Pope Francis Chooses 21 New Cardinals – Globalist Leader of Catholics Wants His Successor to Keep Church in the Controversial ‘Progressive’ Path He Chose

Globalist Pope Francis doesn't have much time left on this Earth. But before he passes away, and he wants to make sure that he leaves behind a Catholic Church aligned with his 'peculiar' view of the millenary institution.

For that, he has been 'packing' the college of Cardinals with like-minded clerics so that the body that will be tasked with choosing the next occupant of Saint Peter's throne has been re-made in his theological image. The implications are obvious!

Francis will turn 87 in December. He moves around using a wheelchair and a cane and has undergone several operations, but he still keeps a busy schedule.

Now, Pope Francis further cemented his legacy, elevating 21 prelates to the high rank of cardinal and raising the percentage of Cardinal-electors chosen by him.

Reuters reported:

“At a ceremony in St. Peter’s Square known as a consistory, Francis ‘created’ 21 new cardinals, the red-hatted ‘princes of the Church’ who are his closest advisers at the Vatican and around the world.

There are now 137 cardinal electors, about 73 percent of them chosen by Francis. This increases – but does not guarantee – the possibility that the next pope will share his vision of a more progressive, inclusive Church.

Eighteen of the 21 are under the age of 80 and thus eligible under Church law to enter a secret conclave to elect the next pope after Francis’ death or resignation. They are known as cardinal electors. The three 80 or over were given the honor because of their long service to the Church.”

The newly appointed cardinals come from the U.S., France, Italy, Argentina, Switzerland, South Africa, Spain, Colombia, South Sudan, Hong Kong, Poland, Malaysia, Tanzania, Venezuela, and Portugal.

“‘Diversity is necessary; it is indispensable’ Francis said in his homily at the service, during which each new cardinal received a ring of office and the red, three-blade hat known as a ‘biretta’.”

On October 4, Francis will open a month-long major meeting in the Vatican, known as a synod that is expected to chart the Church’s future.

In a two-year preparation for the synod, Catholics around the world were asked about their vision for the future of the Church.

The consultations were meant ‘to change the Church’s power dynamics’ and ‘give a greater voice to lay Catholics’.

But Francis’ Conservatives critics say the process has been a waste of time, and worse – may erode the hierarchical structure of the Church and, in the long run, could dilute traditional doctrine.

New York Post reported:

“In his instructions to the new cardinals, Pope Francis said their variety and geographic diversity would serve the church like musicians in an orchestra, who sometimes play solos while performing as part of an ensemble other times.

‘Diversity is necessary; it is indispensable. However, each sound must contribute to the common design’, he said. “This is why mutual listening is essential: each musician must listen to the others.

Each new cardinal took an oath to obey the pope, remain faithful to Christ and serve the church. The pontiff reminded them that they were wearing red as a sign that they must be strong ‘even to the shedding of blood’ to spread the faith.”

The ceremony was filled with controversy, as Victor Manuel Fernandez, appointed as the new head of the Vatican’s doctrine office is a hated figure in many circles, and his choice was met with outrage.

“The man known as the ‘pope’s theologian’ admitted to making mistakes with his handling of a 2019 case regarding a priest accused of sexually abusing minors in Argentina, when he was a bishop there.”

Two of the 21 new cardinals are themselves, Jesuits.

This was Pope Francis’ ninth consistory since his election in March 2013. While the number of cardinal electors stands at 137 today, by the end of this year that number will have reduced to 132 as electors reach the age of 80. It will have reduced further to 119 by the end of 2024 by reason of age, opening the possibility for him to hold a tenth consistory then or soon after.

It took nearly two millennia for the enemies of the Catholic Church to realize they could not successfully attack the Church from the outside. Indeed, countless nemeses from Nero to Napoleon succeeded only in creating sympathy and martyrs for the Catholic Faith.

That all changed in the mid-19th century, when clandestine societies populated by Modernists and Marxists hatched a plan to subvert the Catholic Church from within. Their goal was to change her doctrine, her liturgy, and her mission. Needless to say, “they” have been successful.

In a captivating and carefully documented book, Dr. Taylor Marshall pulled back the curtain on their nefarious plan, showing how these enemies of Christ strategically infiltrated the seminaries, then the priesthood, then the episcopacy, and eventually the cardinal-electors all with the eventual goal of electing one of their own as pope.

You’ll come to see that the seemingly endless scandals plaguing the Church are not the result, as so many think, of cultural changes, or of Vatican II, but rather the natural consequences of an orchestrated demonic plot to destroy the Church. Dr. Taylor Marshall wrote the book ‘Infiltration’ in 2019 and reveals the demonic Jesuit plan to destroy the Roman Catholic Church. Some of the major points include the following:

- How popes of the 1800s discovered a plot to infiltrate the Church.
- How theologians suspected of being Modernists became Vatican powerbrokers.
- How modifications in Catholic canon law enabled predator priests like Theodore McCarrick to stay in positions of power.
- How Our Lady of La Salette gave a prophetic warning of the plot to infiltrate the Church.
- How the chief architect of liturgical reforms was discovered to be a Freemason.
- Archbishop Fulton Sheen's role in exposing the Communist infiltration of the priesthood.
- How the confusing history of the Third Secret of Fatima relates to the infiltration of the Catholic Church.
- That Pope Paul VI explained that Vatican II was not infallible.
- How Pope Paul VI revoked the voting rights of cardinals over 80, thus guaranteeing that all voting cardinals were appointed by him.
- How the criteria for sainthood shifted from a person's historical acts to his personal beliefs.
- The complex roots of the St. Gallen Mafia and how they plotted to modify Catholic doctrine and elect Pope Francis.

Much of the Roman Catholic Institution despise Pope Francis but like whoever runs the White House, there is not much anyone can do to remove the evil Pope Francis. We are caught up in the throes that are about to bring on the famous Daniel 9:24 prophecy, as Pope Francis is aligned with Prince Charles and his "Sustainable Development" SDG's and "Net Zero" carbon footprint.

The Society of Jesus or the Jesuits worship Satan, and there is no way around that despite the veneer that they are an Order which was first suppressed in 1773. The suppression of the 'Society of Jesus' was the removal of all members of the Jesuits from most of Western Europe and their respective colonies beginning in 1759 along with the abolition of the order by the Holy See in 1773.

Without going into the depth of the expulsion of Jesuits during the late 1700s and 1800s, in very simple terms, they have a bone to pick with Moscow. The coming war that has been building for almost 600 days in the Ukraine is being orchestrated as payback for being driven out of St. Petersburg and Moscow in 1815, and then completely from the Russian nation in 1820, and the Jesuits see victory in their sight as the U.S. and NATO in largely Catholic Europe, and you can rest assured that Prince Charles, the Antichrist, has been supporting the goal to destroy Russia. Vladimir Putin knows what he is facing and his patience must be wearing thin by now.

Vladimir Putin's closest ally has threatened to unleash World War 3 on the West if UK sends troops on to Ukrainian soil.

Former Russian President Dmitry Medvedev said on Sunday that any Brit soldiers training soldiers inside Ukraine would be legitimate targets for Russian forces and "ruthlessly destroyed".

The Kremlin mouthpiece's furious claims were made after British defense secretary Grant Shapps said he was considering deploying UK troops to train soldiers inside Ukraine. That has gone over like a lead balloon with Putin!

Medvedev is seen as Vlad's 'yes man' and often makes blood curdling threats aimed at NATO states. Now, the lap dog's latest chilling warning is that the West's actions are bringing the world to the brink of nuclear war.

He directed his fury at Shapps who told 'The Sunday Telegraph' that he wants to "eventually" deploy military instructors to Ukraine in addition to training Ukrainian troops in Britain.

In a post on Telegram, Medvedev fumed: "The number of leading idiots in NATO countries is growing."

"One newly minted cretin - the British Minister of Defense - decided to transfer English training courses for Ukrainian soldiers to the territory of Ukraine itself."

"These idiots are actively pushing us towards a Third World War."

He continued: "[This will] turn their instructors into a legal target for our armed forces."

HAL TURNER posted on Sunday, October 1st that German Legislative Chairman Says "Yes" To Taurus Missiles for Ukraine.

The Bundestag in Germany said that Ukraine will have the right to attack the territory of occupied Crimea with German-supplied, Taurus missiles. This was stated by the Chairman of the Defense Committee, Marie-Agnes Strack-Zimmermann.

Germany has not yet officially announced the transfer of Taurus missiles because the Russians have openly warned about this.

The Taurus KEPD 350 is a Swedish-German air-launched cruise missile, manufactured by Taurus Systems and used by Germany, Spain, and South Korea. The missile incorporates stealth technology and has an official range in excess of 500 km (300 mi). It is powered by a turbofan engine at Mach 0.95 and can be carried by the Panavia Tornado, Eurofighter Typhoon, Saab JAS 39 Gripen, McDonnell Douglas F/A-18 Hornet, and McDonnell Douglas F-15K Slam Eagle aircraft.

The dual stage 480-kilogram (1,100 lb.) warhead, called MEPHISTO (multi-effect penetrator highly sophisticated and target optimized), features a pre-charge and initial penetrating charge to clear soil or enter "hard and deeply buried targets" (HDBT) such as hardened underground bunkers, then a variable delay fuse to control detonation of the main warhead.

The missile weighs about 1,400 kg (3,100 lb.) and has a maximum body diameter of 1 meter (3.3 ft.). Intended targets are hardened bunkers; command, control, and communications facilities; airfield and port facilities; ammunition storage facilities; ships in port or at sea; area target attack and bridges.

The missile also includes countermeasures as a self-defense mechanism and electronic countermeasures.

Mission planners program the missile with the target, air defense locations and planned ground path, then the missile uses a low terrain-hugging flight path guided by inertial navigation system (INS), image based navigation (IBN), terrain referenced navigation (TRN), and Global Positioning System (GPS) to the proximity of the target, although it is capable of navigating over very long distances without GPS support.

Once there, the missile commences a bunt (climb) maneuver to an altitude intended to achieve the best probability of target acquisition and penetration.

During the cruise flight a high resolution thermographic camera (infrared homing) can support the navigation by using IBN and is also used for GPS-free target attack. The missile attempts to match a camera image with the planned 3D target model (Digital Scene Matching Area Correlator, DSMAC). If it cannot, it defaults to the other navigation systems, or, if there is a high risk of collateral damage, it will steer to a pre-designated crash point instead of risking an inaccurate attack with undesired consequences. The Russian military will have no trouble identifying it once deployed against the Crimea or Russia itself.

If Ukraine is given such missiles by Germany, nowhere on Crimea would be safe for Russians. Likewise, Germany itself will risk attack on German soil and with what might turn into WW3. The NATO Alliance escalation is always met with Russian response in kind.

As I have said previously, this war is baked into the cake. The west is convinced that it can destroy Russia and win; that might be a gross miscalculation, and this war will come to the rest of Europe, the UK, and the U.S. so our chances of going home soon may be sooner than the COP28 meeting times of November 30th through December 12th when the “confirmation with the many” is to take place. The budget standoff has led to some backdoor dealings between the Speaker of the House McCarthy and the White House/Pentagon. Efforts on a 45 day stop gap funding deal would provide funds through the middle of November, and after November 15th is uncharted territory. House Speaker McCarthy has promised the requested money for the Ukraine war. It seems to me that the two months remaining before the COP28 meeting present signing of the covenant with the many are hinting of turbulence and exponential chaos.

The insanity of Germany’s leadership is an invitation for Russian retaliation and anyone who thinks it can’t happen, needs to hear the bragging of Germany’s Foreign Minister. Over the weekend, sparking multiple caustic responses, Germany’s Foreign Minister speculates about ‘taking Russian land and making it part of the EU’. This remark came on the heels of ‘The Economist’ decrying the need to expand Europe exponentially. While the comment was met with not a small degree of vitriol from Russia, it was likely made for exactly that reason – to taunt Russia. To attempt to arouse greater destruction of Ukraine in order to achieve what the West really wants: genocide of Ukraine for American colonization – as evidenced by the fact that Ukraine’s flag is flown alongside the American Flag.

For those of you unfamiliar with ‘The Economist’, it is the flag ship magazine of the House of Rothschild. Its front cover always yields subtle predictions and events that occur from a few months to years in advance of their fulfillment.

U.S. President Joe Biden has warned that the risk of a nuclear "Armageddon" is at its highest level for 60 years.

Mr. Biden (one of his doppelgangers) said that Russian President Vladimir Putin was "not joking" when he warned that Moscow would use "all means we have" to defend Russian territory. Mr. Putin has also said that the U.S. created a "precedent" by using nuclear weapons in World War Two.

But analysts suggest Mr. Putin's words should probably be interpreted as a warning to other countries not to escalate their involvement in Ukraine, rather than signaling any desire to use nuclear weapons.

Nuclear weapons have existed for almost 80 years and many countries see them as a deterrent that continues to guarantee their national security.

How many nuclear weapons does Russia have?

All figures for nuclear weapons are estimates but, according to the Federation of American Scientists, Russia has 5,977 nuclear warheads - the devices that trigger a nuclear explosion - though this includes about 1,500 that are retired and set to be dismantled.

Of the remaining 4,500 or so, most are considered strategic nuclear weapons - ballistic missiles, or rockets, which can be targeted over long distances. These are the weapons usually associated with nuclear war.

The rest are smaller, less destructive nuclear weapons for short-range use on battlefields or at sea.

But this does not mean Russia has thousands of long-range nuclear weapons ready to go. Experts estimate around 1,500 Russian warheads are currently "deployed", meaning located at missile and bomber bases or on submarines at sea.

The nuclear bombs that the U.S. used in 1945 were small by comparison at 15-kilotons. Russia has weapons of up to 1,000-kilotons.

It is the kind of stupid rhetoric that UK and German politicians that could lead to an accidental miss-calculation about an adversary that could result in an extinction level event. One might conclude they are trying to provoke a global war from all the bluster talk bantered about. Remember, it only will take a single nuclear missile to set off a chain of events from which there is no turning back.

The only benefit perceived by a nuclear holocaust is that $310-trillion dollars of debt will be wiped out in what is building. Every nation in the world is so deep in debt that the bean counters are naïve to believe it would solve their problem.

I always come back to Freemason Grand Master Albert Pike, who said that it would take three world wars to take over the world. Keep in mind that the Jesuits infiltrated Freemasonry in the years following the French Revolution.

Freemasonry was the initiator of French and American Revolutions, and until the 18th century they were on the side of Light. Five years after the French Revolution they were infiltrated by the Jesuits.

When James II made his flight from England he fled to France, where he was hospitably received by Louis XIV. He took up his residence while in Paris at the Jesuitical College of Clermont.

There, it is said, he first sought, with the assistance of the Jesuits, to establish a system of Masonry which should be employed by his partisans in their schemes for his restoration to the throne, After an unsuccessful invasion of Ireland he returned to France and repaired to St. Germain-en-Laye, a city about ten miles northwest of Paris, where he lived until the time of his death in 1701. The Jesuits were instrumental in writing the rites and rituals of the Scottish Rite of Freemasonry.

For centuries the Jesuits have perpetrated the idea that the Earth is flat, and they do so to foment discord. They and Freemasons have been instrumental in establishing cults like the Mormons or LDS church, Jehovah Witnesses, the Millerites which led to the SDA or Seventh Day Adventist Church. Their purpose is to sew doubt and confusion.

A number of people seem to actually believe the earth is flat, a view that a few NBA stars have voiced in the past. Do we know the earth is round, and does it matter?

The question matters because if the Bible and science both describe a spherical earth, then those who depart from these sources of knowledge stray from reality. Fortunately, both sources offer clear descriptions of the real, round earth.

Isaiah 40:22 cites “the circle of the earth,” and Proverbs 8:27 also references the earth’s circularity. These match a ball-shaped earth.

One flat Earth proponent tried to persuade folks that Psalm 104:5, which says Earth’s foundations “should not be moved,” means that Earth cannot spin like a classroom globe because spinning is a type of movement. The Hebrew verb here for “moved” is môt, meaning to be shaken, moved, or overthrown. A bicycle frame holds its wheels so they will not shake back and forth, move from their mounts, or get thrown from the frame—yet the wheels spin. This verse does not teach an utterly rigid earth. If it did, then we would have to deny earthquakes, hundreds of parallax measurements, and Scriptures like Job 9:6! Instead, it simply describes a stable earth. Earth’s gyroscopic motion gives it the very stability that Psalm 104:5 teaches.

Millions of pictures and videos of Earth’s rounded surface have been taken from space since the 1960s, with dozens posted almost daily from the International Space Station.

Observations from God’s world match descriptions in God’s Word about a spherical earth. First, Earth as a giant ball explains why the tops of distant mountains or tall buildings come into view first as one approaches them. A rotating earth explains prevailing winds, too. For example, the prevailing westerlies lengthen airplane flight times when flying westward across the U.S.

Also, a spherical earth explains the curved shape of Earth’s shadow as it crawls across the moon during a lunar eclipse—no matter the moon’s place in the sky. Fourth, no place on a flat-disk earth would conceal the North Star, which in actuality becomes invisible from the Southern Hemisphere. For that matter, one notices a shift in star positions when traveling north or south, which also confirms a spherical earth.

Flat Earth arguments fall flat in the face of forceful biblical and scientific evidence for Earth’s roundness.

It is incomprehensible that people believe such nonsense but nonetheless, the Jesuits who operate more astronomy telescopes than any single institution in the world can lie with a straight face spinning their lies about a flat earth. But we should not be surprised as my wife says that she sees people at the stores in our county wearing masks for the dreaded Covid. One of my VA home health care specialists called today to confirm her visit on Tuesday and she asked my wife if there was any one in the house with Covid?

*We are all in one way or another victims of a global war on humanity; whether you know this or not, the evidence of the past four years has confirmed that all governments around the world colluded to reduce their population as far back as 1992 in order that they would be 'Net Zero' carbon footprint compliant with Prince Charles, the Biblical Antichrist of Revelation 13. In the past 150 years, the US Money Supply has only contracted five (5) times; and they were Recessions and the Great Depression. It is happening again.

Two U.S. money supply metrics that investors tend to pay close attention to are M1 and M2. The former accounts for the cash and coins in circulation, as well as the demand deposits within an individual's checking account. Meanwhile, M2 factors in everything in M1 and adds money market accounts, savings accounts, and certificates of deposit (CDs) below $100,000. The main difference is that M2 factors in cash that takes a little extra work to get your hands on.

For as far back as the eye can see, M2 has been climbing. Since the U.S. economy steadily grows over the long run, it's only natural that more cash/capital is needed to facilitate transactions. In fact, M2 rising is so common that some economists may not even be paying attention to it as a monthly reported datapoint.

But in the rare event that M2 meaningfully declines, pay attention!

Back in March, Reventure Consulting CEO Nick Gerli posted what you see below on X, the social media platform formerly known as Twitter. It highlights M2 money supply growth and contraction dating back to 1870 using data supplied by the St. Louis Federal Reserve and the U.S. Census Bureau.

Over the past 153 years, there have only been five instances where M2 has declined by at least 2% on a year-over-year basis: the 1870s, 1893, 1921, 1931-1933, and 2023. In order, these instances resulted in a depression, panic, depression, Great Depression, and (insert your best guess here). In the previous four instances, it was an ominous sign for Wall Street.

As of July 2023, M2 money supply was 3.69% below the all-time high recorded in July 2022. This marks the first time since the Great Depression that we've witnessed a meaningful decline in U.S. money supply.

Furthermore, multiple rounds of fiscal stimulus during the COVID-19 pandemic led M2 money supply to catapult higher by 26% on a year-over-year basis. It's always possible that the decline we're witnessing now of 3.69% represents nothing more than a return to some sort of mean after a historic expansion of M2.

However, history has been unkind to meaningful M2 money supply declines. With the core inflation rate more than double the Fed's long-term target of 2%, less capital in circulation would more than likely lead to a deflationary recession.

I am not speculating, but a CRASH IS ON OUR DOORSTEP! It is worse than anyone of you can imagine!

That being said, I still have faith in the Blessed Hope and that God will make good on his promise to honor our patience of Revelation 3:10. "Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth."
