

The True Face of Covid-19: Fear and “Shock Therapy” to Impose a Totalitarian Society?

“Fear is only reverse faith; it is faith in evil instead of good.” Florence Scovel Shinn

After nearly seven months of the Covid-19 crisis, relevant elements of analysis of this crisis are becoming clearer. The public is being put through a traumatic cycle of fear and shock treatment, with a much greater objective, that is defined by Klaus Schwab founder of the World Economic Forum in order to bring about the 4th Industrial Revolution.

1. The enormous pressure to convince 7 billion people of the need to be vaccinated against a virus whose mortality has been inflated and which is said to be ubiquitous while it is disappearing or has even disappeared.

It reminds us of the 2009 operation, with the fake H1N1 pandemic: same tactics, same complicity (media, political, government), same “experts”, same scenarios, and same narratives with an emphasis on fear, guilt, haste and always the same stench of this omnipresent money in the form of huge profits on the horizon for the Big Pharma vaccine producing industry.

It is as if the H1N1 episode of 2009 has been used as a rehearsal.

This time, the Covid-19 episode of 2020 is poised to turn the trial into a success?

2. People submitting to authority

Despite clear signs of corruption, incompetence, ignorance about eminent personalities in politics, science, medicine, many people continue to obey them.

Despite confused, contradictory, unexplained, unjustifiable recommendations, people accept the directive of higher authority.

For example, many people continue to obey them:

1) In the midst of the epidemic, the wearing of masks is not mandatory and even discouraged for healthy people.

2) As the epidemic dies out, masks become mandatory everywhere for everyone.

Many general practitioners from several countries and the IHU Méditerranée-Infection de Marseilles, one of the largest infectious disease centers in the world, the largest in France, have demonstrated that hydroxychloroquine is an effective drug for treatment of SARS and Covid-19.

In Belgium, “they” say that it is a dangerous and ineffective drug and “they” prevent general practitioners from prescribing it to their patients. In the US, a media campaign against HCQ is ongoing.

Contradictions, lies, false truths...

Of course, fear and conformism may explain this fabricated obedience.

This tendency to submission and obedience to coercive measures varies from one country to another.

Thus in Serbia:

“Broken, the relentless progression of corona viral terror. The recalcitrant Serbs rebelled against their president when he ordered them to return to house arrest. After two days of street battles with dozens of hospitalized police officers, the robust demonstrators won; the authorities surrendered and abandoned their plans to seal off Belgrade. Shops, bistros and restaurants in Belgrade will have a curfew in the early evening; but this is much better than the complete closure they had planned.”

On the other hand, in Belgium:

“In an incomprehensible way, while the epidemic, except for small outbreaks (clusters), is gradually disappearing, coercive measures are once again being imposed, even extended with compulsory wearing of masks everywhere, for everyone, obligation to give their details in restaurants and bars for tracking purposes ...”.

There is no justification for all this.

All this revives fear, terror, and leads to fears of a return to partial or total confinement (house arrest), whereas today we know that this measure is useless and harmful!

It is as if the COVID-19 crisis is being used by the authorities as a full-scale test to assess the degree of submission of their people, and to see how far they can go before they encounter sufficient opposition.

I hope that the Belgian people, the bravest people of Gaul according to Julius Caesar, will have the courage and lucidity of the Serbian people and will finally wake up.

3. The use of experts by creating the impression of a consensus that does not exist, Governments form expert committees to justify their actions.

For the citizen, why question the measures in question?

However, within organizations such as the World Health Organization (WHO), the European Medicines Agency (EMA), the Covid-19 committee in France (CARE) or in Belgium (Sciensano-committee Covid-19), being an expert does not mean being independent, free of any conflict of interest, or even being competent from a standpoint.

Every time a government says: "there is a consensus of experts on this issue", it is in fact a lie.

It only means that their experts have agreed, they have established a consensus without analysis and the conduct of scientific debate.

In Covid-19, you can find on all the subjects presented as a part of a consensus :

- Masks
- Hydroxychloroquine
- Containment
- Tests used
- Treatments
- Vaccination

Other experts equally valid in terms of academic credentials, reputation and professional activities, whose opinions go against official diktats, with honest arguments, solid demonstrations and multiple references.

How does the citizen weigh this up?

A good criterion is to check for a conflict of interest.

Many qualified authors and scientists with opinions opposed to those of their government counterparts are not linked to the pharmaceutical industry or to governments that ultimately want to push an ideology, a political agenda and are increasingly accountable to Big Pharma.

These independent authors also have more to lose than to gain in this debate.

What else could drive them to take risks if not their honesty, their conscience?

It is neither fame, nor the hope of a contract in the private sector, nor money, in any case.

4. The fabrication of "fiction" may be inspired by a distorted understanding of real facts and for this, the use of a narrative that ends up being repeated over and over again, which then becomes a consensus which is no longer challenged.

Covid-19 is a fiction based on plausible facts: a virus, real deaths, and a real disease, an epidemic of respiratory illnesses to which are added, little by little, distortions of truths or realities, or even outright lies.

Coronaviruses are known. They exist. Two of them have already threatened humanity with deadly epidemics (SARS, MERS).

Regardless of the fact that the 2009 H1N1 pandemic was false and that experts had manipulated the figures, the H1N1 pandemic of 2009 set the stage for it is a threat and that only vaccination could save us.

Real sick people were hospitalized and some died. All of this made the “Covid-19” story plausible.

The Covid narrative was launched.

To perpetuate the fear campaign, a population-wide strategy of shock was put in place, tests presented as reliable were conducted, and high mortality figures were released, not to mention indicators of contagiousness.

In this process, the role of the media in support of an official consensus was essential.

As always, they played their role well, announcing the number of deaths every day and attributing them to Covid-19 without supporting analysis.

Today, the fear campaign is sustained by an alleged second wave, requiring a new lockdown. So-called “positive” PCR tests are casually presented as new cases of Covid-19.

Sweden and other countries, as well as some states in the USA, have not played the game, or have followed their own agenda.

They didn’t confine, they were less traumatized, and they remained more human.

They is proof that the Covid-19 story in several countries (Belgium, France, Spain, Canada...) is indeed a fiction, based on manipulated data, plunging millions of people into a formidable “psychological trap”.

The Covid19 story is a strategy of “shock therapy”. Strategies of this nature (implying social engineering) are never used for the good of the people.

The strategy of psychological shock is a reality, studied by several authors and researchers, including Naomi Klein, with her book published in 2007, ‘The Strategy of Shock: The Rise of Disaster Capitalism’.

The aim is to make a tabula rasa, a blank page, and on this blank page, to reconstruct what we want.

How can we do this?

“On the scale of an entire population, by destroying a country’s heritage, its social and economic structures in order to build a new society, a new order after the planned and controlled chaos.”

Once the people are deprived of their points of reference, shocked and infantilized, they find themselves defenseless and easily manipulated.

This process can occur following a serious economic or political crisis, an environmental disaster, an attack, a war or a health crisis.

The strategy of shock was applied by economic means to Greece in the wake of the 2008 crisis, dragging millions of people into misery with the complicity of their politicians.

The strategy of shock was applied by means of terrorism in the U.S. in 2001 with the 9/11 WTC attack and in France in 2015 with the establishment of states of emergency and emergency laws that have never again been abolished.

The strategy of shock is now being applied by means of health crises, Covid-19, to a part of the world.

The terror induced on a large scale in a society leads to a kind of state of daze, a situation where control can easily be obtained from an external authority.

It is necessary to develop an immature state of mind in the population in order to control it as best as possible.

Society must be infantilized.

These ideas have been studied and disseminated by the Tavistock Institute in London, which originated from a psychiatric clinic founded in 1920, specializing in psychological control and organized social chaos.

It is much easier to run a society through mental control than through physical control, through infantilization, confusion, misinformation and fear.

Isn't that what is at work today?

‘The Lost Ways’ is a far-reaching book with chapters ranging from simple things like making tasty bark-bread-like people did when there was no food-to building a traditional backyard smokehouse... and many, many, many more!

People are being infantilized...

They are told which sidewalk they can walk on, which way, when they can go into a store and where they have to blow their nose.

Fear is omnipresent.

Those who refuse the masks are penalized, looked at sideways, excluded, insulted, and hated.

Thousands of people see their work threatened, their whole life compromised without the possibility of demonstrating, or opposing the Covid-19 consensus imposed by their government.

Old people are abandoned.

Young people are imprisoned in a masked and confined world.

Adults are in a precarious situation.

People from the same family are separated.

Thinking and reflection, not to mention dialogue and debate are paralyzed.

Protest is prohibited.

If this thesis is correct, it is to be expected that our government, through “experts” and media interposed, will continue this strategy of shock and announce us more and more infected, dead and waves of Covid, irrespective of the underlying reality. The facts will be manipulated.

The examples of Sweden and Belgrade are beacons of hope in this dark perspective.
