

The Blessed Hope!

“Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ;” –(Titus 2:13)

Diamond & Nugget #274

1. Charles the Great Resetter = Mr. '666'

When the Great Reset was 'officially' launched in 2020, it was not done so by Klaus Schwab or Bill Gates, but by Charles, Prince of Wales, heir apparent to the British throne. Though when the Great Reset is mentioned in the media, it is always tagged to Heir Klaus Schwab.

Born in Buckingham Place in 1948, Charles is best known worldwide for his failed marriage to Lady Diana Spencer, who died in a 'road crash' in Paris in 1997, a year after their divorce.

His official website announced on June 3, 2020: "Today, through HRH's Sustainable Markets Initiative and the World Economic Forum, The Prince of Wales launched a new global initiative, 'The Great Reset'..."

A royal tweet declared:

"The Great Reset initiative is designed to ensure businesses and communities 'build back better' by putting sustainable business practices at the heart of their operations as they begin to recover from the coronavirus pandemic".

This may come as a bit of a surprise to those who see Charles as a bumbling but affable figure, who talks to his plants, loves traditional architecture, protects nature and tries to help young people get along in life.

But the reality, as we will show here, is that, he is the head (or the very willing figurehead) of a vast empire of nefarious financial interests hiding hypocritically behind a facade of charitable philanthropy...

The point here is not to just set the record correct, but more importantly show the kind of power and command that HRH Prince [king] Charles wields not just in the Commonwealth of Nations, but into realms all over the world.

2. Global goals

Charles has been very busy over the last 50 years or so, establishing an alliance of organizations called The Prince's Charities, which describes itself as, "the largest multi-cause charitable enterprise in the United Kingdom".

These have also spread overseas to create a bewildering global web of trusts, foundations and funds. To make things simpler, we will focus here on just a few of the better-known organizations, starting in the UK with Business in the Community.

This body describes itself as, "the largest and longest established business-led membership organization dedicated to responsible business", having been initially established in 1982 as The Prince's Responsible Business Network. Its agenda is very much in line with all the key elements of the Great Reset.

It declares, for instance:

"Business in the Community (BITC) is working with business to accelerate the pace and scale of action to deliver against the United Nations Global Goals, also known as the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)".

The great news for Charles's money-loving entourage is that, "running their businesses responsibly" in line with the UNSDGs "also opens business market opportunities".

Business in the Community boasts its own WEF-style, "Future Leaders Board" and in 2017 was already insisting, like Klaus Schwab, that "business must ensure an inclusive digital revolution".

Its report called "A Brave New World?" features all the familiar Great Reset "priorities", such as,

- inclusivity ("Build digital access, capability and confidence to allow all to benefit from the digital economy")
- lifelong learning ("Prepare employees. Provide digital skills and lifelong learning to create an adaptable workforce")...

A BRAVE NEW WORLD?

Priorities and actions for an inclusive digital revolution

It looks ahead to a Fourth Industrial Revolution ("Anticipate automation - Create new roles, where technology complements humans, and support communities to manage the transition") with bigger profit margins naturally being its aim ("Transition to new business models that cut waste and increase asset productivity").

Charles mode of exploitation is very similar to that of Microsoft Bill Gates philanthropy. He does not merely disburse checks to companies for the sake of generosity; rather he acts like a venture capitalist, buying stock in a company that has a need from another company that Gates is invested in. Bill Gates is well-known for his statement that his investment in vaccines returned for him a twenty-to-one return on investment. For every dollar he invested his profits were twenty times more. Now that is stunning by any ROI standard.

There is an early mention of the "track and trace" phrase which became so familiar during the lockdowns ("Track, trace and resolve") with a plug for Blockverify, "a London-based start-up that uses technology to track, record, and verify products in a way that is permanently logged in the blockchain... Blockverify has been piloting solutions with pharmaceutical and beauty companies".

The report promotes smart agriculture in the form of Unilever's Marcatus Mobile Education Platform,

"a collaboration between Unilever, Oxfam and Ford Foundation to train smallholder farmers in rural areas" which aims for "additional farm revenues of £1.5 trillion by 2030". It concludes by giving, "thanks to our corporate partners, Barclays and Fujitsu, for supporting our program of work to create an inclusive digital revolution".

The Prince's Trust Group expands this same agenda across the Commonwealth, the vast sphere of influence formerly known as the British Empire.

Locations

It describes itself as, "a global network of charities" delivering "education, employment, enterprise and environmental projects that enable young people and communities to thrive".

It is all about, "transforming lives and building sustainable communities", it seems.

One of its reports tells us:

"During 2020/21, together with our partners we supported 60,146 young people in 16 countries across the Commonwealth and beyond: Australia, Barbados, Canada, Ghana, Greece, India, Jamaica, Jordan, Kenya, Malaysia, Malta, New Zealand, Pakistan, Rwanda, Trinidad & Tobago and the United Kingdom. We also began our work in St Lucia and the USA".

The Prince's Trust is joined in this task by another important node of Charles' network, the British Asian Trust, as we will shortly see.

3. Impact imperialism

The impact industry is a sinister entity which, over the last few years of research, we have found lurking under every dubious stone we have turned.

also general overview...

Impact profiteering is very much tied in with the Great Reset and its Fourth Industrial Revolution, which aims to set up the infrastructure through which this new form of digital serfdom can be imposed.

Inevitably, then, the impact agenda is very present throughout Charles' empire, even if somewhat hidden from casual view. Sometimes it is just the word itself that gives the game away.

Business in the Community, for instance, says on its site that it works with its members, "to continually improve their responsible business practice, leveraging the collective impact for the benefit of communities".

The word "Impact" crops up three times on the introductory page.

It appears again on the page consecrated to BITC's entirely predictable commitment to the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals, those cornerstones of impact capitalism.

The term "positive impact" is here linked to another related buzzword, "purpose"...

The impact theme is also very much embraced by The Prince's Trust, which is very keen on, "digital and blended programs" and "online business simulation games".

In line with the Great Reset promoted by its founder, it used Covid to advance a hyper-industrial agenda, describing in one post how it had been measuring its "digital impact".

It was pleased to report that 61% of its respondents said, "online learning had supported them to make changes in their life, with the majority developing new skills and making plans for the future".

One of the tools which the Trust uses for what it worryingly terms "digital programming" is something called Vibe Check.

This bespoke program, aimed at young people, is a, "free (fancy that!) interactive personal development tool delivered via WhatsApp, that creates a safe and supportive online space for them to develop key life skills".

"The program has piloted in Barbados and Ghana during 2020 and early 2021, using innovative automation technology to tailor each young person's experience with the service."

"Designed for the needs of young people in each country it rolls out in, Vibe Check focuses on confidence, communication and managing feelings in Barbados, and self-employment and entrepreneurship in Ghana".

This obsession with developing "new digital processes for gathering data", hidden behind a do-good facade, is classic impact-think.

Indeed, the Prince's Trust International boasts its very own Head of Impact, Diletta Morinello, a professional "impact measurer".

In January 2020, just before the Covid moment, Morinello was recruiting a data analyst, "as we start our exciting new 5-year strategy" and "significantly upscale our operations".

The role was, "to ensure our data is robust and supports our ability to accurately and effectively monitor our impact on young peoples' [sic] experiences of education and employment as well as our financial performance and fundraising."

"Impact will need to be measured across a range of programs or interventions, with a range of stakeholders across the world".

Impact, data, stakeholders... three terms from the same familiar crib sheet...

It is, however, with his British Asian Trust that Charles exposes most fully his involvement with the insidious world of impact imperialism.

He founded this organization in 2007 with a group of well-connected British Asian businesspeople.

Although the British Asian Trust prefers the term "social finance", it does little else to hide its impact agenda.

Its website even proudly displays a recommendation from the "father" of impact investment Ronald Cohen, who declares:

"What the British Asian Trust is doing in social finance is truly groundbreaking: it is capable of delivering vital social improvement at scale".

Indeed, as we have previously reported, Cohen gives an approving mention to Charles and the British Asian Trust in his 2020 book Impact - Reshaping Capitalism to Drive Real Change.

The Trust, of course, claims to be "improving" the lives of children and young people in Asia, "in line with the United Nations Sustainable Development Goal 4 on quality education".

It says:

"The Quality Education India Development Impact Bond (QEI DIB) is an innovative results-based funding mechanism that aims to improve learning outcomes for more than 200,000 primary school children".

And then it adds:

"As the QEI DIB progresses, we aim to create an education rate card, setting out the costs of delivering specific outcomes at scale.

Such a card can be used by government and funders to make informed policy and spending decisions and improve education across the whole country".

This is what impact is all about.

The "cost" of meeting UNSDGs is calculated and "stakeholders" take on this cost from public purse. If the "outcomes" tick all the right boxes they will be reimbursed, plus a little extra to make their "investment" worthwhile.

In the meantime, the lives of these children, bundled together "at scale", are turned into financial commodities - like the bundles of sub-prime mortgage debts that prompted the 2008 crash - which can be tracked, traced and traded in real time via 5G/6G and the "inclusive" global digital panopticon.

Speculators can bet on the "success" of these children's lives or against it - little matter, as long as they are available as products for this vast new profitable market.

As we have previously warned, "social finance" or impact investing reduces human beings to the status of potential investments, sources of profit for wealthy ruling vampires.

It is a digital slave trade...

4. Powerful players

So what kind of people and organizations are involved in Charles' global network?

Let's start with Business in the Community.

This label is probably intended to conjure up fond images of tiny corner-shops in English market towns (like Grantham?) or of organic Buddhist basket-weaving start-ups in Charles' pseudo-traditional Poundbury development.

But no...

As we would expect from the launcher of the Great Reset, the project is, a typical corporatist mixture of public and private sector, uniting loyal servants of the British Empire with their extremely well-heeled friends in the world of big business and high finance.

BITC's dauntingly long list of members includes the likes of, Accenture and Unilever (both hailed by Cohen for their participation in his nefarious impact scam) and Big Pharma businesses AstraZeneca, GlaxoSmithKline and Pfizer.

While the BBC, Sky, Facebook and Google presumably constitute the propaganda and censorship wing, British Airways, easyJet, Heathrow Airport Limited, Shell UK and BP were no doubt all included for their special contribution to environmental sustainability.

Charles' passion for the health of his family's grateful subjects is reflected in the inclusion, alongside Knorr's Quick Soups manufacturers Unilever, of Greggs and PepsiCo UK.

We also find the likes of the Bank of America,

- McKinsey (the U.S. consultancy firm controversially employed by Emmanuel Macron in France)
- Morgan Stanley (the WEF partner and impact investor remembered for its financing of both Hitler and Mussolini)

Other Business in the Community members are arms dealers Rolls Royce and Thales Group, superb examples of what Charles has in mind with "responsible" business activity.

The organization is governed by a Board of Trustee Directors.

This is chaired by Gavin Patterson, president and chief revenue officer of Salesforce, the cloud computing business headed by billionaire Marc Benioff, owner of Time magazine and inaugural chair of the WEF's Center for the Fourth Industrial Revolution in San Francisco.

Another director is Dame Vivian Hunt, senior partner, UK and Ireland, of the aforementioned McKinsey.

A member of the secretive Trilateral Commission, she is the former chair of British American Business, an exclusive transatlantic business networking group.

Mark Weinberg

One of the vice-presidents is Sir Mark Weinberg, "a South African-born British financier who co-founded J. Rothschild Assurance, which later became St James's Place Wealth Management, and is chairman of blockchain company Atlas City Global".

The advisory board features Sir Ian Michael Cheshire, formerly chairman of Barclays UK and currently chairman of Menhaden plc with its, "long only, multi-asset investment strategy which seeks to provide the best balance between risk & reward across equity, credit & private universes" offering "asymmetric risk-reward pay-offs".

Alongside this banker sits none other than Frances O'Grady, general secretary of the UK's Trades Union Congress (TUC). As befits a representative of the British working class, O'Grady is also a non-executive director at the Bank of England.

Finally, on the BITC's Community Leadership Board we find none other than Owen Marks of everybody's favorite vaccine manufacturer, Pfizer.

There he incarnates the striking overlap between the world of Big Pharma and the world of "woke" impact-intersectionality, co-chairing the Pfizer UK Inclusive Diversity Group with its focus, "OPEN (LGBTQ), Ethnicity, Gender, Disability and Cross Generational and Social Mobility"...

Let's next turn to The Prince's Trust Group, the global network of charities founded by Charles in 1976.

The UK entity involves very much same kind of people as Business in the Community.

Its council is chaired by John Booth, an, "entrepreneur and philanthropist" who boasts "a range of venture capital interests in e-commerce, media and telecommunications".

It features two former partners at Goldman Sachs: Michelle Pinggera and Ian Mukherjee, who went on to found Amiya Capital, a "global emerging markets fund".

There is also Suzy Neubert, former global head of distribution at JO Hambro Capital Management, and Mark Dearnley, previously a "digital transformation" advisor with global management consulting firm, Bain & Company.

The council's vice-president is Michael Marks, former chairman of Merrill Lynch Investment Managers and founding partner of MZ Capital and NewSmith Capital Partners LLP.

It is informative to note the people and businesses with which the Prince's Trust group is enmeshed worldwide.

In New Zealand, chairman of the Prince's Trust board is Andrew Williams, co-chairman of Alvarium,

"With $15 billion in assets under management globally, Alvarium is collaboration between wealthy families, entrepreneurs and institutions in Asia, the Gulf and Americas".

The Australian entity's corporate sponsors include Macquarie, Australia's largest investment bank.

In Canada, the Prince's Trust is supported by Finistra (working hard "to accelerate digital banking") and by Bank of America.

Its supporters also include Scotiabank, KPMG and arms dealer Lockheed Martin.

Over at the British Asian Trust, one member of the Board of Trustees is Farzana Baduel, former vice-chair of business relations for the Conservative Party and founder/CEO of Curzon PR.

She appeared in The Times in May 2021 to explain how much she loved "remote working", that mainstay of the "New Normal" promoted under the Great Reset.

Another is Varun Chandra, managing partner of "London-based corporate intelligence specialist" Hakluyt, whose astonishing recent £12.8 million rise in profits was,

"helped by the reduction in staff travel thanks to the pandemic", according to The Times. In the words of one media report, "Hakluyt is an ultra-secretive firm whose client list reads like a who's who of the business world with corporations retaining their services for strategic intelligence and advice as they look to expand operations".

The British Asian Trust site says of Chandra: "Trained at Lehman Brothers, he went on to help build a regulated advisory firm for former UK Prime Minister Tony Blair". Also on the board are Dr. Shenila Rawal (who previously worked for the World Bank) and Ganesh Ramani, former partner at Goldman Sachs. Ramani in fact has a family connection to the Trust's Big Chief, having married Ruth Powys, widow of Mark Shand, brother of Charles's wife Camilla.

Vice-chairs are Asif Rangoonwala (once described by The Independent as "powerboat playboy, bakery baron, property plutocrat") and Shalni Arora, who has a background in Big Pharma with AstraZeneca and DxS Ltd and is the wife of retail magnate Simon Arora of B&M Bargains.

Jitesh Gadhia

Chair of the Board of Trustees is investment banker Lord Jitesh Gadhia, who has worked for Barclays Capital, ABN AMRO and Baring Brothers. He was previously senior managing director at global investment business Blackstone in London. On being appointed there in 2010, he enthused: "Blackstone's powerful network of relationships, access to capital and expanding geographic reach, across developed and emerging markets, offers a unique proposition for clients".

Gadhia was also - surprise, surprise! - a World Economic Forum Young Global Leader.

5. Banksters, cheats and spooks

From any genuinely ethical vantage point, the business activities of those involved with Charles' empire are, in themselves, cause for concern.

But the problem goes further than that.

The amount of controversy and scandal surrounding numerous participants in his various projects makes one wonder how someone who likes to be referred to as "His Royal Highness" can associate with so many examples of what most of us would regard as low life.

Here are some illustrations:

- HSBC is the Prince's Trust's Global Founding Corporate Partner and is praised in its Impact Report for its

"transformational investment in young people", being identified as "one of our most committed and loyal supporters".

Never mind that the British-based bankers have a long history of vast tax avoidance schemes and criminal activity such as money laundering.

Dubbed "gangster bankers" involved in "stupefying abuses", Charles' loyal supporters even "hooked up with drug traffickers and terrorists", explains this 2013 article.

- KPMG (Business in the Community and Prince's Trust, Canada) has faced "multiple accusations of negligence, fraud, and conflicts of interest stretching back years" and was recently involved in a giant "cheating scandal".
- NatWest (Business in the Community) was fined £264.8 million in December 2021 for failing to comply with money-laundering regulations.
- Bank of America (Prince's Trust) faced boycott calls after spying on its customers' activities for the FBI with regard to the January 6 2021 protests in Washington, DC.
- PwC (Business in the Community) has a "long history of controversies" all over the world, not least in India, where it is said to have "a chequered past" with the tax authorities.
- Goldman Sachs International (Business in the Community, Ganesh Ramani of British Asian Trust) is afflicted by so many "controversies" that even Wikipedia devotes a whole page to them!
- Lockheed Martin (Prince's Trust, Canada). The arms dealer is notorious for its many bribery scandals.
- Macquarie. (Prince's Trust, Australia). Australia's largest investment bank was involved in a recent $80 billion controversy labelled the "biggest bank scandal in history".
- Scotiabank (Prince's Trust, Canada) had to pay out more than US$120 million dollars in 2020 because of its price-manipulation activities.
- Jitesh Gadhia (British Asian Trust), a Conservative Party donor in the UK, was involved in David Cameron's "cash for access" scandal in 2014 and in 2018 he was accused of a conflict of interest because he had become a director of fracking business Third Energy, while also being a non-executive director at UK Government Investments.
- Shalni Arora (British Asian Trust).

Her husband Simon hit the headlines in 2021 for handing himself a massive payout of £30 million. His firm, B&M bargains, had enjoyed a surge in sales because of its "essential" status during Covid lockdowns.

- Varun Chandra (British Asian Trust).

His firm, Hakluyt, says The Times, advises FTSE 100 companies and, "was founded 27 years ago by former MI6 intelligence officers".

An article in The Evening Standard describes the business as, "very secretive Mayfair company full of spooks" and "a convenient rest home for MI6 men".

"The company attracted unwelcome publicity in 2001 when it emerged it had used an undercover agent known as Manfred to penetrate environmental groups targeting Shell and BP".

And Hakluyt was again forced into the media limelight in 2012 due to, "the mysterious death of one of its occasional investigators in a Chinese hotel room".

Finally, Charles himself has been caught up in various controversies over the years, not least regarding his role in helping arms dealer BAE Systems sell fighter jets to Saudi Arabia.

Reported Scotland's The National: "MP Margaret Ferrier said Princess Diana would have campaigned against its bombing raids on Yemen, which allegedly involve the use of banned cluster munitions, and claimed Charles was part of a 'great effort' to maintain the market".

And then, of course there was that unfortunate incident in the Paris tunnel back in 1997...

6. The bringer of light?

One particularly intriguing figure in Charles' global network is another man who likes to be known as "His Highness", namely the Aga Khan.

Khan is none other than the Global Founding Patron of the Prince's Trust and, its site tells us, "supports the delivery of The Trust's work in the UK and Canada and through local partners in India, Jordan, Kenya, Pakistan, Rwanda and the Caribbean (Barbados, Trinidad & Tobago and Jamaica)".

The business magnate has British, Swiss, French and Portuguese citizenship and his fingers in many a global pie.

One 2016 profile explains:

"As founder and Chairman of the Geneva-based Aga Khan Development Network, he spearheads an organization that employs 80,000 people in 30 countries, and spans non-profit work in poverty-stricken and war-torn areas of the globe, along with a huge portfolio of very-much-for-profit businesses in sectors ranging from aviation and energy to telecommunications, pharmaceuticals and luxury hotels".

Khan's net worth has been estimated at $13.3 billion and he is described as one of the world's fifteen richest "royals", although he does not actually rule over any particular geographic territory.

Instead he is the spiritual leader of some 20 million Ismaili Muslims, who donate significant sums to him and worship him as the "bringer of light".

Khan is a personal friend of Charles and his mum, Queen Elizabeth II, as well as of the Spanish king Juan Carlos.

He is also said to have long connections to British intelligence services and other deep state networks. Khan has been involved in a number of international scandals. In 2012 it emerged that, although resident in France, he had been "exonerated" from paying any tax by the country's former president Nicolas Sarkozy.

This, explained The Daily Mail, meant that he could protect his vast fortune across the Channel, "despite being worth as much as £6 billion and owning mansions, yachts, private jets, some 800 race horses and even a private island in the Bahamas".

Then, in 2017, controversy broke out in Canada when it was discovered that prime minister Justin Trudeau had spent a holiday on a private Caribbean island owned by Khan. While he was there, he also took a ride in the bringer of light's private helicopter.

Since the Khan's foundation "receives millions from the Canadian government", questions were asked about a certain conflict of interest! Trudeau reassured the public that there was nothing to worry about because, "the Aga Khan has been a longtime family friend".

But he nevertheless became the first Canadian prime minister to be found in violation of ethics law and was forced to publicly apologize.

Khan is also close friends with the Rockefellers and the Rothschild's.

In a speech at New York's Plaza Hotel in October 1996, David Rockefeller said:
"His Highness the Aga Khan is a man of vision, intellect, and passion. I've had the pleasure of knowing him for almost forty years, ever since he was an undergraduate at Harvard and a roommate of my nephew Jay Rockefeller".

For his part, Khan expressed "warm thanks" to Rockefeller, adding: "He, his family, and his philanthropic organizations have been close to my family, our work, and me, for many years. I admire them for their consistent and exemplary commitment to world issues".

A message from their mutual pal Lord Rothschild praised Khan for his "promotion of private sector enterprise and rural development".

7. Neo-colonial land-grabbing

Khan, Rockefeller and Rothschild are also united by their common membership of the 1001 Club of the WWF.

According to researchers, this little-known group was set up in the 1970s by individuals including Charles's dad, the late Prince Philip, and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands.

As noted in this report, Bernhard used to be in the Nazi SS, before founding the WWF.

He also chaired the Steering Committee of the Bilderberg Group, of which WEF boss Klaus Schwab was a fellow member.

Prince Bernhard was also honorary sponsor of Schwab's third European Management Symposium at Davos in 1973, when the body which was to become the World Economic Forum first adopted a more overtly political stance, by agreeing a document which became known as, "The Davos Manifesto"...

Klaus Schwab

The WWF is notorious for throwing indigenous people off their land on behalf of its big business friends under the false green flag of "conservation" and is today very prominent in the industrial-financial lobby calling for a New Deal for Nature.

For a full analysis of all this, one recommends the excellent work of the,

- No Deal for Nature campaign
- Survival International
- Talking Africa

Here, we will simply note that Charles is very much on board this agenda, endorsing the idea of "natural capital" and indeed launching a new "natural capital alliance".

But then that is to be expected, because he is president of WWF-UK and "proud" to be so. He declares on the WWF site:

"I have long admired its efforts to tackle the many threats to the world's wildlife, rivers, forests and seas. And I have come to see how effectively it uses its expertise and international reach to challenge the causes of degradation, such as climate change and the unsustainable use of natural resources".

Yet again, the worthy-sounding language masks a very different reality: in this instance a newly accelerated wave of the global land-grabbing which has been a feature of the profit-driven British Empire for centuries. The history of such land-grabbing strategy is very much an issue with Diego Garcia an island in the British Indian Ocean Territory, a disputed overseas territory of the UK used by the U.S. Air Force and Navy also claimed by Mauritius. It is a militarized atoll just south of the equator in the central Indian Ocean, and the largest of the 60 small islands of the Chagos Archipelago.

8. Shaping history

When Charles emerged from his 70-year stint in the Windsors' waiting room, he became King Charles III and thus historically linked with his two predecessors of the same name.

Charles I, who became king in 1625, was the last of the ancient régime, a defender of the feudal order. Having been found guilty of tyranny and treason, he was beheaded in front of the London crowds in 1649.

This was the apex of an English Revolution which, like so many others, was quickly shunted in a direction contrary to the interests of the mass of people who had fought and died for it.

When Oliver Cromwell crushed the radical elements in his New Model Army, at Burford, he was thanked with a celebratory banquet by the financiers of the City of London. From that moment onwards, the focus of the country was on commerce, expansion and exploitation, including, of course, the slave trade.

Starting with Cromwell's bloody re-occupation of Ireland, the 11-year period of republican rule, known as the Commonwealth, saw Britain's empire begin to take shape, with the grabbing of Jamaica, Surinam, St Helena, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

When the executed king's son, Charles II, took the throne with the restoration of the monarchy in 1660 it was as a "constitutional" king, beholden to parliament and happy to act as a figurehead for the military-mercantile entity known as the British Empire...

The future Charles III seems to be on course to combine, the worst elements of both predecessors, fusing old-style feudalism with modern corporate control to forge a "sustainable" global empire built on digital serfdom and impact vampirism...

But it is important to remember that, conspiracies cannot succeed if people are wise to what is happening... By researching and exposing wrong-doing, we can shake off our status as helpless and passive spectators of history in order to become active and engaged participants, part of the resistance.

Charles and his ruling-class collaborators have to dress up their insidious agenda as "doing good", as "philanthropy" or "conservation", because, they know that otherwise the rest of us would not go along with it... Once this illusion has been destroyed and the horrible reality exposed, then decent people everywhere will turn their backs definitively on these vile parasites and their evil empire of exploitation...

BuildingBackBetter - A "Respectable" Conspiracy

Sadly, the Great Reset is real

It is a real, coordinated, and ridiculously dystopian campaign, no matter how benevolent and convincing the goody two-shoes taglines about "ending world hunger" and "building back better" sound - and they do sound benevolent and convincing if you haven't looked into history and context. With that, I want to address a very important point that often comes up in conversations.

Is it truly possible that there is a conspiracy that vast and that insane...?

Let's talk about what a conspiracy is.

A conspiracy is an agreement between two or more individuals to work together toward a shared goal, without disclosing it - or its known or possible implications - to those outside the group... In that sense, our entire history is a collection of conspiracies.

By the way, we shouldn't underestimate of the role of subjectivity and emotions in human history. After all, didn't it all start with fighting over mates...?

Yes, emotions often go hand in hand with economic gain - but ultimately, even the insane desire to own the entire world is driven by emotion, since after a certain point of financial saturation, no amount of material possessions can change a person's life.

Thus, once somebody is well-fed and financially secure a million times over, the *desire to have more turns into a psychosis - which I believe is what we are dealing with today: psychosis on the highest level, plus a very sophisticated machine of manufacturing consent... In the olden days, kings and aristocracy worried less about the opinions of the peasants.

They did just as they pleased - and conspired primarily amongst themselves, poisoning each other left and right. Today's culture prescribes a need to "manufacture consent" - although, after just a few decades of relative peasant prosperity and freedom - we are getting dangerously close to the olden days of feudalism replaced with neo-feudalism...

Thus, the project of "manufacturing consent" has been around for about a hundred years, notably starting with the legacy of Edward Bernays, the father of "public relations."

The very fact that the public relations industry exists shows that "conspiracies" exist as well. If that were not the case, all communication would be pure. One person would simply come to another and say, "Hey, here is what I think, and here is what I want. How do you feel about that...?" And they would talk, and decide on a fair resolution. Clearly, this scenario rarely happens and almost never, so...

Psychologically, we are used to accepting certain conspiracies as "normal" and viewing other ones as totally insane.

For example, we know not to believe commercials on TV - and we don't get all that surprised when a particular product suddenly turns out to be bad for us.

We expect brands - and politicians - to exaggerate the usefulness of their products and ideas and to downplay the harms. We all know about Big Tobacco. Many of us know about Teflon, sugar vs. fat, glyphosate, asbestos, and DDT - which were at some point marketed to us as "safe" and "beneficial."

We have no problem accepting that kind of a corporate conspiracy. We are also eager to believe that a foreign country could be potentially seeking our demise.

Where the mind stumbles in disbelief is the kind of "domestic" conspiracy whose plot puts us, proud Western citizens, in a position of pests who occupy or contaminate a coveted resource. We don't like the conspiracies in which we are viewed in the same way a foreign invader views a local population or in a way the European settlers viewed the indigenous.

The Western culture has trained us to believe that we are important, and that our politicians don't dare disrespect our basic rights. A hostile foreign power, maybe - but not our (somewhat) trusted leaders...! We're thinking, yeah, everyone is trying to pull the blanket toward themselves - but there are certain things that just don't happen!

Well, I hate to say it, but it looks like there are no more rules - at least unless we vocally object. We are ordered around like it's a symbolic North Korea, and the leaders seem to look the other way when it comes to very obvious violations of logic, common sense, and scientific truths.

By now, everybody with even a minimal amount of curiosity is aware of major data discrepancies where anybody who passes away with a positive test is reported as a "COVID death," and where "excess mortality" that's happening largely - I am sure there are exceptions but largely - due to poor healthcare and a crumbling economy is ascribed to the 'pandemic'...

Even more outrageously, the leaders are blatantly ignoring the critically important fact that "cases, cases, cases" are based on faulty tests - which should in any normal world invalidate the entire narrative since without working tests, it's impossible to draw any meaningful conclusions about the 'pandemic'. One really has to do a lot of massaging of the physical reality in order to fit this mess into a politically correct explanation.

So, there has to be an international agenda - and it just so happens that all major Western leaders are suddenly singing in sweet unison about the Great Reset.

They are...!

And you know what, in a normal world, I would totally dismiss it as usual sweet-sounding political BS that all politicians do all day.

But look around!!! Is the world remotely normal...?

By the way, if you haven't yet researched where "Building Back Better" comes from, you owe it to yourself to do it.

Also, I highly recommend you don't take my word for it and spend some time on World Economic Forum's website.

Now, for comparison, let's look at a common scenario from the olden days.

Let's say, there is a small feudal nation state where suddenly, the ruler starts telling his citizens to convert to a new religion and completely change their way of life - because, perhaps, said ruler gets some personal perks from a stronger foreign power that is considered more "advanced" at that junction of history - and whose leaders have indicated that if our small nation state adopts a new "religion," the ruler will be allowed to participate in the "Big Boys' League."

Or maybe the ruler simply subjectively, sincerely believes that the new way of life is better - and is happy to unleash the soldiers on the people who resist the new "respectability." Sadly this plot has happened many times in history... Those who fail to study history are likely to repeat the errors of the past. Think the Third Reich of Adolph Hitler.

What we are dealing with today is similar, I think - except the "foreign power" is a small club of wealthy, crazy megalomaniacs, technologists, and transhumanists who hate biology and who are playing God – (for real) and the "locals," the "peasants," the "new indigenous" are us!

Biden Secretary of State Blinken Gets Roasted on Twitter for Declaring Pride in 'Global Peace and Security'

By Mike LaChance Dec. 29, 2023

Secretary of State Antony Blinken is getting absolutely roasted on Twitter after declaring his pride in 'global peace and security' under Biden.

We had peace and security under Trump but on Biden's watch, the world is flying apart at the seams at record speed.

There's a war in Ukraine, a war in Israel and there are threats of other conflicts on the horizon.

Prominent conservatives on social media trashed U.S. Secretary of State Antony Blinken for touting his department's work to "strengthen global peace."

On Thursday, Blinken shared a link to a State Department year-end media presentation, titled "Portraits of Diplomacy: 2023, A Photographic Journey with Secretary of State Antony J. Blinken," which depicted key moments in the government official's work throughout the year.

Blinken posted, “As I reflect on the miles traveled, countries visited, and intense diplomacy over the past year, I am proud of our work to build stronger partnerships and strengthen global peace and security.”

The introduction to the “photographic journey” page, composed entirely of pictures of Blinken, said, “Secretary of State Antony J. Blinken calls America’s partnerships its greatest strategic asset. In 2023, he traveled more than 380,000 kilometers and visited over two dozen countries to meet with our nation’s partners. He pledged solidarity with allies and offered assistance after disasters.”

This arrogant statement immediately brought to my remembrance 1st Thessalonians 5:3: “For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape.”

Zionist Jew Secretary of State Antony J. Blinken may have inadvertently fulfilled the prophecy of 1st Thessalonians 5:3. At the very time when the Lord returns, unbelievers will be rejecting the warnings of the Bible and crying, “Peace and safety” (security). But in the midst of their declarations that people do not need God to have peace (including health, well-being, and spiritual peace of heart and mind) or security (including the gaining of all that is certain and true), sudden destruction (ruin, death) will come upon them. The words ou mē indicate strong negation and can be translated “by no means.” There will be no possibility of escape (See Jeremiah 6:14.)

Just as women have no way of stopping birth pangs once they start, even so once the Day of the Lord comes it will carry through to its conclusion. I know from personal experience. After breaking the speed limits a 20-minute drive to the hospital, my wife was taken from the car at the hospital ER entrance and swiftly taken to the delivery room and after taking my car to the hospital parking lot across the street; In less than 10 minutes I raced back to the hospital delivery floor, a nurse in the hall outside the delivery room met me to tell me that my wife had delivered our baby daughter.

What Paul said about the Day of the Lord with its judgments catching men by surprise applies only to the wicked, the careless, the unbelieving, the spiritually unprepared. This verse makes a strong contrast between believers and unbelievers. Paul was confident in the reality of the believers' faith and their dedication to the Lord. The Day of the Lord will not overtake Christians to seize them and carry them into the vortex of judgment. It will, however, not be because they know when it is coming. The day and the hour will be hid from them the same as it will be from everyone else.

But they will not be caught unprepared because they are not in darkness. Amos rebuked the people of his day who were talking about the Day of the Lord but doing nothing to prepare for it -(Amos 5:18). For them, it would be a day of darkness and not light. This was because they were already walking in moral and spiritual darkness. God is light, and He has made provision for Christians to walk in the light -(1st John 1:5-7).

Believers are not only walking in the light, they are "children of light." They are characterized by and share the nature and character of light. (See Luke 1:78, 79; 2:32; John 1:9; 8:12 where Jesus is the light.)

Believers are also "children of the day." Some take this to mean the Day of the Lord. But the context shows Christians are children characterized by "day." Thieves come in the night. True believers are always in the day, spiritually speaking. Light is their way of life. They do not belong to darkness -(Ephesians 5:8-11). Tony Blinken's prophetic words are our call to be wide awake and ready to Depart!

Dr. David Martin Exposes Plandemic Conspirators Top To Bottom

It's hard to believe this was aired two years ago...but still very good information. I viewed the initial airing over two years ago, and I was ignored by members of my own family when I shared the contents of Dr. David Martin's address. The Covid-scandemic story is a story of criminal murder at the highest levels of world governments that involves public health, military, and the intelligence community use of bio-weapons to harm and kill.

David Martin, PhD, spoke at the Wise Traditions Conference 2021 on November 5, 2021.

In one of his last speeches at a mass event, Dr. David Martin, exposed the money trail of treasonous Dr. Anthony Fauci. Dr. David Martin produced an exposé with names, clues and tracks of the organizers of the plandemic.

This should lead to an indictment, arrest and prosecution followed by the execution of Dr. Anthony Fauci. But as of the latest, the Biden administration's Justice Department has refused to do anything with the crimes of Dr. Anthony Fauci and his colleagues.

The video at the above link contains extremely valuable information that can, as the Bible says in John 8:32, "And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."
