A single Powerball ticket sold in Los Angeles matched all 6 numbers for the $1.08 billion jackpot on July 20, 2023

The owner or owners of the $1.08 billion winning ticket in Wednesday night's Powerball drawing, sold at a convenience store in Los Angeles, have yet to claim the prize, which is among the largest in the game's history.

The winning numbers were 7, 13, 10, 24, 11 and the Powerball was 24.

The lucky ticket holder will have the choice between an annuitized prize paid out in installments over 29 years of $1.08 billion, or a lump-sum payment of $558.1 million, both before taxes, according to Powerball.

A customer purchases a ticket for the Powerball jackpot at a newsstand in New York City, U.S., November 7, 2022.

Wednesday's prize ranks as the sixth-largest US lottery jackpot and third-largest Powerball jackpot, behind the world record $2.04 billion Powerball jackpot won last year in California, and the $1.586 billion Powerball jackpot won in 2016, according to the lottery.

Wednesday's winning ticket was sold at Las Palmitas Mini Market in downtown Los Angeles, according to the California Lottery. The convenience store will receive nearly $1 million for selling the winning ticket.

Angélica Menjívar, whose mother owns the store, told reporters they were happy for the bonus but didn't have plans yet how to spend it.

Nabor Herrera, who works at the store, learned the mart sold the winning ticket as he arrived to work Thursday morning, his car flanked by reporters.

"I didn't know, I am finding out right now when they have me surrounded," he said. "They didn't want to let me park."

Three of Herrera's customers bought a large share of tickets, he said, and he hoped the winner is one of his many regulars. He was eager to check two tickets of his own he had purchased.

"Blessed, thank God someone won," he said. "We also get a little bit."

Herrera was initially identified as the owner; a lottery spokesperson told CNN after the news conference that he was an employee.

In California, Powerball jackpot winners have one year to claim their prizes. They have 60 days after their claim is validated to choose which payout they want.

Business owner Joe Chahayed smiled as he holds a check with his sons, Joe Chahayed, Jr., left, and Daniel Chahayed, right, outside his Joe's Service Center in Altadena, northeast of Los Angeles Tuesday, Nov. 8, 2022. CA Lottery officials presented a CA Lottery's retailer selling bonus check for "One Million US Dollars," for selling the lottery ticket that won a record $2.04 billion Powerball jackpot.

The shop owner who sold winning Powerball ticket is now a millionaire himself.

Though a single ticket won the jackpot, players are being advised to check their tickets on the chance they won one of the seven other types of prizes ranging from $4 to $2 million (depending on state lottery rules).

Another winner was the state's public school system.

"The lottery has raised nearly $80 million dollars for public schools just from this one game," said California Lottery spokesperson Carolyn Becker.

In addition to Wednesday's big winner, 36 tickets sold across 16 states matched all five white balls to win what in most states will be $1 million prizes, according to a Powerball news release. Seven of those tickets were sold in California, where the prizes will be $448,750, according to California's lottery site. Non-jackpot prizes in California vary depending on number of winners and ticket sales, and so will differ from fixed prizes shown on Powerball's site.

The odds of winning the jackpot are 1 in 292.2 million, Powerball says on its website.

Before Wednesday's win, there had been 38 consecutive drawings without a jackpot winner since Powerball's April 19 drawing, when a ticket in Ohio matched all six numbers to win a grand prize worth $252.6 million.

"Congratulations to our newest Powerball jackpot winner and the California Lottery!" said Drew Svitko, Powerball Product Group Chair and Pennsylvania Lottery Executive Director. "For more than 30 years, Powerball has brought people together to dream big and win big, and in doing so, has raised billions of dollars for good causes supported by lotteries."

Last year, a lone winning ticket – also in California – won the record $2.04 billion Powerball lottery jackpot. As a result, the owner of the gas station that sold the winning ticket became a millionaire himself.

For those who didn't become instant millionaires on Wednesday, there may still be hope: the Mega Millions drawing. Friday's Mega Millions jackpot is worth an estimated annuitized value $720 million, with a cash value of $369.6 million.

I am noting this story for several reasons. It occurred last month when most of us prophecy watchers were focused on what the Jewish 9th of Av might mean for believers anticipating the Rapture. The odds of winning the jackpot were 1 in 292.2 million, Powerball said on its website. The U.S. population is estimated at 331.89 million at the present and counting as the O'biden administration allows the Southern Border to be invaded daily unabated.

There's no shaking it. Your chances of winning the lottery are extremely slim — even as more and more eye top prizes soaring to jaw-dropping heights.

Ahead of Wednesday night's drawing, the estimated jackpot for Powerball reached $1 billion — marking the seventh largest prize across U.S. lottery history. And Mega Millions' jackpot grew to an estimated $720 million after there was no winner Tuesday.

But don't plan on entering a new tax bracket anytime soon. The odds of winning a Powerball jackpot — no matter the size — stand near 1 in 292.2 million. Chances of taking home Mega Millions' top prize are even lower, at about 1 in 302.6 million.

Because of the almost impossible chance of winning big, experts stress that you shouldn't spend all your money on lottery tickets. If you choose to play, it's important to be mindful of what you can afford — and maybe consider other places to put your money, even if it's just a few dollars at a time.

Lottery tickets are "definitely not good investments," Matthew Kovach, an assistant professor in Virginia Tech's economics department told The Associated Press. "They're not even investments ... there's an expectation you will always lose money."

Here are some things to know about the odds of winning the lottery.

WINNING THE LOTTERY IS NEARLY IMPOSSIBLE. WHAT'S MORE LIKELY?

There's a long list of rare events that are more likely than winning the Powerball or Mega Millions jackpot.

"Imagine you have scrabble tiles that spell out 'Powerball.' Mix them up and then select them in a random order," Kovach explained. "The chance of correctly spelling 'Powerball' is about 1 out of 180,000, which is very unlikely. Still, that is over 1,600 times more likely than winning the Powerball lottery."

Another common comparison is getting struck by lightning. Even if you bought a lottery ticket for every drawing over 80 years — two times a week for Mega Millions and three times a week for Powerball — you would still be far less likely to win than to be struck by lightning once in your lifetime, Syracuse University mathematics professor Steven Diaz added.

Of course, both Mega Millions and Powerball offer a handful of tiers below the top jackpots — with the lowest prizes starting at $2 and $4, respectfully. For both games, the odds of winning any prize stand at about 1 in 24.

HAS WINNING THE LOTTERY BECOME HARDER?

Yes. Winning the lottery has become harder in recent years, causing jackpots to grow bigger and bigger — and that's by design.

Such big jackpots comes down to math and more difficult odds. In 2015, the Powerball lottery lengthened the odds of winning from 1 in 175.2 million to 1 in 292.2 million. Mega Millions followed two years later, lengthening the odds of winning the top prize from 1 in 258.9 million to 1 in 302.6 million. The largest lottery jackpots in the U.S. have come since those changes were made.

HOW MUCH DO JACKPOT WINNERS REALLY TAKE HOME?

When someone wins a lottery jackpot in games like Powerball or Mega Millions they have two options: an annuity that is distributed over 29 years or a (significantly smaller) cash payout.

The estimated $1 billion jackpot that we see for Powerball's Wednesday drawing, for example, is the annuity option — and the cash value for this prize is nearly half that, standing at $516.8 million. Most jackpot winners opt for the cash.

Federal and state taxes will also lower the money you take home, with deductions depending on where you live.

IS BUYING A LOTTERY TICKET A GOOD INVESTMENT?

Because winning is so rare, experts maintain that lottery tickets are horrible investments — but note that every person's reason for playing the lottery is different.

Some people might buy a $2 lottery ticket as a form of entertainment and find satisfaction in "the excitement of thinking you might win," Diaz says. Meanwhile, others may enter the lottery out of feelings of desperation or financial struggle — with experts pointing to consequences that have disproportionately impacted low-income communities.

The lottery has historically acted as a regressive tax on the poor, meaning the people that can least afford to lose their money buy the most tickets, Lia Nower, a professor and the director of the Center for Gambling Studies at Rutgers University, previously told The AP.

She said her "concern with lottery is really more people who are buying it every day or two or three times a week" as opposed to those who purchase one ticket as the jackpot nears $1 billion.

A $2 ticket may not seem like much — but it can add up for those who are regularly buying lottery tickets over time. Alternative spending options could include opening an investment account that allows you to invest in small amounts or buying partial stock, Kovach says.

"In reality, it's probably best to diversify by something like an index fund — but if you're just starting out, I would... (suggest putting it) in the stock market or something like that," he said. "You will actually probably see a return over time."

UN ~ Antichrist watcher Craig Bong did an interview with Janie DuVall two months ago that has been viewed 314,000 times. Craig Bong identified 26 major signs that pointed to Prince Charles as being the Antichrist. The link to that interview is below for anyone who has not viewed it.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YMTSuwocYmw

In a previous article I did on Prince Charles, I noted 32 signs confirming of Prince Charles being the Antichrist.

What does this have to with Power Ball and Lotto odds? It's all relative as they say! Craig Bong identified 26 signs but the odds of 1 person to fulfill 26 signs are still out of this world in terms of statistical odds.

For 1 event to occur by accident / random chance the odds are 1 in 26

For 2 events to occur by accident / random chance the odds are 1 in 676

For 3 events to occur by accident / random chance the odds are 1 in 456,976

For 4 events to occur by accident / random chance the odds are 1 in 208,827,064,576

For 5 events to occur by accident / random chance the odds are 1 in Well my calculator does not accommodate such huge product numbers. With each event or feature you square the product of the previous result.

My point here is that each time the product is squared the statistical odds exponentially become larger and larger until you don't have enough room for the digits on a sheet of paper.

The red line of numbers at the top of page one is based upon the findings of Dr. Ivan Panin. Dr. Panin nearly a century ago was famous for his discovery of the Heptadic Design Feature in the Bible. The Bible has a numerical DNA that is structured on the number "7". Dr. Panin spent 50 years confirming the Divine mathematical structure of the King James Bible. Dr. Panin was born in Russia, was one of the nihilists in the Russian revolution. He emigrated to the U.S. and became a U.S. citizen.

Panin's conversion occurred in 1890 when his attention was caught by the first chapter of John, in which the article ("the") is used before "God" in one instance, and left out in the next: "and the Word was with the God, and the Word was God." He began to examine the text to see if there was an underlying pattern contributing to this peculiarity. Making parallel lists of verses with and without the article, he decided that there was a system of mathematical relationships underlying the text. This led to his conversion to Christianity, as attested to by his publication in 1891 of 'The Structure of the Bible: A Proof of the Verbal Inspiration of Scripture.'

Until his death in 1942, Ivan Panin labored continuously on searching for numerical patterns in the Hebrew language of the Old Testament and the Greek language of the New Testament, often to the detriment of his health. The most well-known pattern is that Genesis 1:1, is made of 7 words, of 28 letters, and 28=4x7, but he found many many more patterns of 7s. He declared that if these patterns were implemented intentionally by the writers, the collaboration of all writers of the Bible—stretched over many disparate years—would be required, in addition to the condition that each of them be a mathematician of the highest order.

In 1899 Panin sent a letter to the New York Sun challenging his audience to disprove his thesis that the numerical structure of scripture showed its divine origin.

While Panin spoke highly of the edition of Westcott and Hort of the New Testament, he found their textual criticism wanting and was obliged to produce his own critical text. This work, the New Testament in the Original Greek, published in 1934, claims to have reconstructed the lost original version by his techniques.

Based on his edition of the Greek text, Panin translated the New Testament into English, 'The New Testament from the Greek as Established by Bible Numerics' (New Haven, CT, 1914). This was followed in 1935 by a "Second Edition, Revised".

Thereafter, until his death in 1942, he devoted over 50 years of his life to painstakingly exploring his ideas about the numerical structure of the Scriptures, generating over 43,000 hand-penned pages of analysis. A sampling of his discoveries were published, and continue to be published today.

Proponents of his work include well-known authors such as Chuck Missler. In one of Dr. Panin's books, he presented 24 features from the Bible that statistically are multiples of "7" and =

One Chance in 191,581,231,380,566,414,401

If you are mathematically inclined you can see the astronomical odds of the Bible's accuracy, are infinitely larger than the Power Ball or Lotto odds. In addition, in the world of science, anything with odds greater than 1 in 150-million simply is impossible to occur by random or accident. The converse of this implies intelligent design and hence was placed there by the designer, who we acknowledge as the God of Creation!

Amazon has a number of his books, and there is an inexpensive title that provides the skeptic an overview of Dr. Ivan Panin's work. 'Mathematics Proves Holy Scripture' and it sells for $9 a copy. As a watermark identifies the genuineness of paper, so there are mathematical patterns beneath the surface of the text of the Bible, so complex that they can only be accounted for by Divine Providence.

New CDC Director Teases Annual COVID Shots

The CDC's new director, Dr. Mandy Cohen, teased incoming guidance recommending annual COVID-19 booster shots in a Thursday interview with Spectrum News.

Dr. Mandy Cohen alluded to annual COVID-19 vaccination recommendations to be announced in early September by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

"I was literally suspended from Twitter for predicting this back in 2021."

The new CDC Director elaborated:

""We're just on the precipice of that, so I don't want to get ahead of where our scientists are here and doing that evaluation work, but yes we anticipate that COVID will become similar to flu shots, where it is going to be you get your annual flu shot and you get your annual COVID shot," Cohen said. "We're not quite there yet, but stay tuned. I think within the next couple of weeks, month we're going to hear more from our experts on COVID shots."

" 'Folks have been very clear that the CDC did lose trust', Cohen said. 'There were some early places where the CDC didn't perform and execute the way they needed to."

"This comes after emails released by the House Select Subcommittee on the Coronavirus revealed that Anthony Fauci, former Director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, was aware of gain-of-function research occurring in Wuhan, China during the pandemic."

Cohen was appointed as CDC director in June by President Biden following the departure of Dr. Rochelle Walensky. She has a background in internal medicine and led the North Carolina Department of Human Health and Services. (RELATED: POLL: Almost Half Of Adults Believe COVID-19 Vaccines May Have Caused 'Unexplained' Deaths)

The CDC lost public trust among many Americans during the COVID-19 pandemic. Roughly 10% of Americans do not trust the institution at all, according to a March survey by Harvard T. Chan School of Public Health.

Cohen claims she is concerned about distrust in vaccines. She says she has already met with individual members of Congress as she plans to focus on her relationships with the public, health leaders and both Democratic and Republican politicians.

This comes after emails released by the House Select Subcommittee on the Coronavirus revealed that Anthony Fauci, former Director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, was aware of gain-of-function research occurring in Wuhan, China during the pandemic.

Now if the previous information on the CDC's plan to push the booster shot of a Covid Vaxx does not concern you, what I share that follows will confirm to the reader that this has been underway for a long period of time and the end goal is to KILL BILLIONS, not MILLIONS.

A Bioweapon Masquerading as a Vaccine

Horrifying Discovery in Unvaxxed Blood:
Dr Ana Mihalcea

Dr Ana Mihalcea joins Sean at the SGT Report to discuss her recent findings that unvaxxed folks now have the same risks as the vaxxed. She believes that the rubbery clots found by morticians are being caused by the hydrogel in the vaxx and that we are all injesting the nanotechnology that creates them. We're inhaling it from the chemtrails and consuming it orally through our food and water.

Her presentation, 'Evidence of Crimes Against Humanity: Darkfield Live Blood Analysis' begins at the 20 minute mark.'

She says, "26 teams (and more) have investigated the vials and I was part of such a team. There was an RNA sequence for many vials but it...was truncated, there were fragments of it but it didn't have the entire sequence of it that was required to produce a spike protein..."

"We didn't find any objective difference between vaxxinated and unvaxxinated blood...Everybody started developing these filaments, all of the blood was clumping..."

"This is impedance spectroscopy. We used frequencies from 0 to 25,000Hz and applied it to the blood and just observed what happened. It turns out that at 4-Hz, there was a substantial difference in the vaxxinated blood; it was extremely sensitive to 4-Hz. Let me explain that."

"Our Earth's biosphere has a resonance called the Schumann Resonance: 7.8-Hz and nothing natural vibrates below that because it's related to the size of the Earth. So 4-Hz, though has been documented around the Earth and it's an artificial, synthetic signal that comes from HAARP, the High-frequency Active Auroral Research Project, which is used for weather warfare, DNA modification and mind control and it turns out that the vaccinated have a very specific sensitivity to 4-Hz electromagnetic radiation..."

"We're inhaling it. We're being sprayed with it. We're inhaling 20 million nanoparticles per breath, according to Dane Wigington. It's being shed, it's in the meat supply. I've found this stuff in meat. It's in everything. It's in medication. So, this is what this assault is about and this is what I've been warning the world about."

"People are just talking about the spike protein, it's like you're missing the target. This [the hydrogel] is really what is the danger for humanity and this is how it's working."

Dr. Ana shows videos of insulin being added to a live blood sample and then a dental anesthetic (Novocain) being added to live blood and you can see the self-assembly of nanochips being formed out of the hydrogel nanoparticles in the medication and the building blocks in the blood.

On a positive note, Dr. Ana believes the best way to eliminate the hydrogel and the synthetic biology from the Death Shot is chelation therapy with EDTA and she shows a blood sample Before and After chelation.

"So you absolutely want to take oral vitamin C every day...! recommend – if your gut can tolerate it – up to 10,000mg per day...Clifford [Carnicom] and I are researching so many other things: vitamin supplementation is very important, electron donors, antioxidants, EDTA, things like humic and fulvic acid...we found that hydrosol_gold is able to dissolve the microchips, so I'm using that in my protocols, as well."

"Nattokinase is important for the micro clotting that develops also from the acidity. All of these things, together are definitely very important. Nitric acid is needed by the microbiome to detoxify graphene."

Horrifying Discovery in Unvaxxed Blood:
Dr Ana Mihalcea

Running Time: 75 min.

Renowned trends researcher and publisher of "The Trends Journal," Gerald Celente, says the trend for the world is very dark because of the increasing prospects for a World War. Celente pointed out a year ago to an unsuspecting public that "World War III has already started." There is no end in sight to the Ukraine war, and it is only getting more intense. Celente says, "We are at the end of civilization....Let's talk about the Ukraine war. Thanks to the U.S. and NATO, they ramped up a situation that would have been over a year ago if we minded our own business. Now, it's bombs away in Moscow with the drones they are sending in World War III has begun, and we are on the verge of nuclear annihilation. Look at these people on the cover of the Trends Journal. They are out of their minds. They are evil, demonic, psychopathic, pathological lying freaks."

Since 2014, Celente and his Trends Journal has been warning "Washington is driving the world to the final war." Looks like we are in the final war now. Celente says the people currently in office in Washington D.C. will do anything to hold on to power. This includes massive cheating in the 2024 Election and jailing Trump if the Deep State can pull it off. Despite the fact Donald Trump is leading the GOP field for the White House in 2024, Celente says they will make sure he does not return to office by cheating him out—once again. Celente also says that Bobby Kennedy Jr. looks like he is trending higher, but he, too, will have to contend with the cheating.

If the cheating does not look like it's going to work, Celente says, "When all else fails, they take you to war." Celente says he would not be surprised if a war does not ramp way up before the 2024 Election.

Celente has more bad news you need to consider on the economic trend. The higher interest rates go to fight inflation, the more it will damage the economy. Celente contends the Fed is going to lower interest rates just in time for the 2024 Election. Celente says, "When they lower interest rates, the dollar is going to dive. This will be the beginning of the death of the dollar. Gold prices are going to skyrocket. The only reason gold prices are low is because of the strong dollar. Then you will start seeing the beginning of the unwinding of the economy. That's the beginning of the death. Also, look at the BRICS (currency) and the 40 countries that have already joined and don't want the dollar."

In closing, Celente says, "People need to get prepared physically, mentally and spiritually because you are in a fight for your life. . . . United we stand and divided we die."

US GOVERNMENT DEBT SPIKES BY $1.2 TRILLION SINCE DEBT CEILING, TO $32.7 TRILLION. TREASURY TO ADD $1.5 TRILLION IN DEBT BY YEAR-END Published: August 1, 2023 |

STUNNING NUMBERS OUT TODAY. INVESTORS WILL BUY THE SECURITIES, PLUS THOSE THE FED STEPS AWAY FROM. BUT... CRYSTAL BALL SEES RISING LONGER-TERM YIELDS.

To set the scene for what's to come in a moment: The total U.S. national debt spiked by $1.19 trillion since the debt ceiling was lifted, to $32.66 trillion.

And to set the scene further: This $32.66 trillion of debt is composed of two groups of Treasury securities:

- $6.9 trillion of nonmarketable (not traded in the market) Treasury securities that have been bought by US government pension funds, the Social Security Trust Fund, etc.;
- $25.7 trillion in marketable securities (Treasury securities held and traded by the global public, from regular folks to central banks, including the Fed).

Marketable securities outstanding have spiked by $1.05 trillion since the debt ceiling was lifted on June 2, a huge amount of issuance in two months.

And in a moment, we'll get into how much more will be issued for the remainder of the year: Another $1.5 trillion (as indicated by the green line and technical term for this phenomenon), according to the jacked-up projections released today by the Treasury Department:

TODAY'S DEBT-ISSUANCE SHOCKER FOR THE 2ND HALF.

The Treasury Department today jacked up its borrowing plans to deal with the lower-than-previously-expected revenues and the higher-than-previously-expected outlays, as the deficit keeps careening out of all control.

For the current quarter: $1.01 trillion in additional debt. This July through September quarter has only two months left, Treasury jacked up its borrowing plans by $274 billion, to total borrowing in the quarter of $1.01 trillion, up from the $733 billion it had imagined in May, according to its announcement today.

In other words, the government will issue over $1 trillion in marketable securities this quarter that the market has to buy this quarter, in addition to refinancing maturing securities.

Last time the government issued securities at this pace and faster was in 2020, but back then, the Fed was buying Treasuries hand over fist, including $3 trillion in March through May 2020. Now the Fed is shedding Treasuries at a pace of about $60 billion a month.

Markets not only have to digest the new issuance but also pick up the $60 billion a month that the Fed is walking away from.

The Treasury Department cited three main reasons for this $274 billion increase to this monster $1.01 trillion in new issuance this quarter:

- It raised by $50 billion the balance it wants to have in its checking account, the Treasury General Account (TGA), by the end of September, to $650 billion, from $600 billion as planned in May.
- It started out the quarter with $148 billion less in the TGA than projected in May. So it was behind before the quarter even started.
- It now projects "lower receipts and higher outlays" than imagined in May, requiring an additional $83 billion new debt to cover this additional deficit.

For the next quarter: $852 billion in new borrowing. In the October through December quarter, Treasury expects to borrow an additional $852 billion, to end with a cash balance in its TGA of $750 billion.

The way things are going, with these big upward revisions of borrowing estimates, along with the less than projected receipts and more than expected outlays, we can expect an upward revision of this $852 billion by the next update. Total new borrowing in the second half: $1.85 trillion. In July – the first month of the second half – the government already borrowed nearly $300 billion. So for the five months from now through the end of December, the government projects to issue $1.56 trillion in new debt. Some of it to refill the TGA to $750 billion (from $550 billion now), and the rest of it cover the budget deficit.

BON APPÉTIT, INVESTORS!

This is a huge amount of supply of Treasury securities coming to the market, on top of the $60 billion a month in maturing securities that the Fed is walking away from, and as they're refinanced, the market has to pick them up too.

Yield solves all demand problems. That's what yield is for, and it's a good thing, we know that. You can sell even the riskiest junk bonds if the yield is high enough. So there will be buyers, but the yields will have to be high enough to attract them.

So far, the government has only increased its issuance of Treasury bills (securities of one year or less) and Cash Management Bills – a veritable flood of CMBs.

CMBs are the most flexible securities for the government. They are sold at auctions on short notice and outside the normal auction schedule. Their balance is not included in the above charted $32.66 trillion in national debt. CMBs can have peculiar terms, from one day on up to several months. For example, on July 27, Treasury announced that it will offer $50 billion in 42-day CMBs at an auction on August 1.

Even though CMBs are not included in the balance of the US national debt, they will still have to be absorbed by investors and are part of what investors have to buy.

The longer-term securities are coming. On Wednesday, Treasury is expected to announce a substantial increase in the issuance of longer-term securities – Treasury notes of 2 to 10 years and bonds of 20 and 30 years – most likely through increases of the sizes of its regular auctions.

This increased supply of longer-term securities will have to attract enough buyers with a yield that is high enough. Currently, Treasury bills are paying somewhere near 5.5%. But the 10-year yield is only around 4%. So this will be interesting.

Dr. Robert Malone's Remarks At American Frontline Doctors July 27, 2023 White Coat Summit

Given his background in developing what he refers to as "genetic vaccines," Dr. Malone would appear to personify the very science we ought to be following.

It is not his credentials nor his proven expertise which has led to the attacks on his reputation, however.

It is the fact that the science he has followed has led him to a sinister global program of deliberate harm.

Who are the puppet masters? U.S. government, Nazi scientists

Dr. Malone says:

"When we ask who are the puppet masters behind all this, we have to look the brutal truth in the face. That behind a lot of this is the U.S. government ... in funding, policy and actions."

He goes much further in explaining the history of biological warfare innovation in the modern world:

"The entire backbone of modern biology as we know it – molecular biology, biochemistry, virology, microbiology – [has] been created in large part through massive U.S. government investment in biowarfare programs ... which of course all derives from Operation Paperclip and the importation of both Nazi and Japanese biowarfare specialists."

Dr. Malone's softly-spoken speech argues that the U.S. government is not merely the enemy of its own people – but almost all of them, everywhere. Almost, that is, except for a small elite.

If you find yourself shocked or incredulous at this suggestion, Dr. Malone understands your concerns.

He says this himself in a Substack post on a 1974 National Security Study Memo (NSSM) known as The Kissinger Report.

"Personally, I have been reluctant to wander down the rabbit hole relating to various 'depopulation agenda' theories involving the COVID crisis."

Yet the evidence, which Malone presents in diligent order, has persuaded him to do just that.

Again, if the claim of a global depopulation blueprint seems wild, consider the words of Dr. Robert Malone against the very evidence which compelled him to say them.

We absolutely have a depopulation agenda here in the United States and we have had such since the mid-70s.

So said Malone in his address.

The 1974 document he adduced on his Substack says this:

Part Two	Policy Recommendations	73
Section I	A U.S. Global Population Strategy	74-84
Section II	Action to Create Conditions for Fertility Decline:
	Population and a Development Assistance Strategy	85-105

	B. Functional Assistance Programs to Create Conditions for Fertility Decline	92-102

The report expressly mentions the United Nations and "Specialized Agencies," which we can take to be the World Economic Forum itself, along with the World Health Organization.

Malone himself cites the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation as a prime example of the "Private Organizations" enthusiastically partnered with the depopulation agenda.

The final section of a plan almost four decades old refers to the development of novel "fertility control technology" and the use of the mass media to mold compliance in the global population. It would create what Dr. Malone termed "mass formation psychosis" to force compliance with this agenda.

Finally, the report prefigures the means of undermining the sovereignty of nations in coordinating "worldwide political commitment" to the depopulation agenda. This is a blueprint for a globalized cull of humanity, which Dr. Malone claims has been advanced by the work of the CIA.

Dr. Malone questions why "genetic vaccines" were selected for the task of supposedly combating COVID-19. He points out that their advancement was pushed by DARPA – the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency of the U.S. government.

Dr. Malone claims there is no difference between this agency and the one tasked with subversion, propaganda and the changing of regimes – the CIA.

To be blunt – DARPA is CIA. DARPA is the operational arm of CIA for the development and deployment of technology.

The "technology" developed and deployed here is a "genetic vaccine" to advance a global depopulation agenda in line with an internationally coordinated population reduction program.

Dr Malone has written about DARPA's involvement in the development of these novel injections, and has claimed elsewhere that "vaccine" company Moderna is "a CIA front" – also created by DARPA.

Henry Kissinger, mentor to Klaus Schwab
Henry Kissinger was not only the mentor of Klaus Schwab – but also the man behind the creation of the World Economic Forum.

The origins of the World Economic Forum

The WEF was not the brainchild of Klaus Schwab, but was, like Facebook itself, initially a creation of the U.S. National Security State. The idea of the World Economic Forum emerged from a broader movement of technocratic post-industrial theorists in the late 1960s, whose chief concern was the use of technology to better manage future populations.

It was people such as Henry Kissinger, John Kenneth Galbraith, and Herman Kahn who, through the Nixon-era Council on Foreign Relations, first travelled to Europe with Schwab in 1970 to recruit the future membership of the World Economic Forum. The result was the first European Management Forum, as it was then called. Schwab himself admitted this in a New York Times piece on Davos in 1997:

'I got John Kenneth Galbraith, Herman Kahn and a few other people I had met in Cambridge to come and explain,' he said, and with a staff of two secretaries and an assistant he later married, he organized the first European Management Symposium in 1971. It attracted 444 business leaders, each paying a substantial fee.

According to the above article by John Vedmore:

Kissinger would introduce Klaus Schwab to John Kenneth Galbraith at Harvard and, as the 1960s came to a close, Galbraith would help Schwab make the World Economic Forum a reality.

My report for LifeSiteNews, January 16, 2023, showing Kissinger as the architect of the World Economic Forum

Malone notes this, and the fact that Kissinger continues to collaborate with the WEF.

He goes further, claiming the WEF was created by the CIA for the purpose of advancing its global agenda.

This globalist network tirelessly promotes agendas such as antinatalist policies, ESG, and Net Zero, whose aggressive implementation will likely collapse industrial society.

Hormone-disrupting contraception, the murder of the unborn, and the promotion of childless sexual lifestyles are all beneficial to an agenda of depopulation.

The provision of "puberty blockers" to children who through social contagion believe themselves "trans" will leave them permanently sterilized.

These factors amount to a remarkable alignment with an overall agenda to reduce the number of humans. It is an agenda with a proven blueprint – itself followed by the creation of the very agencies it suggested as necessary for the execution of the plan.

How telling that four years after Kissinger moved to create the WEF, a report is commissioned by him on the means to achieve a reduction in global population.

The motive and the means

Global measures to reduce population were motivated by power, not by any concern for the environment.

The rising populations of developing countries would lead, in the eyes of the report, to increased political pressure on the U.S. to provide development to nations against the economic and strategic interests of the U.S.

These nations are more readily exploited when they remain underdeveloped.

Further, a younger population is more likely to agitate for the kind of change which would wrest these nations from the globalized control championed by the report.

This strategy, with its clear-eyed and utterly inhumane view of human affairs, appears at second reading to dovetail with the phase of near-borderless mass migration we now witness.

Seen in this light, the transfer of youthful populations from developing countries eases political unrest.

As these novel populations arrive, their Western host nations experience a series of domestic tensions which themselves serve to distract and divide populations, easing the implementation of a global agenda.

Main observations advanced by NSSM200:

Population growth of foreign nations provides more geopolitical power and possible opposition to US interests

- The United States relies on countries being underdeveloped in order to easily obtain natural resources
- American businesses are vulnerable to interference by foreign governments that are required to provide for growing populations
- High birth rates result in more young individuals who oppose established governments

NSSM 200, 'The Kissinger Report,' shows that profit and political power are the motives driving the depopulation agenda. Taken from Dr. Robert Malone's Substack.

Countdown to depopulation

Dr. Malone points out in his video address that "many of the things that were deployed" were "consistent with the public policy of the United States as it relates to population control."

The recommendations of The Kissinger Report became public policy under President Gerald Ford, who in 1975 advanced National Security Decision 314, recommended here and recorded here.

Dr. Malone noted both in his video address and the above-mentioned post that "the report indicates that global population must not exceed 8 billion human beings.

Is it a coincidence that in 2020 total global human inhabitants reached 7.84 billion?"

This is a coincidence that seems ever more remarkable when Dr. Malone also recalls that many leading billionaires have repeatedly met to discuss the limiting of the human population.

America's richest people meet to discuss ways of tackling a 'disastrous' environmental, social and industrial threat

John Harlow, Los Angeles

Sunday May 24 2009, 1.00am, The Sunday Times

Report in The Times, UK, May 2009

The above report, now 14 years old, reveals a familiar roster:

The philanthropists who attended a summit convened on the initiative of Bill Gates, the Microsoft co-founder, discussed joining forces to overcome political and religious obstacles to change.

Described as the Good Club by one insider it included David Rockefeller Jr, the patriarch of America's wealthiest dynasty, Warren Buffett and George Soros, the financiers, Michael Bloomberg, the mayor of New York, and the media moguls Ted Turner and Oprah Winfrey.

These members, along with Gates, have given away more than £45 billion since 1996 to causes ranging from health programmes in developing countries

Malone's calmly reasoned address points to long-standing coordinated actions consistent with the aims of the 1974 Kissinger Report.

He reveals, without hyperbole, an orchestrated campaign to "depopulate the Earth," which has seen the media, the U.S. government, and the CIA collude with billionaires and the global, non-government organizations created to serve this agenda.

Dr. Malone has produced a well-researched and compelling case that he is advancing in the public interest.

His is the kind of scientific method we should do well to follow – one indifferent to persecution in defense of the evidence.

It is no coincidence that the conference at which Dr. Malone spoke was subtitled The Reckoning.

Fresno Lab: China's Operation to Exterminate Americans

by Gordon G. Chang

August 3, 2023

- There were on site at least 20 potentially infectious pathogens including those causing coronavirus, HIV, hepatitis, and herpes.
- We know enough to be alarmed, however.
- The lab was supposed to be producing COVID-19 and pregnancy tests, but the facility contained items inconsistent with that explanation. The seizures at the lab strongly suggest China's regime is preparing to spread disease in America, undoubtedly in the months before a war.
- In all probability, it is from locations like this one where China will "fire the first shot" in the next war.
- General Chi Haotian, when he was China's defense minister two decades ago, reportedly gave a secret speech advocating the extermination of Americans with disease. His plan was to clear out the hills, plains, and valleys of North America so that the Chinese people could settle in the vast spaces left uninhabited.
- Since then, the mass murder of Americans has been a popular theme in Chinese society. The Communist Party, which tightly controls discourse in the People's Republic of China, permits and even encourages incitement to kill Americans. "We are ahead of schedule in terms of overtaking the United States.... There will be no problem reaching this goal in 2027. The U.S. will not survive." — LI Yi, prominent Chinese sociologist, October 2020.
- Americans now have to assume that China's Communist Party is executing a plan to exterminate Americans.
- Will Americans, now warned, act to protect their society? After the discovery of the kamikaze lab near Fresno, they should act first and ask questions later.
- Americans now have to assume that China's Communist Party is executing a plan to exterminate Americans.

An "unlicensed laboratory" in Reedley, California run by Prestige BioTech, a Nevada company fronting for parties in China, was raided in March. On site were at least 20 potentially infectious pathogens including those causing coronavirus, HIV, hepatitis, and herpes. The seizures at the lab strongly suggest China's regime is preparing to spread diseases in America. Pictured: A laboratory at the Wuhan Institute of Virology in China -- widely believed to be the source of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Prestige BioTech, a Nevada company fronting for parties in China, was caught operating an "unlicensed laboratory" in Reedley, California in March. State and Fresno County officers raided the facility, and the FBI and Centers for Disease Control and Prevention have since been participating in the investigation.

The illegal operation housed white lab mice—773 live and more than 175 dead—that were genetically engineered to carry disease. Authorities also found medical waste and chemical, viral, and biological agents. There were on site at least 20 potentially infectious pathogens including those causing coronavirus, HIV, hepatitis, and herpes.

The lab is "mysterious," as the California Globe news site proclaimed. We know enough, however, to be alarmed.

The lab was supposed to be producing COVID-19 and pregnancy tests, but the facility contained items inconsistent with that explanation. The seizures at the lab strongly suggest China's regime is preparing to spread diseases in America, undoubtedly in the months before a war.

"This kamikaze lab—unsecured, poorly contained, makeshift, containing a couple dozen pathogens near a population center—cannot be a one-off," Brandon Weichert, author of Biohacked: China's Race to Control Life, told Gatestone. "It is, I believe, a part of a large Chinese military operation to spread disease throughout the American population."

"The idea, apparently, is to inhibit Washington's response to a Chinese attack in Asia," said Weichert. "The lab near Fresno, I think, is just the first to be discovered. There must be many more Fresno's out there."

In all probability, it is from locations like this one where China will "fire the first shot" in the next war.

That means the party running the lab—Xiuquin Yao, the president of Prestige BioTech—should not be tried in either the federal or California judicial system. Yao should be sent straight to Guantanamo Bay detention camp, where America houses those waging war against it.

General Chi Haotian, when he was China's defense minister two decades ago, reportedly gave a secret speech advocating the extermination, by disease, of Americans. His plan was to clear out the hills, plains, and valleys of North America so that the Chinese people could settle in the vast spaces left uninhabited.

Since then, the mass murder of Americans has been a popular theme in Chinese society. The Communist Party, which tightly controls discourse in the People's Republic of China, permits and even encourages incitement to kill Americans. "We are ahead of schedule in terms of overtaking the United States," said prominent Chinese sociologist Li Yi in a public speech in late 2020, after talking about the devastation caused by COVID-19 to America. "There will be no problem reaching this goal in 2027. The U.S. will not survive." Then he added this, to make clear he was not merely making a prediction: "As long as we go to work every day, we will drive the U.S. to its death."

"The problem with the report of the Chi Haotian speech is that it cannot be verified," Richard Fisher of the International Assessment and Strategy Center told this author. "When it was revealed in 2005, it seemed fantastical that China would unleash biological warfare against the United States to massacre its population and pave the way for a Communist Party invasion, occupation, and exploitation."

Fisher points out Chinese "actions have given that report increasing credibility." He notes that the 2002 outbreak of Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome (SARS) may have been the result of a leak from a Chinese biological warfare laboratory and the COVID-19 pandemic almost certainly originated from such a facility, the Wuhan Institute of Virology. Therefore, "the Chi Haotian speech reads more like a real warning."

Will Americans, now warned, act to protect their society? After the discovery of the kamikaze lab near Fresno, they should act first and ask questions later.

Americans now have to assume that China's Communist Party is executing a plan to exterminate Americans.
