantine period. Within 3 days another 125 passengers were diagnosed with having COVID-19). By February 13, a total of 218 people were diagnosed with having COVID-19.

A little known fact at the time was that the 'Diamond Princess' was sporting some new high tech 5G large white globes. An earlier news release explained that "Princess Cruises has announced a new dimension in its connectivity partnership with SES and will become the first global cruise ship fleet with early access to SES's O3b mPOWER network augmenting the Princess Medallion Class experience as it scales across the fleet, according to a press release." –(Cruise Industry News, February 3, 2020.)

Is there a connection between the newly installed 5G network on the ship and the passengers being struck ill with Coronavirus? It should be noted that only the Princess cruise line that had installed the 5G had outbreaks of COVID-19. In March 2020, the 'Grand Princess' had outbreaks of COVID-19 before docking in San Francisco. The 'Ruby Princess' was reported to have had an outbreak of COVID-19 involving 600 passengers prior to docking on March 19, 2020, at Sydney, Australia. All of those ships are Medallion Class ships with the new 5G white globe connectivity from SES's O3b mPOWER.

SES explains on their website that the O3b mPOWER is a next-generation 5G satellite signal system.

"Together with key stakeholders and technology partners, SES Networks is advancing satellite integration into 5G through standardization, technology development and demonstrations.

We've also invested in the revolutionary O3b mPOWER next-generation satellite system, which will augment our existing MEO assets with terabit-scale capabilities."

Studies Prove Connection between 5G and COVID-19 Symptoms

What is the effect of 5G on humans? Dr. Magda Havas, Ph.D., sought to answer that question. Dr. Havas "compared the average number of cases, deaths, and tests for covid-19 per million population in states with and without 5G."

Dr. Havas found that the standardized testing for states with and without 5G was similar. But he discovered a real difference in COVID-19 cases per million population for those states that deployed 5G. Dr. Havas found that "Covid-19 cases per million are 95% higher and covid-19 deaths per million are 126% higher in states with 5G."

A Spanish study proved that countries with 5G had 220% more COVID-19 infections than countries that had not deployed 5G.

"The results obtained demonstrate a clear and close relationship between the rate of coronavirus infections and 5G antenna location."

"The case of San Marino is particularly significant. It was the first state in the world to install 5G and therefore, the state whose citizens have been exposed to 5G radiation the longest, and suspiciously, the first state in the world with infections. The probability of this happening is 1 in 37,636."

Indeed, San Marino is truly a stark indicator of 5G culpability for COVID-19. It was the first European state to adopt 5G technology and had virtually no regulations on its use. Notably, San Marino has the highest incident per 1,000 population of COVID-19 in Europe. Indeed, its rate is a whopping 27 times greater than the infection rate in Croatia. Why such a stark difference between San Marino and Croatia? The reason is that Croatia does not have 5G. San Marino was operational with 5G in early 2018.

If You Suggest 5G Link, You're Banned, or Arrested; Yet San Marino, the First Country Fully Covered by 5G Networks, Had Highest Coronavirus Death Rate!

San Marino was proud to be the first entire state in the world to be 5G-enabled. “The 61-square-kilometer microstate, encompassed by Italy, will serve as a living lab for the network’s services.”

So the first state to provide 5G services across the whole population, has infection and death rates that are nearly three times higher than anywhere else in the world.

Some “living lab”.

It’s a tiny little place, but it is still the first entire country to be fully covered by 5G networks. Can any of you explain why San Marino was at the top of this chart? Currently, it ranks 6th behind Peru, Hungary, Bosnia/Herzegovina, Czechia, and Gibraltar.

The world-o-meter site below enables one to keep a running scorecard of the pandemic incredibly useful:

<https://www.worldometers.info/coronavirus/>

You can click at the top of any column, and it will arrange the data in order by that column. So if you click on “Deaths/1 M pop”, there is a country sticking out right at the top of the list: San Marino, with 1,061 deaths per million people. The next-highest is Spain, with 386 deaths per million. The USA is at 71 per million. NOTE: That was as of summer, 2020.

San Marino is also way, way at the top of infections per million people.

In Italy itself, Turin was the first city in Europe to have a 5G “edge cloud”. It’s the epicenter of the Italian outbreak, not the poorer regions in the south.

There is enough evidence now of a link between 5G and this epidemic, to be able to formulate an hypothesis and test it.

It’s difficult, because you don’t know all the radiation exposures in a given place; but you can just take the 5G and pandemic maps and do the calculations. And I am certain beyond doubt that a proper analysis would reveal that there is a significant correlation.

People keep saying correlation doesn’t prove causation. But in saying this, they are tacitly admitting that the superficial correlations are absolutely overwhelming.

Now: why should anyone is put in jail, for pointing out a statistical correlation? If this alleged pandemic is truly such a threat to humanity that we have to lock the whole planet down, shouldn’t any viable hypothesis be examined? There would be no need to censor search engines for 5G-COVID either! In the period before the World Health Organization (WHO) declared a pandemic, I had saved hundreds of 5G documents, Many have been removed from the Internet and others are now censored, and blocked. This is especially true for video content.

NO: But if you even suggest that there may be a link, you must be banned outright, and in some countries arrested and jailed. This is already happening around the world. And it’s all being done — ha ha — in the name of “evidence-backed science”.

5G Explains Cruise Ship COVID-19 Outbreak

Does 5G explain the COVID-19 outbreak on the Princess cruise ships? A researcher has studied the COVID-19 outbreak aboard the ‘Diamond Princess’ and he concluded the following:

When the Diamond Princess data was compared to the controls, it’s clear that the death and infection rates of the Diamond Princess significantly surpass the death and infection rates of all the control data. Ongoing use of 5G can result in potential harm to populations. For the above reasons, this paper concludes that 5G wireless technology radiation is a probable factor for causing Covid-19 outbreaks, but still identifies other causes that still need to be tested. Governments are recommended to impose a moratorium on 5G wireless technology until it can be proven that this technology is safe for humans and the environment.

Wuhan is China's Experimental City For 5G

China has one of the largest 5G networks in the world. In November 2019, the Chinese government announced plans to blanket China with more than 130,000 5G base stations.

Wuhan, China, which started the entire alleged COVID-19 pandemic, was interestingly enough one of the first cities in China to be blanketed with 5G technology. The plans to blanket Wuhan in 5G bandwidth was announced in April 2018. The Chinese government announced that “by 2020, 5G network will cover every corner of the city.”

Sure enough, right on cue, as soon as the 5G network was fired up in Wuhan, the citizens started dropping like flies with symptoms that exactly mirrored the symptoms associated with COVID-19. We now know that when China activated 5G in Wuhan, it was only 20% activated. In other articles, I have pointed out that the Pirbright Institute in Surrey, UK had a 5G satellite flying overhead of Wuhan, and CIA/MI6 agents directed a cyber-attack on the Chinese base stations in Wuhan.

Indeed, the very hospital that treated most of the Wuhan COVID-19 patients was, itself, bathed in 5G electromagnetic radiation.

What Does 5G Do To Humans?

Scientific researchers looked at the science behind 5G and its effects on the human body. They stated:

In this research, we show that 5G millimeter waves could be absorbed by dermatologic cells acting like antennas, transferred to other cells and play the main role in producing Coronaviruses in biological cells.

The researchers explained:

Thus, antenna in this technology could exchange waves with DNAs within cells and produce various types of diseases such as COVID-19.

How does this happen? They stated that “5G technology waves could pass the cell membranes and lead to production of COVID-19.”

The researchers concluded:

“In this research, we have shown that new generation mobile technology, like 5G, could have the main role in constructing various types of viruses, such as Coronaviruses, within a cell.”

These astounding findings were met with an outcry from the larger scientific community who put pressure on the publisher of the research paper, ‘Journal of Biological Regulators and Homeostatic Agents’, to withdraw the publication of the paper, which they did. The paper is now listed as a retracted research paper. The E-mails to and from NIAID Director Anthony Fauci this past week revealed that Dr. Fauci was the one who pressured the Indian virologists to withdraw their paper showing and proving that the COVID virus had 18 HIV1 fragments and 4 SARS2 inserted into virus, proving that it had been engineered into a “bioweapon”.

We know that 5G radiation affects the blood via the conduit sweat glands in the skin. Remember that human blood is water and iron-based. The oxygen carrying capacity of the blood is entirely dependent upon the levels of iron and Vitamin B1 (niacin). There is no doubt that 5G disrupts the molecular structure.

There is no doubt that 5G disrupts the molecular bonding of niacin and iron with life-giving oxygen – and so the cells soon become toxic if deprived of O<sup>2</sup>. Toxic cells in turn NATURALLY PRODUCE corona viruses (aka exosomes) in order to aid in detoxification. And of course, the POLYMERASE enzyme is what the body uses to produce exosomes – thus the Polymerase Chain Reaction (PCR) tests are used to falsely diagnose “covid” positives. While in reality, the viruses are actually doing exactly what God and Nature intended them to do all along.

What has been so amazing to me is the level of censorship at work to keep this TRUTH from being disseminated to the massively duped public.

A group of scientists Link: [FIORANELLI-5G-Cause-of-COVID-19Download] from world-class institutions wrote a paper on this: “In this research, we show that 5G millimeter waves could be absorbed by dermatologic cells acting like antennas, transferred to other cells and play the main role in producing Coronaviruses in biological cells. DNA is built from charged electrons and atoms and has an inductor-like structure. This structure could be divided into linear, toroid and round inductors. Inductors interact with external electromagnetic waves, move and produce some extra waves within the cells. The shapes of these waves are similar to shapes of hexagonal and pentagonal bases of their DNA source. These waves produce some holes in liquids within the nucleus. To fill these holes, some extra hexagonal and pentagonal bases are produced. These bases could join to each other and form virus-like structures such as Coronavirus. To produce these viruses within a cell, it is necessary that the wavelength of external waves be shorter than the size of the cell. Thus 5G millimeter waves could be good candidates for applying in constructing virus-like structures such as Coronaviruses (COVID-19) within cells.” -(Abstract of Paper).

Coronavirus disease (COVID-19) is the main problem this year involving the entire world (1). This is an infectious disease caused by a newly discovered coronavirus. This virus is a member of related viruses that cause diseases in mammals and birds. In humans, coronaviruses cause respiratory tract infections that can be mild, such as some cases of the common cold (among other possible causes, predominantly rhinoviruses), and others that can be lethal, such as SARS, MERS, and COVID-19. Among them, COVID-19 is an enveloped virus with a positive-sense single-stranded RNA genome and a nucleocapsid of helical symmetry. The genome size of coronaviruses ranges from approximately 27 to 34 kilobases, the largest among known RNA viruses (2, 3). To date, many scientists have tried to find a method to cure this disease (4, 5); however, without success. COVID-19 may have effects on different types of cells. For example, it has been argued that this virus may have some effects on dermatologic cells (6). On the other hand, it has been known that some waves in 5G technology have direct effects on the skin cells (7). Thus, there are some similarities between effects of COVID-19 and waves in 5G technology.

A new question arises regarding a relationship between 5G technology and COVID-19. The 5G technology is the fifth-generation mobile technology in which its frequency spectrum could be divided into millimeter waves, mid-band, and low-band. Low-band uses a similar frequency range as the predecessor, 4G. 5G millimeter wave is the fastest, with actual speeds often being 1–2 Gbit/s down. Its frequencies are above 24 GHz, reaching up to 72 GHz, which is above the extremely high frequency band's lower boundary. Millimeter waves have shorter range than microwaves, therefore the reactive cells are those with smaller size (8-10). Consequently, biological cells also could act like a receiver for these waves.

Many researchers have considered the effects of 5G technology on human health. For example, it has been shown that 5G mobile networking technology will affect not only the skin and eyes, but will have adverse systemic effects as well (11). In another study, it was argued that 5G technologies cause great harm to human health. Cancer is only one of the many problems. 5G causes 720 (factorial) different diseases in human beings, and can kill everything that lives except some forms of microorganisms (12). To consider the effects of 5G millimeter waves on biological systems, we propose a model which describes the process of exchanging waves between 5G towers and host cells.

In my research over the past decade, I was able to learn how 5G can be induced into the human body through Electroporation, a process of beaming a pathogen directly into the pores of human cell tissue.

Electroporation, or electropermeabilization, is a microbiology technique in which an electrical field is applied to cells in order to increase the permeability of the cell membrane, allowing chemicals, drugs, or DNA to be introduced into the cell (also called electrotransfer).

In simple terms I could zap you with an invisible “bullet” of my choice that will make you sick or kill you! You would never feel it or know it ever happened! 5G wireless energy was created by the military as a weapons system!

Below you will find the most comprehensive directory of articles, papers, studies, and information regarding 5G and 5G technologies. These are from world-wide sources as well as the U.S. Europe was two years ahead of the U.S. when 5G wireless was first promoted by AT&T, T-Mobil, Hughes, or Verizon.
