Queen Camilla running the show – for a weak king? ‘Daily Telegraph’: Behind the scenes it is the Queen who is running the show’ As this publication revealed last September, it was Camilla who insisted on the appointment of former newspaper executive Tobynd Andreae as the King’s new spokesman – a move that apparently even blindsided Sir Clive Alderton, the monarch’s long-serving private secretary.

As one royal insider explained at the time: “I think there is a sense that behind the scenes, it’s largely the Queen who is running the show.” She makes a lot more decisions than people think, especially with [former aide and ‘boy’ friend]. The departure of Mr. Fawcett in November 2021 devastated the King, who was said to be so reliant on his former valet that he once declared: “I can manage without just about anyone, except for Michael.” But his absence from the royal court only appears to have strengthened Camilla’s position. “The King does not have weaknesses and it’s fair to say that the Queen knows how to exploit them,” added the insider. “But it’s a bigger court now and the Kin has duties that can’t be ignored and that need the support of the Queen.”

Camilla, Queen-consort was not the first in her family to have an affair with a top royal. Her great-great grandmother Alice Keppel [right] was the favorite mistress of King Edward VII. So, Camilla's great-great grandmother was chief royal mistress to King Charles' great-great grandfather.

Who is Alice Keppel? Camilla’s Ancestor was Mistress to King Edward VII Yes, Prince Charles’s great-great grandfather and Camilla’s great-great grandmother were an item. Although the torrid love triangle of Prince Charles, Princess Diana, and Camilla Parker Bowles promises to be season four of The Crown’s biggest scandal, for British history buffs, it is merely an example of history repeating itself. The now-Duchess of Cornwall was not the first to have an affair with a royal in her family. Her great-great grandmother Alice Keppel was famously the favorite mistress of King Edward VII.

That’s right, Charles and Camilla’s great-great grandparents also had an illicit relationship. Alice Keppel was the toast of Edwardian society. Alice Frederica Edmonstone, who went by the nickname Freddie (or even, “flirtatious Freddie”) was born into a high-ranking family in 1868: her father was a Baronet and an admiral in the Royal Navy. She grew up in Duntreath Castle in Scotland and married Lieutenant-Colonel George Keppel, a British Royal officer, at 23. She was a renowned beauty with chestnut hair, a pale complexion, large blue eyes, a small waist, and a large chest all features that were greatly coveted in “the naughties nineties.” Alice was also known for being an exceptionally kind person, even to her enemies. “She was luminous, resplendent... She not only had a gift of happiness, but she excelled in making others happy. She resembled a Christmas tree laden with presents for everyone,” her daughter Violet said. When Alice and George moved to London, they were part of the city’s top social circles and Alice began having affairs in order to move up the social ladder. The money and connections allowed her to thrive as a society hostess, which is how she met Prince Albert Edward in 1898 when he was 56 and she was 29. They stayed together for twelve years, through his coronation as King Edward VII until his death in 1910.

Is Camilla named after the fictional vampire ‘Carmilla’? King Charles and Queen Camilla’s Unusual Bedroom Arrangement Is Their ‘Secret to a Long Marriage’ King Charles III and Queen Camilla’s (formerly known as Camilla Parker Bowles, then Queen Consort) marriage is the second for both of them.

But they have been married to each other longer than they were to their first spouses leaving some to wonder what the secret is to their marriage. Well, that just might be linked to their unusual bedroom arrangement. King Charles and Queen Camilla do not sleep together in the same bed or in the same room for that matter. “[Charles] has a room with a double bed, decorated to his own taste, then Camilla has her own room with a double bed, decorated just the way she likes it,” a friend of the king and queen told the ‘Daily Mail’. While that seems like an odd arrangement for some, it’s not uncommon with royal couples. “In England, the upper class always have had separate bedrooms. You don’t want to be bothered with snoring or someone flinging a leg around”, explained Queen Elizabeth II’s cousin Lady Pamela Hicks. As ‘The Mirror’ noted, another reason for the arrangement may have to do with the king’s health as the monarchy has suffered from the back pain for years and sleeping alone in a bed makes thing easier for him during the night. Moreover, royal expert Joshua Rom suggested that separate bedrooms may also have to do with the fact that the king queen have such hectic schedules and are around so many people all the time that they prefer to relax separately. Some reports even claim that the arrangement is the “secret” to the pair’s “long-lasting marriage.” The Prince prefers young boys rather than women, just as the Bible alludes to in Biblical language.

Anyone thinking that because the Jews have seen the New Moon of Rosh HaShanah and that our Departure is past is not keeping aware of the signs of what could be more important. As my previous reports I am still convinced the dates of September 18-20th, 2023 are high watch days to be watching!

The drums of war are everywhere these days, former VP Mike Pence has said the U.S. would likely have to fight Russia in the Ukraine. Revelation, chapters 8 and 9 tell us that one third of man will die in the war described. The Rapture occurs in Revelation 4:1 and upon the construct of Scripture, our Departure is imminent!

T.W. Tramm shares added details for our edification.

In the Parable of the Virgins, the virgins symbolize believers going out to meet the Lord:

“At that time the kingdom of heaven will be like ten virgins who took their lamps and went out to meet the bridegroom” (v. 1).

With the “virgin” symbolism in view, it is interesting to consider seven facts about an asteroid named (50) Virginia, which is part of the Revelation 12 sign happening in the Constellation Virgo this week:

1. Virginia is a name of Latin origin, which means “maid” or “virgin.”
2. The “50” in the name (50) Virginia indicates that it is the 50th asteroid to be discovered. It is significant that the 50th asteroid discovered has a name that means “virgin” because 50 is the number of Jubilee, the anticipated year of the rapture–wedding of the virgins.
3. Asteroid (50) Virginia was discovered in the Constellation Pisces, a picture of believers as “fish,” on the Feast of Tabernacles (October 4) in 1857.
4. According to astronomers, asteroid (50) Virginia is in a “mean motion resonance” with Jupiter, which means the planet exerts a periodic gravitational influence on the “virgin.” This is significant because Jupiter, the “King Planet,” is a symbol of Jesus.
5. Though asteroid (50) Virginia has a chaotic orbit that changes randomly due to planetary influence, it is found in the Constellation Virgo during the fall festivals five times between 2015 and 2030: in 2015, 2019, 2023, 2027 and 2028.
6. During this week’s Revelation 12 alignment, asteroid (50) Virginia is found situated between the Sun and Comet Nishimura, near the arm of Virgo that holds a sheaf of wheat.
7. At the Feast of Tabernacles, beginning September 30, asteroid (50) Virginia will skim by the Sun, a symbol of the Lord as Bridegroom (Ps. 19:4, 5; 84:11), at zero degrees separation.

With the above facts in view, asteroid (50) Virginia is a fascinating component of the Revelation 12 alignment happening in Virgo right now.

Getting back to the parable, it is significant that the bridegroom shows up to meet the virgins in the sixth verse, in the middle of the night:

“At midnight the cry rang out: ‘Here’s the bridegroom! Come out to meet him!’ (v. 6).

The end of the sixth biblical month and autumnal equinox—the time we are in now—marks the midpoint, or “midnight,” of the year.

Exciting times!

NOTES:

1. The Parable of the Virgins is a picture of two groups, both of which are expecting the Messiah—Bridegroom. One group has “oil,” signifying a saving relationship with Jesus, whereas the other group does not have oil, and is thus locked out of the wedding (Matt. 25:10–12). Tragically, many Jews today are expecting the Messiah, but do not recognize that He is Jesus.

3. Virginia name meaning:

4. No reason is given as to why the discoverer, James Ferguson, named the asteroid “Virginia.”

5. Asteroids are assigned a number, based on the order of their discovery. For example, 1 Ceres was the first asteroid to be discovered in 1801 and is therefore numbered “1.” With this in mind, it defies coincidence that the 50th asteroid to be discovered was given a name that means “virgin,” and is part of the one-of-a-kind Revelation 12 alignment in 2023.

IMPORTANT MESSAGE: No one knows the day or hour of Jesus’ return (Matt. 24:36). However, a convergence of biblical signs and timelines suggests it is near. To escape the judgment reserved for a God-rejecting world, one must be in a saving relationship with Jesus Christ. If you have not yet done so, call on His name and believe that He is the Son of God who died for your sins and was raised from the dead (Rom. 10:13). Do it today. Time is running out.
