

Vatican Justice Vs Cosmic Justice

Part 1

Pope Francis has been in the forefront of news all during this Covid-19 scam-demic promoting his climate change, global government, teeth in the United Nations, and a slew of other New World Order.

Joe Hoft posted a report on 'The UK Daily Mail':

Pope Francis says the coronavirus pandemic has proven that the 'magic theories' of market capitalism have failed and that the world needs a new type of politics that promotes dialogue and solidarity.

Francis on Sunday laid out his vision for a post-COVID world by uniting the core elements of his social teachings into a new encyclical, 'Fratelli Tutti' (Brothers All), which was released on the feast day of his namesake, the peace-loving St. Francis of Assisi. (You will find further down this is a lie!)

The document draws its inspiration from the teachings of St. Francis and the pope's previous preaching on the injustices of the global economy and its destruction of the planet and pairs them with his call for greater human solidarity to address today's problems.

The pope, who wrote a major encyclical in 2015 on the defence of nature and the dangers of climate change, dedicated his general audience – broadcast from his library because of the coronavirus lockdown – to the theme.

Recounting a Spanish proverb that God always forgives, man sometimes forgives but nature never forgives, Francis said: "If we have deteriorated the Earth, the response will be very ugly." (Even this is a lie that is unless Francis has annulled the Unpardonable Sin!)

A landmark in the emergence of the environmental movement when it first took place in 1970, this year's Earth Day has prompted calls from many, including U.N. Secretary-General Antonio Guterres, for governments to pursue "green recovery" in response to coronavirus.

Both the pope and Guterres have made environmental protection and climate change signature themes of their offices.

“We see these natural tragedies, which are the Earth’s response to our maltreatment,” Francis said. “I think that if I ask the Lord now what he thinks about this, I don’t think he would say it is a very good thing. It is we who have ruined the work of God.”

The church made a huge mistake when they elected this communist the Head of the church.

Oh, how the church has fallen since being led by the courageous and truly spiritual Pope John Paul II who hated communism and fought against its evil.

Pope Francis Laments Failures of Market Capitalism In Blueprint For Post-COVID World

The Jesuit pope and his Jesuit soldiers orchestrate events from behind the scene the type of chaos that contributes to the very issues he disparages. He lauds the Islamic invasion of millions who are now on the dole of European nations who are in the process of losing their culture as a result of Francis encouragement that the EU embrace Islam and become the unnecessary burden of nations already deeply ensconced in socialism that fails to solve problems and only leads to societal collapse.

He has collaborated with Turkey's Prime Minister Recep Erdogan to release millions of refugees onto a continent that has fallen into the pits of poverty because of the Papacy. Francis has something to say about everything other than the faith of Catholicism. He embraces sodomy and perversion condemned by the Bible. Need I not forget, he even changes the Bible language, and Scripture change at his pleasure and will? If he is trying to play God, perhaps he should be concerned about what the Bible has to say about those who harm the little children. “But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.” -(Matthew 18:6). Pope Francis has a big enough neck for which a millstone will hang nicely from.

Pope Francis celebrates Mass in the crypt of the Basilica of St. Francis, in Assisi, Italy, on Oct. 3. Vatican Media via AP

Pope Francis has presented his blueprint for a post-COVID-19 world, covering a vast number of issues from fraternity and income inequality to immigration and social injustice.

The document, released Sunday, is his third encyclical — the most authoritative form of papal teaching. In a new letter to Roman Catholic leaders, Pope Francis is pushing for communist policies to be adopted on a global scale "for the good of all."

The head of the Catholic Church is advocating for the redistribution of wealth and an end to the public's "natural right" to own private property.

Francis denounced trickle-down economics, private property, and demanded that the wealthy "administer [their wealth] for the good of all" to bring "greater justice and inclusiveness in the world." His encyclical is an attack directed on to President Trump!

The pope ironed out his demands in an 86-page papal encyclical — which is "the most authoritative form of papal writing," according to Reuters.

The pontiff argues that the COVID-19 pandemic has proved the failure of free-market economics, such as the "trickle-down" theory. Yet, we learned months ago that the Covid virus was part of a plan to bring in the New World Order, in a post I put on my page yesterday, "The Globalist Agenda: The COVID Plandemic Is Just the Beginning." His fellow-Jesuit Dr. Anthony Fauci manipulates the scam from the NIAID in Washington, D.C.

"There were those who would have had us believe that freedom of the market was sufficient to keep everything secure," Francis wrote.

Pope Francis argues that communist policies would bring 'greater justice and inclusiveness in the world'. From Reuters:

Francis denounced "this dogma of neo-liberal faith" that resorts to "the magic theories of 'spillover' or 'trickle' ... as the only solution to societal problems." Pope Francis Pushes Communism For the Good of All.

A good economic policy, he said, "makes it possible for jobs to be created and not cut." The 2007-2008 financial crises was a missed opportunity for change, instead producing "increased freedom for the truly powerful, who always find a way to escape unscathed." Society must confront "the destructive effects of the empire of money."

The pope also advocated the redistribution of wealth and denounced the absolute right of private property. The pope has not offered to share the wealth of the Vatican vaults in Switzerland, in his "Do as I say, not as I do" statements.

"The right to private property can only be considered a secondary natural right, derived from the principle of the universal destination of created goods," Francis said. Perhaps he should call out the House of Rothschild for which he depends upon enriching the coffers of the Vatican, since 1820 when it commissioned the Rothschild's to practice Usury, which the Christian world forbid.

The wealthy should "administer [their wealth] for the good of all," Francis wrote. The pope trips over his own words that reveal his hypocrisy. Perhaps his plan best wait until the Lord returns and hangs a millstone around his neck for his abuse of children.

The pope also said he believes "that if one person lacks what is necessary to live with dignity, it is because another person is detaining it."

However, Francis claimed he was "certainly not proposing an authoritarian and abstract universalism."

This is not the first time Francis has knocked free-market economics, according to 'The Blaze.'

Shortly after ascending to the papacy in 2013, Francis knocked trickle-down economics for allegedly sowing inequality.

"Some people continue to defend trickle-down theories which assume that economic growth, encouraged by a free market, will inevitably succeed in bringing about greater justice and inclusiveness in the world," Francis said at the time, the 'Washington Post' reported.

"This opinion, which has never been confirmed by the facts, expresses a crude and naive trust in the goodness of those wielding economic power and in the sacral zed workings of the prevailing economic system," Francis added.

Its title is Fratelli Tutti, and it is a scathing description of laissez faire capitalism and a meditation on the coronavirus pandemic that has swept across the globe.

Pope Francis began writing the document early this year, with the aim of focusing on interreligious dialogue following the landmark joint statement he signed in February 2019 in Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates, with Sheikh Ahmed el-Tayeb, the grand imam of Egypt's Al-Azhar mosque and one of the highest authorities of Sunni Islam.

But, as Francis writes, the pandemic "unexpectedly erupted" and his focus widened, and the document became a treatise on the lessons that must be learned from the global health crisis.

Once the pandemic passes, the pope writes, "our worst response would be to plunge even more deeply into feverish consumerism and new forms of egotistic self-preservation."

Picking up on some of his favorite themes, Francis says the marketplace cannot resolve every problem, and he denounces what he describes as "this dogma of neoliberal faith" that "resort[s] to the magic theories of 'spillover' or 'trickle.' "

A good economic policy, he says, creates jobs — it doesn't eliminate them.

The document echoes the pope's focus on the need to welcome migrants and provide for the poor and disabled.

"Every brother or sister in need, when abandoned or ignored by the society in which I live, becomes an existential foreigner, even though born in the same country. They may be citizens with full rights, yet they are treated like foreigners in their own country. Racism is a virus that quickly mutates and, instead of disappearing, goes into hiding, and lurks in waiting."

The encyclical is a sharp critique of nationalism and populism. In one section, he warns against "unhealthy 'populism' when individuals are able to exploit politically a people's culture, under whatever ideological banner, for their own personal advantage or continuing grip on power." This is an attack on President Trump's MAGA!

At another point in the document, he denounces the divisiveness caused by social media, lamenting that "social aggression has found unparalleled room for expansion through computers and mobile devices."

He continues: "This has now given free rein to ideologies. Things that until a few years ago could not be said by anyone without risking the loss of universal respect can now be said with impunity, and in the crudest of terms, even by some political figures."

At another point in the encyclical, Francis turns to the Catholic Church's own doctrine on war, rejecting it as a means of legitimate defense. A reference to Pope Pius XII, Hitler's pope.

"It is very difficult nowadays to invoke the rational criteria elaborated in earlier centuries to speak of the possibility of a 'just war'. Never again war!"

Ahead of its release, the title, Fratelli Tutti, which translates to 'Brothers All' in English, sparked controversy in the English-speaking world, with some Catholics saying it is not sufficiently gender inclusive. The Vatican stressed that in Italian, fratelli refers to both brothers and sisters. Interestingly, the document said nothing about Abortion, one of the areas the pope is out of step with the Christian position on abortion. Francis is egregiously hypocritical on those issues of faith and morals of his own Institution.

Pope Francis is a hypocrite-in-chief, of which the Roman Catholic faith should have paid attention to when lightning hit Saint Peter's twice following the resignation announcement of Pope Benedict XVI in 2013. Catholic laity groups are seeking heaven's forgiveness, "We must beg heaven to restore the Church." Catholic historians and scholars are furious for Francis misrepresenting Saint Francis of Assisi. Indicating that St. Francis did not intend to convert the Sultan and his soldiers, but to express "fraternal openness," the pope writes in Fratelli Tutti: "Francis did not wage a war of words aimed at imposing doctrines" but "inspired the vision of a fraternal society."

St. Francis' attitude in encountering the Sultan was the same he instilled in his disciples when with Muslims or unbelievers — "they were not to 'engage in arguments or disputes, but to be subject to every human creature for God's sake," Pope Francis reflects. But Fratelli Tutti nowhere mentions the true purpose of St. Francis' visit to the Sultan: evangelization and the conversion of the Sultan and his soldiers from Islam to Catholicism. Another Pope Francis lie!

St. Francis Sought Conversions - Contrary to Pope Francis' claims, André Vauchez, professor of medieval history at the Université de Paris Ouest Nanterre, categorically declares: "St. Francis' presence for several months here and his attempt to convert the Sultan to the Christian faith are fully documented facts." Andre Vauchez and other historical scholars are accusing the pope for misrepresenting St. Francis of Assisi. Francis supposedly chose his name Pope Francis in memory of Saint Francis of Assisi when it was really in memory of Saint Francis Xavier, one of the seven co-founders of the Jesuit Order [Society of Jesus], on August 15, 1534. The Jesuits are the pope's army who work quietly and secretly to bring the world back under the Papacy. Pope Francis is a dark and evil man!

Back when lightning hit the pope's headquarters, engineers and scientists began to examine the chances of such lightning strikes on Saint Peter's Basilica.

"The risk factors include the dimensions of the structure, its location and its location relative to other buildings around it," explains Matthew Waldrum from Omega Red Group, who assesses the risk of lightning hitting buildings.

"The construction material of the building is obviously also very important. It's an extremely large structure. It's not exactly isolated, but it certainly towers over its surroundings, which means that lightning is more likely to hit it than any of the surrounding buildings."

When Pope Benedict XVI announced his resignation on February 11, 2013 it wasn't the only shock to hit the Vatican. There were also electrical shocks, as two separate bolts of lightning struck St Peter's. An act of God, some concluded - but how unlikely is such an event?

The fact that no damage occurred to the basilica suggests that it is quite well protected against lightning. But Waldrum and his colleagues carried out a theoretical calculation of the risk of loss of life due to lightning in a similar building frequented by large numbers of people, in a similar setting - assuming the lack of any lightning protection.

"We have carried out a theoretical calculation for a building like St Peter's Basilica. The outcome is that - compared to a tolerable risk level of one in 100,000 (in any one year) - we have actually come out with a risk of one in 112. That is pretty high."

Crudely speaking, if there is lightning around, St Peter's has a reasonably high chance of getting a bolt.

Another factor that needs considering is the level of lightning activity in early February in the region around Rome - something the UK's Met Office is able to monitor and record with the help of a system of sensors dotted around Europe.

"The records the Met Office keeps of lightning data is essentially the co-ordinates of the lightning strike and the time that the lightning strike occurred when it was picked up by our system."

"That can then be used to create lightning maps and lightning density maps, so you can tell how many strikes occurred in a given region," says Graeme Anderson, a Met Office lightning detection scientist.

Thanks to the pictures of the event taken by photographers, Anderson was able to identify the exact time of the strike, and he was able to find the record that this particular strike had created.

You must open the shutter and hope - or perhaps pray. You can't wait until you see a flash and press the shutter release, as you will, of course, have missed the event.

"We were able to look back at our data and zoom in on the Vatican area. There was quite a lot of lightning activity in the area at that time, but we did record a lightning stroke within the area of Rome at 17.54 and 24 seconds."

"Given the time of arrival it's very likely that this is in fact the same lightning stroke that struck St Peter's, being picked up by our system."

But is it unusual?

"Looking at the thunderstorm activity at the start of February, there seems to have been a lot more stormy activity in the area around Rome," says Anderson - more than usual for the time of year.

"The fact that there were storms in the area makes it more likely that one of those storms would pass over the Vatican, and makes it more likely that St Peter's would be struck."

So it seems that given the nature of St Peter's as a building, and the meteorological conditions around Rome on that day, the likelihood of the Basilica being hit was in fact quite high.

But can we rule out divine intervention? How, for example, do we account for the fact that there was more stormy activity than normal? Maybe we can take the Vatican's word for it. The press office says it is "not currently attributing" the event to divine intervention.

Image caption Met Office map of lightning strikes - Vatican represented by crosshairs.

I'm a hard person to convince, especially so, when lightning strikes twice the same object. That morning's strike recalls the "bolt out of the blue" that hit St. Peter's on February 11, 2013 — the feast of Our Lady of Lourdes — just hours after Pope Benedict XVI shocked the Vatican with his announcement to resign the papal office. Lightning strikes St Peter's dome at the Vatican on February 11, 2013.

"Lightning never strikes the same place twice" is a common phrase you've probably heard before, often used to reassure someone that whatever bad thing has happened, it won't happen again. Not so, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica It can even be used when something good happens, such as winning the lottery, but the underlying truth remains. What are the odds that something extremely unlikely, such as a lightning strike, will happen more than once? After all, a thunderstorm travels across an area. So after lightning strikes one place, it's probably safe from another strike. In reality, lightning can and will strike the same place twice, whether it be during the same storm or even centuries later, but in the winter month of February?

When we see a lightning strike, we're witnessing the discharge of electricity that has built up in a cloud, which is so strong that it breaks through the ionized air. This creates a stepped leader, or the lightning bolt, that travels downward until it reaches the ground. It is an incredibly quick process that takes only about 30 milliseconds. And right after lightning strikes, it reverberates in quick succession. So, essentially, multiple strikes can happen at the same place in this short period of time. Technically, the lightning is already striking more than once. Even during the same thunderstorm, there is nothing stopping a lightning bolt from striking the same place it had struck previously, even if it was as little as a few seconds earlier or as much as centuries later.

In the U.S. alone there is an average of 20 million cloud-to-ground lightning strikes per year. This makes the likelihood of a place being struck by lightning multiple times incredibly high over a long period of time. If anything, if there is a significant attraction between the bolt and the place it previously hit, it's more likely that the same place would be struck again. Skyscrapers are more susceptible to strikes since they significantly reduce the distance the stepped leader needs to travel. For instance, famous skyscrapers like the Empire State Building in New York City and the Willis Tower in Chicago are nearly guaranteed to be struck by lightning each time a thunderstorm passes overhead—but don't worry, they have built-in lightning rods to make sure no damage is done to the building!

So we have to contend with the scientific explanation in the "coincidence" of hitting Saint Peter's Basilica as to odds of 1 in 3,000. From a mathematical statistical probability standpoint this is not so significant, none the less, is still very suspicious!

I need to get back to my title for this article. It is easy to drift off on Francis Marxist Communist ideology/theology since he is a major candidate for the Biblical False Prophet. His sense of justice of his own demented sexual pervert priests causes us grave concern. The Roman Catholic Institution has paid $5-billion in claim settlements with victims of pedophile priests, which have bankrupted a dozen U.S. dioceses.

Quietly, Pope Francis has absolved 2,000 Pedophile Priests under Vatican Justice. Have you ever asked yourself why it has been decades now since the Roman Catholic Institution has had any high-profile sex scandals involving pedophile priests? Apparently, it is because they are doing their best to keep it quiet.

Did you catch that? There are at least 2,000 more cases, assumed to be previously absent from the high-profile now decades-old scandals of the 80s and 90s.

“But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.” -(Matthew 18:6).

According to Fox News, “Pope Francis acknowledgement that the Vatican has a 2,000-case backlog in processing clerical sex abuse cases and says criticism of the slow pace was justified. But more staff are being added and insists the Vatican is on the right path.

For victims of the alleged abuse, “on the right path” probably translates into “we’re doing nothing about it.” For the Roman Catholic Institution, the largest religious organization on the Earth, to know about 2,000 cases of alleged pedophilia in its ranks, and to being doing nothing about it, may be as egregious as the heinous acts themselves.

The renewed pressure on the Vatican stems from the resignation of Marie Collins, an Irish pedophile, an Irish pedophile-priest-sex-abuse-survivor who resigned in March from Pope Francis sex abuse advisory commission. Collins said she quit because her commission, formulated to rout out pedophile priests was being met, in her words, “unacceptable” levels of resistance from the Vatican. In other words, they were ignoring the recommendations set forth by the investigative and reform group.

Speaking with reporters on his plane, Francis said of Collins, “she’s as great woman” and was “a bit right” about her criticisms. “Marie Collins was right on that point. But we are on the right path, as there were 2,000 cases backlogged,” he said.

Pope Francis did not respond to the other issues raised by Marie Collins, including the refusal of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith – which handle abuse cases – to create a tribunal to judge bishops who covered up for pedophile priests. Instead, he focused on explaining why cases can take so long to process. He won praises for having created the advisory commission and for promising “zero tolerance” for abuse. But his advisory commission has lost credibility following Marie Collins’ departure and its failure to implement key recommendations that even Francis had approved.

It’s safe to say, with the departure of one of the leading figures comprising the advisory board that the Catholic Institution is stalling. Instead of taking down the pedophiles, and turning them over to authorities for prosecution, they’re simply content on maintaining a 2,000 case backlog.

The Institution’s inaction on pedophilia may signal to some critics as well as well as survivors of pedophile priest abuse, that the emotional development of its children is of little concern to the church, who some have said are protecting pedophiles instead of rooting them out from among the ranks.

It’s unclear if the latest revelations that the church is still doing nothing will further drive Catholic members into Protestant churches, but in my opinion, doing nothing is just as bad as pedophilia is itself. To put a single dime in their coffers makes one complicit to the greatest scandal of child abuse and sexual crimes against humanity!

In 2014, Pope Francis admitted that “about two percent” or 1 in 50 Roman Catholic priests are pedophiles. He then promised solutions to the history of the church condoning the horrid practice. However, it appears that his solution is to sweep it under the rug.

Recently a young lady gave a TED talk video to explain how pedophilia is “an unchangeable sexual orientation”. I hope most other people still find that disturbing as well. Don’t expect Matthew 18:6 to justify the heinous pedophile priest’s sins!

In the video, a medical student named Mirjam Heine (in 2018) is quoted as saying, “Let me be very clear here. Abusing children is wrong without any doubt. But a pedophile who doesn’t abuse children has done nothing wrong. I want to quickly summarize where we are at the moment. According to current research, pedophilia is an unchangeable sexual orientation, just like for example heterosexuality. No one chooses to be a pedophile. No one can cease being one.”

She is simply trying to justify pedophiles here. Something we all knew would happen once the population embraced homosexuality. It was naturally the next step in sinful progression.

How she can compare what is natural to what is unnatural is beyond me and really shows what our colleges are teaching our youth these days.

For the record, the American Psychiatric Association (APA) still considers pedophilia to be a mental disorder. I wonder how long that will last. California has been moving closer and closer to accept this heinous act as "normal"!

You see, that is how it goes with mankind. We change, we blow with the wind. One day this may be right and true, and the next day we find an excuse to erase what was right and true yesterday and replace it with something else.

God, on the other hand, does not operate that way, He never changes, (see Malachi 3:6). That is why we can count on Him and His Word. His promises are always valid, and His Truths will always be truth.

With that in mind, I want to remind you what Jesus said about messing with the children.

"But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea." -(Matthew 18:6).

Now those are the words of Jesus Christ, if you don't like them, take it up with Him. I am just the messenger. The point here is, you do not mess with the children, and certainly not those who believe in Jesus Christ. With the phrase "these little ones" Jesus did not mean only children (verse 2; cf. 19:14) but everyone who believes in Him (verses 3, 4; 10:42; cf. 11:25; 25:40). Pope Francis reveals by his own words his disdain for our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

In order for us to really understand this verse, we need to understand the meaning of the word "offend".

A skandalon can be a "trap," usually including some enticing aspect ("enticement"); generally speaking it is something causing "offense, stumbling." The verb skandalizō means "to cause (someone) to stumble" with the idea of "to tempt to sin, entice to transgress" (cf. 13:41; 16:23).

Mulos onikos is a "donkey mill." There were two kinds of millstones in Israel; a small one, called a hand mill that could be worked by a person and a larger one, worked by an animal, usually a donkey. Both mills were made of a round stone disk with a hole in the middle which was then turned over another stone. Here Jesus was obviously speaking of the uppermost stone of the larger mill. The Jews, in contrast to the Syrians,

Greeks, and Egyptians, never practiced capital punishment by drowning, but they were familiar with the concept.

Jesus was suggesting here that the rejection of forgiveness and the causing of others to stumble in sin are virtually unforgivable (cf. Matthew 11:20-24).

Jesus is telling us, those who entice children to sin by making them do or be a part of scandalous acts would be better off drowning in the depth of the sea.

We are to protect and nurture the children. They are innocent and they are easily led by adults. No one should take advantage of a child in any way, shape, or form and those that do will pay a price for doing so. However, what you do not hear, as noted in P.D. Stuart's book, 'Codeword Barbelon', in the Roman Catholic Institution it is known as the "Secret Doctrine", not to be spoken of in public. It is a Satanic practice within the very highest level of the Vatican. It is discussed on pages 438-441 and 477-520 of 'Codeword Barbelon'. The Vatican and Pope Francis are not about to reveal this fact in what they say or do, relative to putting a stop to this heinous abuse of children. Pope Francis is every bit as complicit in the practice as his pedophile priests.

The book 'Codeword Barbelon' has done more to expose the Satanic roots of the Roman Catholic Institution. I prefer to use the word "Institution" rather than the word "Church" simply because it is not the Church of Jesus Christ, but rather Lucifer the fallen! I had to order my copy a few years ago through Amazon of Canada and it took six weeks to arrive from the UK. If the Roman Catholic laity read this book, the institution would collapse in shame!

According to an AP report, Pope Francis had quietly reduced sanctions against a handful of pedophile priests, applying his vision of a merciful church even to its worst offenders in ways that survivors of abuse and the pope's own advisers question. One of the child molesting priests given clemency by the pope was later arrested and sentenced to more than four years in jail for abusing multiple boys aged 12-16.

It is no secret that the Vatican has been sweeping the issue of pedophile priests under the rug for many decades. In 2018, the UN issued a scathing report, blasting the Vatican for protecting pedophiles. The UN's main human rights investigator, Sara Oviedo, led the most intense grilling the Holy See has received on this issue. Given the "zero tolerance" policy of the Vatican, she asked, why were there "efforts to cover up and obscure these types of cases?"

Another committee member, psychologist Maria Rita Parsi, added: "If these events continue to be hidden and covered up, to what extent will children be affected?"

One such event that was covered up by the Vatican and the western media at large was the Rev. Gino Flaim, who claimed to "understand pedophilia" and said it is caused by the child's attempt to find affection.

He told Italy's La7 television channel, "I've been to lots of schools, and I know children. Unfortunately, there are children who seek affection because they don't receive it at home and I understand that some priests can give up. Pedophilia is a sin, and like all sins has to be accepted."

When the interviewer asked Flaim, "So, you actually mean that most of the time, it's because of the child's fault?" Flaim responded by saying "Yes, most of the time." After condoning pedophilia and blaming it on the child, this holy man went on to bash homosexuality, calling it a "disease."

Many canon lawyers and church authorities argue that defrocking pedophiles can put society at greater risk because the church no longer exerts any control over them. They argue that keeping the man in restricted ministry, away from children, at least enables superiors to exert some degree of supervision.

However, as in the case of Rev. Mauro Inzoli illustrates, these people need to be locked up. In November, an Italian criminal judge showed little mercy in convicting Inzoli of abusing five children, aged 12-16, and sentenced him to four years, nine months in prison. The judge said Inzoli had a number of other victims but their cases fell outside the statute of limitations.

With pedophilia scandals rocking the elite right now, is that surprising to learn that the pope is attempting to downplay the church's role in this horrific practice? I do not know if you have ever noticed the pictures of the pope holding a baby mannequin where he always kisses the genital area of the mannequin. Why this area rather than the forehead of the mannequin child? What image does this cast to the faith?

Francis scrapped the commission's proposed tribunal for bishops who botch abuse cases following legal objections from the congregation. The commission's other major initiative – a guideline template to help diocese develop policies to fight abuses to fight abuse and safeguard children – is gathering dust. The Vatican never sent the template to bishops' conferences, as the commission had sought, or even linked it to its main abuse resource website. Vatican justice is a laughing stock joke were it not so sick!

Relative to the Satanic roots of Roman Catholicism, the reader needs to be aware of what Satan's church represents.

Alexandria, Egypt, was the real birthplace of the Papacy. Emperor Jesus Constantine, which he relocated it to Roma before he died in 337 A.D..

Before the coming of the Messiah, Egypt was quintessentially Baalzebub's kingdom; "Which I commanded your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, from the IRON FURNACE, saying, "obey my voice, and do them, according to all which I command you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your Elohim" -(Jeremiah 11:4).

"Right now, the geographical country of Egypt is ruled over by a cruel tyrant named Muhammed. And the Egyptians will I give over into the hand of a cruel lord; and a fierce king shall rule over them, saith JEHOVAH Sabaoth" -(Isaiah 19:4).

Alexandria was founded by Alexander the Great in 331 BC. That was when Isis, Horus, and Seb (IHS) met Zeus and Athena. Horus became Serapis, and after the Great Apostasy, Serapis became Jesus, and Isis became the Virgin Miriam or Maria!

Origen of Alexandria (184–253).

The name Origenes means "born of Horus" and he was a prolific writer who developed all the heresies that came out of the mouth of the Dragon (Apocalypse 15:13).

Alexandria was the HQ of Queen Cleopatra, who almost succeeded in overthrowing the Roman Republic during the reign of Julius Caesar.

Ambrose of Alexandria was a disciple of Origen and all of Origen's works are dedicated to his fellow heresiarch.

Ambrose of Alexandria (212–250).

Using his Alexandrian dupes, the main focus of Satan's attack was concentrated on the Holy Trinity. The Holy Bible teaches that the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit are co-equal and co-eternal. ELOHIM is a plural word, and the Father is JEHOVAH, the Son is JEHOVAH, and the Spirit is the Spirit of JEHOVAH. The Son is eternally begotten by the Father, and the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father... Visually, the Son and the Holy Spirit are like the 2 arms of the body!

Alexandria was world famous for its vast library which contained all the knowledge of the ancient world. It was also famous for its lighthouse which was powered by electricity!

Pope Alexander of Alexandria (d. 328).

By the time of Constantine there were already 19 Popes in Alexandria.

That is where the idea originated that there were Popes in Roma prior to Jesus Constantine.

Arius was another arch heresiarch who was a close friend of Emperor Jesus Constantine.

Arius of Alexandria (250–336).

Beyond all controversy, Pope Julius I was the FIRST POPE to reign in Roma....He became pontiff in February 337, just before the death of Emperor Jesus Constantine in May 337. Up to the time of Pope John II in 533, Popes kept their birth names.

Pope Julius I (280–352).
Pope from 337 to 352.

Pope Julius I can be considered the first Pope.

He was appointed by Emperor Jesus Constantine just before he joined Apollyon in the Bottomless Pit!

As a favor to Jesus Constantine, Julius declared that December 25 should be celebrated as the birthday of Jesus.

Emperor Jesus Constantine (272–337). Misruled from 306 to 337.

One of the last acts of the perfidious Jesus Constantine was to appoint Julius as bishop of Roma. Julius decreed that December 25 should be celebrated as the birthday of Jesus Constantine. That became the official date in the wicked West, but the Orthodox Church never adopted that date. We don't know exactly when Jesus Constantine was born, but he called himself Apollyon, and the pagans celebrated his birthday at the winter solstice!

That day became the biggest holiday in the calendar for the Roman Catholics in the West.

Constantinople or New Roma circa 800 AD.

Jesus Constantine started the myth that you could be a "Roman Emperor" and yet not reside in the city of the Caesars.

Charlemagne was the first western ruler to embrace that myth when he was crowned "Holy Roman" Emperor by Pope Leo III.

He was then promptly sent back to his palace in Aachen, Germany.

An artistic depiction of the crowning of Charlemagne by Pope Leo III.

Subsequently, a long dynasty of "Holy Roman" Emperors were crowned at Roma, but none of them were ever allowed to reign in the imperial city. That bizarre "Holy Roman" Empire was abolished by Napoleon "Apollyon" in 1806.

Beginning with evil twin Romulus, the Romans had to endure the tyrannical reign of 7 kings before noble Brutus banned hereditary monarchs forever!

Emperor Jesus Constantine II (316–340).
Misruled from 337 to 340.

Kings were banned forever in 509 BC when Tarquinius Superbus "Tarquin the Proud" was overthrown.

The world took a giant leap backward when Jesus Constantine reintroduced hereditary monarchy.

The 3 sons of Jesus Constantine followed him on the throne.

Emperor Jesus Constans I (323–350).
Misruled from 337 to 350.

Jesus Constantine started the custom of Roman Emperors having numerals after their names. Officially, Popes were not allowed to marry and father heirs. However, Popes had nuns in constant attendance upon them, and the male children of Popes were called nephews, while their female counterparts were called nieces. That is the reason why so many Popes look-alike!

Pope Benedict XVI adoring the REAL PRESENCE of Jesus.

As a "thank you" to Jesus Constantine for founding the Papal dynasty, the doctrine of the REAL PRESENCE of Jesus in the host was invented.

That dogma was so absurd that it took centuries to develop, and Pope "Innocent" III was the first Pope to condemn Catholics who doubted the REAL PRESENCE!!

Pope Francis adoring the REAL PRESENCE of Jesus.

During the reign of terror of "Bloody Mary" Tudor, anyone who denied the REAL PRESENCE OF JESUS faced a fiery death!!

That unbelievable dogma came from the corrupt Latin Vulgate Version:

Give us this day our supersubstantial (Lat. supersubstantialem) bread (St. Matthew 6:11, Douay-Rheims Version).

Nobody can accuse Pope Julius II of serving the "Prince of Peace" because he was a typical Roman and a man of war from his youth.

Pope Julius II (1443–1513). Pope from 1503 to 1513.

Pope Julius II was known as the "Warrior Pope" because he was a true successor of Gaius Julius Caesar.

A patron of the arts, he commissioned Michelangelo to paint the Sistine Chapel ceiling.

In 1511, monk Martin Luther visited Roma. Expecting to find the New Jerusalem, he found an open sewer instead!!

Painter and sculptor Michelangelo (475–1564).

The future Reformer was appalled by the loose morals of the monks in what he believed was "Holy" Roma. While climbing "Pilate's Staircase" on his knees to obtain a 1,000-year-indulgence for a deceased relative, he heard a voice like thunder say "the just shall live by faith."

When Pope Julius wasn't fighting Spaniards (Catalans) he took a keen interest in works of art.

The Sistine Chapel ceiling was painted by Michelangelo.

The Sistine Chapel ceiling is a panorama of world history from Creation to the Last Judgment. Another famous sculpture by Michelangelo is the pietà, or our "Lady of Pity."

The Pietà by Michelangelo.

Pietàs proliferated in England before the blessed Reformation, but Saint Thomas Cranmer ordered those idolatrous images destroyed.

Besides adoring the REAL PRESENCE of Jesus, "Bloody Mary" spent a lot of time praying to the pietà that she had specially imported from Roma. Unwittingly, Pope Julius II triggered the Reformation in England when he granted Henry Tudor and Catherine of Aragon a "license to sin."

Pope Julius III (1487–1555). Pope from 1550 to 1555.

In 1550, English Cardinal Reginald Pole almost became Pope, but lost by 1 vote!

"Bloody Mary" Tudor commenced her reign of terror in 1553.

With Pole as Pope, and "Bloody Mary" on the throne, it would have hastened the return of Britain to Babylon!

"Bloody Mary" Tudor (1516–1558). Misruled from 1553 to 1558.

Pope Julius III presided over the Council of Trent from 1501 to 1550. The 13th Session became deadly serious about the REAL PRESENCE of Jesus.

Nuns adoring Jesus in the monstrance.

The 13th Session of the Council of Trent condemned anybody who did not believe in the REAL PRESENCE. "Bloody Mary" required everybody to sign a document stating that they believed in the REAL PRESENCE. Refusal to sign meant a quick trip to the burning stake!!

Jesus is stored in the tabernacle when he is not on display in the monstrance.

Here is the dogmatic teaching on the REAL PRESENCE of Jesus from the 13th Session of the Council of Trent:

CANON I.- If any one denieth, that, in the sacrament of the most holy Eucharist, are contained truly, really, and substantially, the body and blood together with the soul and divinity of our Lord Jesus Christ, and consequently the whole Christ; but saith that He is only therein as in a sign, or in figure, or virtue; let him be anathema. (Thirteenth Session, Canon I).

CANON VI.- If any one saith, that, in the holy sacrament of the Eucharist, Christ, the only-begotten Son of God, is not to be adored with the worship, even external of latria; and is, consequently, neither to be venerated with a special festive solemnity, nor to be solemnly borne about in processions, according to the laudable and universal rite and custom of holy church; or, is not to be proposed publicly to the people to be adored, and that the adorers thereof are idolators; let him be anathema. (Thirteenth Session, Canon II).

The Trojan Horse ecumenical movement changed nothing because Pope John XXIII stated that he accepted all the decrees of the Council of Trent. Prior to the beginning of Vatican II, between October, 1962 and December, 1965, Protestants were referred to as "heretics" and after the close of Vatican II, Protestants were called "the lost brethren".

Perhaps you have heard of the expression "Rome Never Changes" or "All Roads Lead to Rome". Vatican II was a Jesuit ruse based upon the idea of bringing the Protestant world back under the reign of Vatican Rome. Most Protestants are not good historians and easily taken in by the ecumenical idea of "Can't We All Just Get Along?" Protestant leaders fell all over themselves to embrace "pluralism" and to say no evil of one another, despite the centuries of Vatican injustice and tyranny. My entire ministry since 1965 was in the shadows of Rome's corrupting the religious world with its heresy and apostasy. Rome never changes! I was shocked by a seminary professor at Asbury Theological Seminary, who said in his classes, the United Methodist Church should bring back the confessional, and elevate Mary's importance in the UMC Church.

This man below paid with his life for trying to keep the country together, at a time when the Jesuits of Rome were working to destroy the United States Republic. The true story of President Lincoln is largely unknown to American school children because of the propaganda that has been fed to the youth of our country. The Vatican's financial arm, the House of Rothschild was loaning money to the Confederacy, but at the same time, they offered loans to Abraham Lincoln at 24-32% interest rates to fund the Civil War, with the hope of destroying the country through the Civil War. The Vatican captured the U.S. through its financial "Fiduciary" – the House of Rothschild. The Rothschild's are the Vatican true bankers and have been so since 1820, two hundred years!

The Antichrist system is led by a pair, of Satanists and Luciferians, Pope Francis views his kingdom from the papal window of Saint Peter in the picture on the next page.

There has never been one thing about Francis that even resembles the faith of Jesus Christ; rather Francis presents the image and the faith of this phony vicar of Lucifer.

Vatican watchers were stunned as Pope Francis dropped the Title 'Vicar Of Christ' and assumed power as Jorge Mario Bergoglio In "His Own Name" fulfilling the prophecy of Antichrist. "I am come in my Father's name, and ye receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive."-(John 5:43).

Former papal nuncio Archbishop Carlo Maria Viganò has called the dropping of Pope Francis' essential title, "Vicar of Christ" from the 2020 Pontifical Yearbook an act that appears to "officially alter the Papacy," such that the Pope "no longer recognizes himself as guardian." This change in the layout and content of an official text of the Catholic Church cannot be ignored, nor is it possible to attribute it to a gesture of humility on the part of Francis, which is not in keeping with his name being so prominently featured, wrote Viganò in a statement.

Geoffrey Grider | NTEB – Archbishop Viganò said it's as if Pope Francis now views himself as becoming "master of the Church, free to demolish it from within without having to answer to anyone. In short, a tyrant,"

Roman Catholics from deep within the Vatican are sounding the alarm bells today because Pope Francis is once again doing wacky end times stuff. This story comes from an article on the Catholic site 'Life Site News' from a statement they received from Archbishop Carlo Maria Viganò. Viganò is quite alarmed that Pope Francis has dropped the title 'Vicar of Christ' in the annual Vatican Yearbook, and instead has listed himself in 'his own name' of Jorge Mario Bergoglio. 'Life Site News' and Viganò are rightly alarmed by this breach of long-standing Vatican protocol, but if they knew anything about bible prophecy, they'd really be quaking in their boots. What Pope Francis did is a prophecy of Antichrist!

John 5:42-43 “But I know you, that ye have not the love of God in you. I am come in my Father’s name, and ye receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive.”

The Roman Catholic Church is not the Church that Jesus shed His blood to create, it is the demonic counterfeit. Combined with Vatican City and the Holy See, it is actually MYSTERY, BABYLON from Revelation 17 and 18. Every pope for the last 1,700 years has pretended to be the ‘vicar of Christ’, the person ‘in place of Christ’ and running the Roman church. But every pope has also retained the title of Pontifex Maximus, the early pre-Catholic church fathers said that the Pontifex Maximus was the “King of Heathendom“, the evil high priest of the pagan mystery religion of Rome. And they were right.

This is not the first time that Pope Francis has asserted authority in his own name, it happened back in 2015 when he addressed the General Assembly of the United Nations. You can see it in the video below. This is what he said on that day:

“Thank you for your kind words. Once again, following a tradition by which I feel honored, the Secretary General of the United Nations has invited the Pope to address this distinguished assembly of nations. In my own name, and that of the entire Catholic community, I wish to express to you, Mr. Ban Ki-moon, my heartfelt gratitude. I greet the Heads of State and Heads of Government present, as well as the ambassadors, diplomats and political and technical officials accompanying them, the personnel of the United Nations engaged in this 70th Session of the General Assembly, the personnel of the various programs and agencies of the United Nations family, and all those who, in one way or another, take part in this meeting. Through you, I also greet the citizens of all the nations represented in this hall. I thank you, each and all, for your efforts in the service of mankind.”

So, here in 2020, in this crazy, crazy end times year where the whole world has gone off the deep end, Pope Francis no longer needs the phony ‘historical titles’ of the Roman Catholic Church, he comes now instead in ‘his own name’ of Jorge Mario Bergoglio as he prepares to fulfill the prophecies related to the Antichrist and the Whore of Babylon over which he is the king. 2020 continues to be the year of prophecy in this unbelievable end time’s roller coaster ride.

Archbishop Viganò: Has Pope Francis now ‘disavowed’ being Vicar of Christ?

FROM LIFE SITE NEWS’: Former papal nuncio Archbishop Carlo Maria Viganò has called the dropping of Pope Francis’ essential title “Vicar of Christ” from the 2020 Pontifical Yearbook an act that appears to “officially alter the Papacy,” such that the Pope “no longer recognizes himself as guardian.”

“This change in the layout and content of an official text of the Catholic Church cannot be ignored, nor is it possible to attribute it to a gesture of humility on the part of Francis, which is not in keeping with his name being so prominently featured,” wrote Viganò in a statement he sent to LifeSiteNews (read full statement below).

“Instead, it seems possible to see in it the admission — passed over in silence — of a sort of usurpation, whereby it is not the “Servus servorum Dei” [The Servant of the Servants of God] who reigns, but the person of Jorge Mario Bergoglio, who has officially disavowed being the Vicar of Christ, the Successor of the Prince of the Apostles and the Supreme Pontiff, as if they were annoying trappings of the past: only mere ‘historical titles,’” he added.

‘LifeSite’ reported April 2 that Pope Francis, in a surprise move, dropped the historic and essential title “Vicar of Christ” from the 2020 Pontifical Yearbook, the Holy See’s annual directory, relegating the title to a footnote, calling it a “historical title.”

While previous yearbooks listed the title “Vicar of Christ” and the name of the reigning Pope under that title, this year’s annual directory simply lists the name “Jorge Mario Bergoglio,” the name of the man who became Pope Francis in 2013. The title “Vicar of Jesus Christ” stems from Holy Scripture where Jesus granted St. Peter the power of the keys in the Church.

Archbishop Viganò said, “it’s as if Pope Francis now views himself as becoming “master of the Church, free to demolish it from within without having to answer to anyone. In short, a tyrant,” he said.

Cardinal Gerhard Müller, former prefect of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, also raised concern about the Pope’s move, calling the change “theological barbarism.”

“No Pope or Ecumenical Council,” the German prelate continued, “could, with reference to their highest authority over the Church, do away with the primacy, the episcopacy, or the Sacraments, or to re-interpret them in their essence.” Matteo Bruni, director of the Vatican press office, told Catholic News Service that “there has been no suppression” of a title.

“The definition of ‘historic’ in relation to the titles attributed to the pope on one of the pages dedicated to him in the Annuario Pontificio of 2020 seems to me to indicate the bond with the history of the papacy,” said Bruni, adding that all the other titles “are understood to be tied historically to the title of bishop of Rome because at the moment he is designated by the conclave to guide the church of Rome, the one elected acquires the titles tied to this nomination.”

Archbishop Viganò gained prominence worldwide when he made it public in August 2018 that Pope Francis was part of the cover-up for then-Cardinal Theodore McCarrick who abused seminarians and priests.

Full statement by Archbishop Carlo Maria Viganò:

“You Have Said So”

“Truly, I say to you, one of you will betray me.” And they were very sorrowful, and began to say to him one after another, “Is it I, Lord?” He answered, “He who has dipped his hand in the dish with me, will betray me. The Son of man goes as it is written of him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of man is betrayed! It would have been better for that man if he had not been born.” Judas, who betrayed him, said, “Is it I, Master?” He said to him, “You have said so.” Mt 26, 20-25

On March 25, the 2020 Pontifical Yearbook was published with a real novelty. It may seem like a typographical trifle, in the part dedicated to the reigning pontiff, but this is not the case. Until last year, in fact, Francis’s titles were listed at the top of the page, beginning with “Vicar of Christ”, “Successor of the Prince of the Apostles” etc., and ending with his birth name and a very brief biography.

In the new edition, on the other hand, the secular name JORGE MARIO BERGOGLIO stands out in large letters, followed by the biography, the date of election and the beginning of his “ministry as universal Pastor of the Church.” Separated by a dash and the words, “Historical titles,” all the titles of the Roman Pontiff are then listed, as if they were no longer an integral part of the Munus Petrinum that legitimizes the authority which the Church recognizes in the Pope.

This change in the layout and content of an official text of the Catholic Church cannot be ignored, nor is it possible to attribute it to a gesture of humility on the part of Francis, which is not in keeping with his name being so prominently featured. Instead, it seems possible to see in it the admission — passed over in silence — of a sort of usurpation, whereby it is not the “Servus servorum Dei” who reigns, but the person of Jorge Mario Bergoglio, who has officially disavowed being the Vicar of Christ, the Successor of the Prince of the Apostles and the Supreme Pontiff, as if they were annoying trappings of the past: only mere “historical titles.”

An almost defiant gesture — one might say — in which Francis transcends every title. Or worse: an act to officially alter the Papacy, by which he no longer recognizes himself as guardian, but becomes master of the Church, free to demolish it from within without having to answer to anyone. In short, a tyrant.

May the significance of this most serious act not escape pastors and the faithful, for by it the sweet Christ on earth — as St. Catherine called the Pope — releases himself from his role as Vicar to proclaim himself, in a delirium of pride, absolute monarch even with respect to Christ.

We are approaching the sacred days of the Savior's Passion, which commences in the Upper Room with the betrayal of one of the Twelve. It is not illegitimate to wonder whether the understanding words with which Bergoglio tried to rehabilitate Judas on June 16, 2016 were not a clumsy attempt to exonerate himself.

This chilling thought is further confirmed by the terrible decision to allow an almost universal ban of the public celebration of Easter, for the first time since the Resurrection of Our Lord Jesus Christ.

“The Son of man goeth as it is written of him: but woe unto that man by whom the Son of man is betrayed! it had been good for that man if he had not been born.” (Matthew 26:24) + Carlo Maria Viganò, Archbishop. In recent weeks he has warned President Trump about the forces of Satan at work against the President.

Vatican Justice is not amnesty or forgiveness, to go and sin no more. Rather it is a sign of complicity in the crimes against the children in the name of the Roman Catholic Institution.

In a previous article on the crimes of pedophilia, I shared the picture below of Pope Francis wearing his robe and stole that indicates his preference when it comes to child abuse. The FBI has a file on the code words and images used to identify the pedophile. First convened by the “Theology of the Body” mastermind “Pope Saint” John Paul II in 1985, the Novus Ordo phenomenon of World Youth Day has long been dubbed the “Catholic Woodstock” on account of the rampant occasions of carnal sin it offers due to the free mixing of large groups of young men and women, most of whom are dressed in shockingly immodest ways.

It may just be, however, that there is an even more sinister side to World Youth Day.

The most recent such event took place in Panama in January of this year. Frequent visitors to this site may recall the horrendous prayer and adoration vigil “Pope” Francis presided over, which featured a grotesque-looking hollow metal monstrosity in the form of the Blessed Mother:

- Monster-ance! Horrid Adoration Ceremony at World Youth Day Vigil Service

But now some people on Twitter have claimed that during that ceremony Francis used a humeral veil [vestment stole] with a trim pattern that displays a logo used by pedophiles and pederasts to identify themselves to kindred spirits. Thus we decided to investigate, and what we found was shocking.

First, regarding the symbol itself. On Jan. 31, 2007, the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) internally published an unclassified but law-enforcement-sensitive intelligence bulletin entitled “Symbols and Logos Used by Pedophiles to Identify Sexual Preferences.” This document was made available to the public on Nov. 22, 2007 by Wikileaks and can be accessed in full here.

The logo the FBI identifies as “BLogo aka ‘Boy Lover’” is this one:

The FBI intelligence bulletin describes and explains the symbol, and also shows an alternate logo that is intended to convey perverted attraction specifically to little boys and is called, accordingly, “LBLogo”:

This sickening stuff isn’t made up, and the threat is real. The following two mainstream news sites have published articles warning people of these (and other) symbols and what they really stand for. But be careful, as these two sites are very secular and tend to have immodest photos and lewd advertisements on them:

- “Parents warned over innocent-looking symbols used by paedophiles to indicate their sexual preferences” (Mirror)
- “Revealed: The symbols that pedophiles use to signal their sordid sexual preferences on social media” (Daily Mail)

Anyone who has, has the care of, or cares about children and their safety ought to be familiar with these logos and what they represent.

Now let's have a look at the liturgical vestments used by Francis and other Novus Ordo clergy during World Youth Day 2019. We'll begin with the prayer vigil for young people on January 26. The trim on Francis' humeral veil features triangles that are practically indistinguishable from the sordid "Boy Lover" logo. Only the additional bottom bar is missing — perhaps for deniability's sake? UPDATE: A reader kindly pointed out that the two logos are truly 100% identical, [as proved here.]

The Satanist Aleister Crowley, and Freemason revealed that the Mason's path to eternal life is the sexual violation of little children. This is known as "The Royal Secret", and in inner Catholicism it is known as "The Secret Doctrine" as handed down by the Templars. The Templars had two doctrines, one secret reserved for the ruling elite and one for the general public. Sodomy or child sexual abuse is considered as stealing some of that youth of a child. This secret is specifically revealed on page 500 of P.D. Stuart's book 'Codeword Barbelon'.

As I was finalizing this article, I had an email in my mail box, which contained the statement below, the Freemasons of Europe have embraced Pope Francis' encyclical.

In Fratelli Tutti, the pope embraces Universal Fraternity: the great principle of modern Freemasonry.

The matter of pedophilia has become such an epidemic in the 21st century. It has grown exponential in society today because it is swept under the rug and the justice system chooses to ignore its depravity and consequences. Remember this, “Hurt people, hurt people!” It is a Satanic ritual abuse to steal the soul of a person, male or female. Freemasonry dominates in the Justice System of America and the “Five Eyes” of the Australia, Canada, New Zealand, UK, and the US.

We have no reason to trust that pedophilia and pederasty will end any time soon, at least not until the Lord returns, which will be relatively soon. God’s Cosmic Justice is what is needed and it can’t come too soon!

An excellent book published in 2015, is ‘Hurt People, Hurt People; Hope and Healing for Yourself and Your Relationships’. It is an essential read for anyone in Christian Ministry and Counseling as well as children’s ministry.

You are looking at not the “Vicar of Christ” but you are looking at the “Vicar of Lucifer”. The below link will provide the reader much more information about how these pedophile symbols broadcast their preferences of child desires and sadistic agenda. Vatican Justice awaits Cosmic Justice!

<https://www.alterreddimensions.net/2017/pedophile...>
whale.to/c/FBI-pedophile-symbols.pdf

Blessings,

Pastor Bob, EvanTeachr@aol.com

www.pastorbobreid.com

<http://jesusisthewaythetruththelife.com/node/22>