

Trump Makes Major Announcement With $99 NFT Trading Cards

Do We Really Need or Want Another Term Of Donald John Trump?

December 17, 2022

The NFT developers stand to pocket $4.5 million if the collection sells out. It is unclear how much money Trump will make from the sales. Nevertheless, Trump makes a major announcement with $99 NFT trading cards.

Having hinted at a “major announcement” on Truth social, the former president released a “limited edition collection” of NFT trading cards on Thursday. These cards can be purchased at collecttrumpcards.com.

Cartoon representations of Trump as a superhero, Hollywood actor, hunter, and other characters are featured in them.

Now if #45 failed to get your ire up when he pushed his “warp speed” roll out of Covid vaxxes (poisoned gene therapy shots) folks should have been ticked off big time when two years into the scam he was still encouraging people to get their Covid shots after all the evidence proving they are neither safe nor effective. This clown may have fooled three-quarters of the country into thinking he is a super hero. That he is not, and when you think about how the world is going to hell in a hand basket by a senile doppelganger stand-in for a corrupt politician on ice at Walter Reed Army Hospital, you need to be thinking about the future of your children.

This latest stunt to make a buck on trading cards with his face plastered all over does not impress me one bit. He has no plans to run for office in 2024 and he knows it. DJT was another actor who played his role well, used by the Zionist Khazarian Mafia to advance their takeover of the world, bought and paid for by the Rothschild money that bailed him out in the decade before in his failed casino empire. Remember, DJT was a dark horse back in June of 2016 that came from the rear to pass 16 other amply qualified GOP hopefuls.

The House of Rothschild got from DJT what they wanted and they paid him handsomely for his Presi-tute service, and many of you got fleeced by his four years in office.

MAJOR ANNOUNCEMENT! My official Donald Trump Digital Trading Card collection is here! These limited edition cards feature amazing ART of my Life & Career! Collect all of your favorite Trump Digital Trading Cards, very much like a baseball card, but hopefully much more exciting. Go to collecttrumpcards.com/ & GET YOUR CARDS NOW! Only $99 each! Would make a great Christmas gift. Don't Wait. They will be gone, I believe, very quickly!

A video of Trump presenting the digital assets accompanied the announcement.

“This is Donald Trump, hopefully, your favorite president of all time. Better than Lincoln or Washington,” Trump says, before detailing the project.

The website states that a total of 45,000 cards will be produced for the series, 44,000 of which will be sold. Those who purchase will also be placed into a contest with a chance to dine with Trump, play golf with him, and take part in a Mar-a-Lago cocktail hour.

Trump's foray into the NFT market through NFT INT LLC (which is not connected to Trump or the Trump business) comes at a perilous time for the crypto-based digital art, with volume plummeting 97% between January and September of this year and the demise of FTX, a prominent host of NFTs.

The developers stand to pocket $4.5 million if the collection sells out. It is unclear how much money Trump will make from the sales.

Trump has no plans to run for president in 2024, but he can milk the campaign donation fund for a couple years and still keep the money for his own personal needs. With all the law suits pending he needs your donations to pay those huge legal bills. About every day Siri News reports on another law suit against the Trump organization for one alleged matter or another. Trump's legal battles legitimate or not must have the meter racing to keep track of the billable hours to DJT's attorney fees.

Why am I so sure that DJT is not going to be the GOP candidate can be answered by the latest Greg Reese opine on InfoWars.com.

TRANSCRIPT OF GREG REESE BELOW:

The last economic reset occurred in 1944, with the creation of the Bretton Woods system.

The U.S. dollar replaced the pounds Sterling as the new world reserve currency.

It was convertible to gold at a fixed rate of $35 an ounce.

Nations of the world entrusted the Federal Reserve Bank to hold their gold in return for market liquidity.

This trust was good until President de Gaulle of France pointed out that the United States was printing out more money than they had in gold reserves than they had to pay for the war in Vietnam and in 1971, sent a warship to New York, demanding their gold back.

Days later, President Nixon took the world off the Gold Standard altogether, allowing the War Machine to print endless amounts of U.S. dollars.

In 1974, the United States offers use of its War Machine to Saudi Arabia in return for their oil to be sold exclusively with U.S. dollars.

This becomes known as the Petrodollar and ushers in a new era of endless warfare.

Andy Schectman of Miles Franklin has been trading precious metals for over 30 years and lays out the evidence that the world is going back to a Gold Standard.

In 2017, Germany's Bundesbank made headlines when they demanded the return of their physical gold by 2020.

Within weeks, the Bank of Austria, the Bank of Hungary, the Bank of Turkey, the Czech National Bank and the Bank of Poland all quietly began repatriating their gold, as well and began buying more.

These banks bought more in 2018 than they had bought in the past 60 years combined – and they doubled that the next year.

In 2019, the Bank for International Settlements classifies gold as a Tier 1 Reserve, rivaling the U.S. dollar for the first time in 80 years.

In 2020, the International Monetary Fund publicly announces a shift towards a new system to replace Bretton Woods.

Also that year, a new major buyer suddenly appears, anonymously labeled as "other" and begins draining the Comex and London metals exchange of precious metals to an extent never seen before.

In August of 2021, Saudi Arabia signs a military cooperation agreement with Russia, directly challenging the U.S. Petrodollar agreement.

This is immediately followed by the U.S. military's abrupt departure from Afghanistan.

In 2022, Russian banks were removed from the SWIFT system.

This weaponization of the banking system inspired a massive selloff of U.S. Treasuries, as Russia announced a new commodity-backed World Reserve Currency.

Nigeria, Saudi Arabia and Iran begin selling oil to China for bonds that are immediately convertible to gold.

BRICS membership is now nearing 75% of the world population and all these countries are dramatically expanding their gold reserves.

China's Belt and Road initiative is moving towards connecting nearly three quarters of the world's population into its centralized system with the Digital Chinese Yuan and the U.S. Government is left holding a bill they can't pay and a war machine they can't afford.

The U.S. Mint is making it difficult for citizens to buy gold and silver, as if they want everyone at their mercy when it all goes to zero.

Their only solution seems to be total control.

This is, at least one of the reasons why Elon's #Twitterfiles are spread out like a Netflix series: to keep Americans busy while their entire life savings are swiftly turned to zero.”

If I might add to the Gregg Reese commentary, DJT does not want his legacy to go down in his career as the President who took the country into bankruptcy, despite DJT has himself found the need to file business bankruptcy at least seven times in his illustrious life!

The truth of the matter is we don't want or need another four years of DJT, and I'm not the only one who believes this. By his popularity pole ratings, the gold-plated glitz of his name has worn thin by those who recognize his cavalier attitude and shallow remarks about the future of the country and the world. The bane of DJT can only end in ruin and unhappiness for those that vote for him!

Within the commentary by Gregg Reese you will find the real reason behind the global Covid scamdemic. Monetary and currency events of the period between 2017 and 2019 were a major factor for the decisions to execute the “Depopulation” agenda through a plan to steal the wealth of the country by printing money into oblivion and leave us holding the bag. This past week the Biden administration passed an $858-billion dollar NDAA defense bill at the expense of your children and grandchildren. The bill provides Ukraine at least $800 million in additional security assistance next year and includes a range of provisions to strengthen Taiwan amid tensions with China, including billions of dollars in security assistance and fast-tracked weapons procurement for Taiwan. The Ukraine amount is on top of close to $60 billion given to them by the U.S. throughout this year, and at a concern of the Joints Chiefs of Staff concern that we could not fight a war if needed tomorrow. Don't let anyone tell you that the Ukraine will win this war. They have lost the war but the media tells you they are winning! All you need to hear is former Marine intelligence officer Scott Ritter and DJT's former National Security adviser Lt.-Colonel Douglas MacGregor. Ukraine's President Volodymyr Zelensky's wife Olena made a 3-day holiday shopping trip to Paris December 12-14 and dropped a cool €40,000 in her purchasing spree on our tab. These people do not even attempt to hide their corruption. The Democrats have taught them well I suppose.

The NDAA is not the final word on spending. Authorization bills create programs, but Congress must pass appropriations bills to give the government legal authority to spend federal money.

A bill to fund the government through Sept. 30, 2023, - the end of the fiscal year - is expected to pass Congress next week. They always pass! One day very soon those who feed off the largess of the taxpayer will find those checks will not cash! God help us before that happens!
