Posted on April 9, 2022 by State of the Nation

Undeclared War on Russia Reflects the Sheer Desperation of the *Anglo-American Axis

WW3 was always planned to be an unconventional war, just like the 2nd Great Depression has been quite atypical, highly unpredictable, and downright unnerving.

Those who called it early on were absolutely right as All Hell Broke Loose In 2014.

Yeah, but what's really going on? With Russia? With Vladimir Putin? With the plummeting oil price?

Why is the price of gold always gyrating like a jitterbug? And how is it that the stock market is booming in the face of so much economic doom and financial gloom?

Why did the Ukraine become ground zero for this evolving World War III scenario?

The current economic and currency crisis in Russia isn't your typical economic crisis. That is, this isn't just a part of the business cycle. And it isn't something that is happening because demand for oil is up or the supply of oil is down.

This is a two-pronged attack by the U.S. — and it is a desperate one, at that.

The U.S. is in a very tough spot. Currently, after several years of expansionist (inflationary) policy at the Fed, the U.S. economy is in a bubble that is about to pop. In order to prop up the dollar while simultaneously printing trillions, the U.S. has decided to use their military to force nations to sell their natural resources for dollars. This increases demand for the dollar (because nations need dollars for natural resources) and prevents rapid devaluation of the dollar. Iraq, Libya, Syria, and Iran have been the most notable military and economic targets.

But recently, Russia, China, and North Korea have also had a role in undermining demand for the dollar. It has been widely reported that Russia and China are moving away from the dollar as a reserve currency, and that they have made agreements to sell their natural resources to one another in other currencies. And the U.S. attacked a North Korean oil ship early in 2014, when they dared to make an “illicit” purchase of oil from Libyan rebels. (They weren’t paying for it in dollars. How dare they?)

So the U.S. has repeatedly been provoking Russia and trying to poke Putin until he does something stupid, allowing the West to attack in the name of “defending Europe against the next Hitler.” Of course, almost all of the news about Putin, Russia, and Ukraine falls into this category of provoking Putin. And many are aware of the fact that this will lead to another war in Europe — World War 3. This includes Putin’s economic advisor.[1]

The Snake Of Predatory Capitalism Is Eating Itself

On the macro level it’s all really very simple. In fact the answers to all of these questions are related to the very same root cause. The current form of corrupt, corporate, crony capitalism, which predominates wherever the Anglo-American Axis (AAA) does business, is in the state of inexorable self-destruction. At times it appears to be in a free fall collapse; other times in slow-motion decline. Those who control the AAA at the very top know this. They also know that predatory capitalism cannot continue to grow economies forever, as it falsely promises to do.

The Dot-com bubble burst at the turn of the century highlighted many of the serious systemic problems with the U.S. economy. Any economy that is based on an inordinate amount of speculation is doomed to failure. In order to postpone that inevitable failure three measures are being taken by the “controllers of the realm”. As follows:

1) More speculation than ever, via the 1.5 quadrillion dollar derivative market, is being undertaken as a daily bandaid applied to the bursting dike. This approach must be followed every single day or else the dam will break. Then, the Anglo-American confidence game known as the Stock Market will come to a screeching halt, as everyone watches Wall Street get flooded with bad bets and unpayable debts.

2) The military and financial arms of the AAA have assumed a very aggressive posture in the world in order to secure whatever wealth can be taken from the weaker nations. The perpetual wars — financial/economic and military/political — stand as testimony to this strategy of perennial state-sponsored theft. The USA has served as the military arm since the beginning of the last century. The UK has enforced its financial regime historically through the British Empire and now through the Commonwealth.

3) An ongoing attempt to push the world into a World War III scenario appears to round out the AAA multi-decade agenda toward total world domination. War has always been their primary means to rearrange the geopolitical chessboard in their favor, especially at critical points of devolution such as now. World wars, in particular, have also served to create myriad opportunities for practically instant 'wealth creation'. The first two world wars are perfect illustrations of this time-worn scheme to build a new order from the chaos of disaster capitalism.

Putin's Russia Aims To Be On The Right Side Of History

It's extremely important to understand Russia's role in this unfolding World War III scenario. Simply put, President Vladimir Putin has done everything to prevent war from breaking out as a full-scale armed conflict. Even as he watched the coup in Kiev, his response was as measured and appropriate as possible. In light of the existential threats posed by a newly NATO-leaning government in the western Ukraine, Putin had no choice but to protect the Russian speakers in Crimea, as well as in the Donbass region.

Likewise, Putin's peace-making initiatives in Syria were critical in maintaining the vital leadership role of Bashar al-Assad. The tinderbox of the Mideast could have exploded into the first major theatre of WWIII had it not been for his levelheaded response to Obama's warmongering. That's not to say that the current state of affairs in Iraq and Syria is acceptable. However, those enemy-occupied areas are but the playground for the real terrorists sponsored by the AAA.

Just as Russia was on the winning side of both World Wars I and II, she knows that the outcome of World War III is of paramount importance ... for the future of humanity. The rapidly evolving global geopolitical chessboard, which is defining the two sides of the current WWIII conflict, does have multiple hidden forces operating conspiratorially. The many furtive actions taken by these clandestine organizations beg for exposure at this critical juncture. The following article lays bare some of their names and sponsors, false flag operations and other significant MOs.

Anglo-American Axis Wages Financial/Economic War Against Russia

Russia is the bridge to the future of humankind.

Russia knows that it occupies a very unique position in the world today. Not only does it pose a formidable countervailing nuclear deterrent to the Western powers, Russian borders also carve out an extraordinary land mass linking East to West. In this way it serves as a bridge — a bridge for trade via the new Silk Road; a bridge for science and technology transfers as well as philosophy and spirituality interchanges; and, most importantly, a bridge for the exportation/importation of peace and brotherhood.

Like no other country on Earth, Russia's geographical location has conferred upon it great gifts, both mundane and metaphysical. Extremely rich in natural resources it is why the Bolshevik Revolution was used by Western bankers to steal her wealth via the imposed Soviet communism. Stretching from Alaska in the East to the Ukraine in the West, Russia's land mass is unequalled in both its great distance across the planet as well as its enormous size.

The vast, unbroken Russian steppes have long been known to convert any man into a philosopher, so stirring to the soul is the expansiveness of the sky. The Russian national temperament has always bent toward brotherhood and generosity of spirit, as Vladimir Putin has repeatedly demonstrated in world affairs. These and other noble characteristics have shown the Russian people to be the natural vessels of peace and reconciliation. As Edgar Cayce once uttered, "the hope of the world" lies with Russia.

It is highly significant that the land mass of Russia is contiguous to an extraordinary number of other countries, from the USA to those of the European continent. In fact, the Motherland shares more boundaries with more nations than any other on Earth. In each case Russia has been infused with the cultures and traditions, religions and philosophies, languages and customs that have travelled across her borders. Known as the Motherland, she has been responsible for the unparalleled transfer of culture from both East to West and North to South throughout history.

RUSSIA: Earthly Portal Between the Yin and Yang

The very land masses of Russia represent a mammoth land bridge between East and West. Where the West has always exhibited strong Yang energies, the East clearly embodies the softer Yin influences. Being sandwiched between the two, Russia has always demonstrated a unique ability to very skillfully play on both the Yang and Yin chess boards. China's tendency toward isolation and the USA's inclination toward intervention both find a middle ground in the nation of Russia with a balance of both. She has been forced to learn the best of both worlds in order to survive, and thrive, in the highly competitive super-continent known as Eurasia.

Perhaps that's why so many great and unrivaled chess players have emerged from the Russian Motherland over the centuries. Which is exactly why it has fallen to Russia to bring the entire planetary civilization back into balance. The aggressive Yang powers of the Anglo-American Axis, which are now directly bumping up against the conciliatory Yin forces of the BRICS Alliance, have thrown the international order into a state of unprecedented chaos and extreme imbalance.

Although the biggest conflict appears to be between Russia and the USA, there has always been tremendous tension between the UK and China (witness the Hong Kong protests), as well as between the UK and India. Both China and India also do their level best to keep the 800-pound gorilla known as the USA off their backs whenever necessary. Because China and India are both much more isolationist within their respective spheres of international relations, Russia has naturally assumed the role of intercessor. Russians have had centuries of interaction with the Yang-dominated nations (Americans are called Yankees) of the AAA and are therefore much better equipped to spearhead the ongoing global transformation.

History repeats itself again, and again, and again.

Very few realize it, but World War III has been raging since the false flag attacks were conducted by the real Axis of Evil(i) on September 11, 2001. History has shown that worldwide conflicts of this magnitude always begin in the economic sphere as well as on various financial battlefields. In fact World War II effectively started with the signing of the Treaty of Versailles which ended the state of war between Germany and the Allied Powers. The financially draconian terms of that treaty which ended World War I were so oppressive to Germany, that a WWII was all but guaranteed. After a full-scale economic war was formally declared on Germany during the Great Depression, the global armed conflict known as WWII became a forgone conclusion.

Does that sound familiar?

Fast forward to 2014. For 13 years the Anglo-American Axis* has waged a War on Terror(ii) across Planet Earth on the patently false pretext of the US-sponsored 9/11 false flag operation. The many wars, all of which have been prosecuted on this basis, have been fundamentally economic and financial in nature. In each and every case there were overriding considerations having to do with oil and gas reserves, oil refineries and gas conduits, precious metals and industrial ores, geopolitical advantage and military port locations, among many other reasons.

*The Anglo-American Axis is represented, first and foremost, by the major English-speaking countries of the world: USA, UK, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Israel. The European member nations of NATO, such as Germany, France, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands are also closely aligned with the AAA as are all the Scandinavian countries. So are the Asian Pacific Rim nations of Japan, South Korea, Taiwan and the Philippines. Saudi Arabia, Turkey, Egypt, Pakistan, Kuwait, Jordan, Bahrain, United Arab Emirates, and Qatar also owe their allegiance to the AAA, although some of these may be changing. The World Shadow Government is a secret, supranational organization which completely controls the Anglo-American Axis, as well as the European Union, NATO, among many other institutional entities which constitute the Global Control Matrix.[2]

The very backbone of the Anglo-American Axis (AAA) is formed by the 'special relationship' that exists between the United States of America (USA) and the United Kingdom (UK). Where the USA represents the Military Arm of the New World Order (NWO) the UK has functioned as the Financial Arm of the NWO. Together, they constitute a tag team that can deliver a one-two punch to any powerless nation or defenseless country anywhere, effectively knocking it down ... forever.

The USA: Military Arm Of The New World Order

Since 2001 the following nations have been the targets to the financial and economic, and/or military and political aggression committed by the Anglo-American Axis. There are several other countries which have been victimized in the same ways, but these occurred mainly under the radar.

IRAQ
VENEZUELA

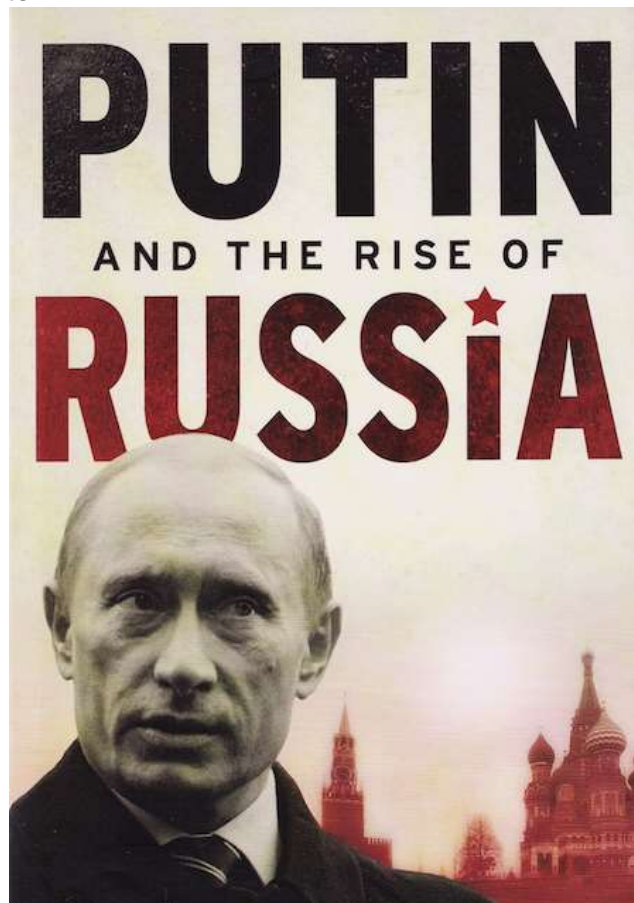

Likewise, Africa, in addition to the northern African nations listed above, has experienced its own form of World War III for the past couple of decades. Although the AAA nations may not appear to be the aggressors in these conflicts, they are the instigators for the same reasons as stated.

There are currently fifteen African countries involved in war, or are experiencing post-war conflict and tension. In West Africa, the countries include Cote d'Ivoire, Guinea, Liberia, Nigeria, Sierra Leone, and Togo. In East Africa, the countries include Eritrea, Ethiopia, Somalia, Sudan, and Uganda. In Central Africa, the countries include Burundi, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Rwanda. In Northwestern Africa, the country is Algeria and in South Africa, the countries include Angola and Zimbabwe.[3]

What's the point of this discussion?

All of these wars and conflicts — no matter where they've occurred — have taken place in the interest of preventing the Anglo-American Empire from collapsing during the ongoing 2nd Great Depression(iii). Like all immense and unwieldy empires, they eventually come to an abrupt and chaotic end. Just as those who seek to maintain them unrealistically attempt to forever prolong the good ole days. They yearn for the times when they could simply take anything they wanted from anybody, anywhere, anytime they wanted to.

Enter Vladimir Putin's Russia

Like many of those nations listed above, Russia is the biggest and most determined to leave the AAA plantation. Russia's recent initiatives to exit the world's reserve currency known as the once Almighty Dollar only occurred in earnest after the USA & Company incited a civil war in the Ukraine. This shocking and audacious provocation by the AAA was absolutely necessary in order to compel Russia to leave the dollar-denominated plantation once and for all.

In other words Putin and his inner circle had to be pushed way beyond their limits for Russia to finally transition away from the Petrodollar. The history books of the future will explain this courageous move as the single greatest endeavor of the new millennium ... for Russia ... for the BRICS-allied nations ... and for the world-at-large. Truly, not only does this formidable undertaking represent the defining moment in the fall of the Anglo-American Empire, the collapse of the Almighty Dollar will augur in a new era for humankind.

Quite unfortunately for the folks in the Eastern Ukraine, their profound sacrifice has served as the immediate cause for the final collapse of the Petrodollar as the world's reserve currency. The decisions taken by Russia to disengage from the Petrodollar would simply not have occurred until the Russian people experienced a very real existential threat. The coup in Kiev posed such a threat. Especially when considered in light of the veritable blitz of invasive domestic measures and intrusive international meddling by the AAA since the initial collapse of the Soviet Union, does the Ukraine catastrophe become the straw that breaks the camel's back. The following in-depth essay more fully elaborates the disparate forces at work as well as the relevant history.

Vladimir Putin's Russia: Perfect Foil To The Anglo-American Axis And Their New World 'Order'

This is where we are in 2014. No one leaves the AAA plantation without facing the consequences of the proverbial one-two punch. Hence, the entire planet is now experiencing the convulsions and convulsions which reflexively occur when any nation attempts to flee the AAA plantation. The very moment Russia began decoupling its massive amount of oil and gas transactions from the Petrodollar, "all hell broke loose in 2014" throughout the Motherland. Nevertheless, Russia knows instinctively that the country must pass through the gates of hell in order to get to their "heavenly abode" of genuine economic and financial independence.

In reality the AAA left Russia with no alternative in view of the incessant economic terrorism and financial sabotage it has been subjected to. In fact the sovereign nation of Russia has been the object of numerous foreign attacks throughout 2014 in the form of extremely detrimental commodity speculation and currency manipulation, stock and bond market crashes, as well as the breaching of international contracts. Were the list of economic indignities and financial assaults to be listed here, most would be shocked at the degree of patience exercised by the Russian "Bear". Given the sheer amount of material loss and deprivation suffered yet again by the Russian people as a result of transparent AAA interference, their forbearance and tolerance inspires.

As Putin's Russia spearheads the BRICS counter-attack, the Anglo-American Axis suffers an unprecedented reversal of fortune.

The spearhead is never an easy place to be. Under Putin's leadership, Russia has done virtually everything possible to avoid using the sharpened spear against those who have harmed her. However, as fate and destiny would have it, Russia now appears to have no choice. Those who populate the top tier of the Anglo-American Axis appear to be as incorrigible as they ignorant, as intractable as they are arrogant. When faced with a coterie of criminally insane psychopaths hell-bent on taking over the world, there is only one way to respond.

As a lifelong judo expert, Putin intuitively knows how to lever Russia's strengths and protect its vulnerabilities. Applying maximum leverage at the right time, in the right place and in the right way is a no brainer for a nation of chess players. While the AAA continues to play their game of checkers with brute military force and naked short selling, they do not even see the many and diverse flanking actions occurring at the margins of their collapsing empire.

When the BRICS financial counter-initiatives begin to coalesce and synergize, and they will imperceptibly, they will produce a shocking reversal of fortune for the AAA. Likewise, when their economic endeavors start to interpenetrate and mutually reinforce each new enterprise, Russia, in particular, will experience a reversal of fate. In the meantime, however, Russia unavoidably bears the full burden of so many multifarious intrigues and machinations originated by the Anglo-American Axis. There has never been such a challenge to maintain an untenable worldwide status quo; hence, the AAA fight for survival is likely to get very ugly in 2015 ... and 2016.

A quick survey of the current economic and financial battlefields reveals the grim realities which the AAA is confronted with, even without the unanticipated counter-attacks. The steady erosion of the power of the Petrodollar alone makes it particularly susceptible to an assortment of strategically conducted surprise attacks. In order to keep their global Ponzi Scheme from collapsing the AAA really has no choice but to take over every square inch of Planet Earth. While the Trilateral Commission is making moves throughout its three sectors of influence to do just that, it's running into major obstacles ... everywhere.

Not only is the Asian component of the Trilateral Commission in very bleak condition because of Japan's multi-decade debilitation, the European Union is in such disarray it's a wonder it hasn't completely dissolved. The USA component of this triad is likewise in a very precarious position due to its unsustainable national debt and tenuous economic fundamentals, worsening political paralysis and numerous wars of aggression, raging immigration crisis and intensifying class warfare, pervasive social unrest and unparalleled moral bankruptcy.

Which brings us back to the Russian spearhead!

Given the true state of affairs throughout the entire Anglo-American Axis it doesn't take much to upset the AAA apple cart, especially when it's so full of so many bad apples.

Conversely, the condition of Russia is such that it can easily weather the storms being regularly sent by the Trilateral Commission. Each one only serves to compel Russia to disconnect its wagon from the AAA wagon train that is heading toward the cliff. With additional support from China and India, Putin is now in the position to aim the Russian spear with maximum effect.

It appears that Putin recognizes both Russia's position of strength and Obama's simplistic strategy of failure as explained in the following two excerpts:

The Russian economy is stronger than the U.S. economy, and Putin knows it.

In fact, it appears that Putin's war strategy against the U.S. is to wait for the inevitable collapse of the U.S. His speech last week was very telling. Here are a couple of the most important highlights (from the Guardian):

He said that the economy would recover within two years — by the end of 2016.

He said "external factors" were to blame for the difficulty, mentioning that sanctions and a U.S.-Saudi oil-pricing conspiracy may have caused the crisis.[1]

That said, the U.S.'s economic crisis and looming collapse puts them in a weak position. And Russia is a major threat, both providing support for Syria and Iran, as well as starting to drop the dollar itself.

So the U.S. either wants Putin out of office (either out or dead) or they want him to be the scapegoat for the hot phase of the war. And this is where the two-pronged economic attack comes in. In order to provoke a dumb move on Putin's part, the U.S. has done the following:

The First Prong: Obama started imposing sanctions against Russia early in 2014, and he has progressively increased the severity of these sanctions — imposing more even over the past week, as Russia is in the midst of a currency crisis. Imposing sanctions was a nuisance than anything, and Putin didn't budge. So the U.S. escalated things in the second half of 2014.

The Second Prong: Obama made an agreement with Saudi Arabia. You can read about the details here, where I discuss a report from the Wall Street Journal and other sources. The U.S. agreed to attack Syria on behalf of the Saudi king. This alone is a provocation against Russia because Syria is a Russian ally. Impressively, Putin didn't fall for it. But the other part of the agreement, it appears, was that Saudi Arabia would significantly cut oil prices in order to put significant pressure on the Russian economy, either provoking Putin to take military action or the Russian people to call for his ouster.[1]

Anglo-American Imperialism Will No Longer Be Tolerated

President Vladimir Putin has demonstrated once again how Russia is determined to be on the right side of history. He has quite clearly spelled out Russia's positions regarding a number of critical geopolitical, economic and military issues which the Western media has all but ignored, when they're not deriding them. In all of his pronouncements, Putin makes one thing perfectly clear: Russia will not be toyed with. The Anglo-American Axis will no longer run roughshod over the Russian steppes or her people.

Meanwhile the AAA has shown itself to be not only an incorrigible warmonger, its many misguided acts of outright aggression indicate that it can no longer be trusted in any way. It appears that Putin's Russia, Jinping's China and Modi's India really get that, as do all the countries associated with the BRICS Alliance. More importantly, the BRICS economic union is now acting in concert to remove itself from the AAA's financial prison that has utilized the Petrodollar as the de facto global reserve currency since 1971.

Because of this single ongoing development, the world has already changed in ways that have yet to manifest. Predictably, the Western Mainstream Media (MSM) has failed to disseminate many of the historic developments which have slowly but surely ended the reign of the Almighty Dollar. For this and other reasons, the American people have been deprived of crucial information. This unfolding worldwide scenario is not too unlike the Titanic's first and final voyage. In fact, the U.S. Federal Reserve (also known as the FED) has been doing nothing more than "rearranging the deck chairs" on the 'Titanic' for many years now.

Whereas Obama & Company is steering the AAA Titanic, Putin & Associates have a front row seat on the BRICS iceberg. The denouement will be taken up in the next installment of this series of essays is entitled:

Reign Of The Almighty Dollar Is Over

Recommendations from Russophiles, Academics and Geopolitical Strategists

Russia is now in the position to catalyze an unprecedented and lasting transformation of the current world order. No other nation since the beginning of the British Empire has ever had the opportunity to effectuate such profound and fundamental change. If ever there was a time for Russia to lead the BRICS allied nations into a new economic system and financial order, 2015 is it. President Putin and his coterie of Kremlin decision-makers surely know an historic moment is upon them. Will they seize the day? Certainly the huge oil and gas deals signed between Russia and China in 2014 represent a movement in the right direction. Russia and India have also inked sizable contracts recently. However, the real success of the BRICS economic union is dependent upon the continued shift in cross-continental hydrocarbon energy transfers. For a new set of durable institutional arrangements to work over the long term, the Petrodollar must be avoided henceforth as a method of payment.

The very success of the new BRICS international payment system is contingent upon this fundamental change and will only be guaranteed when all business transactions are performed outside of the Petrodollar. The greater the volume of economic activity that is conducted in their own currencies (or gold) for the foreseeable future, the greater the likelihood of success of this currency-decoupling strategy. In so doing, the Petrodollar will inevitably hyper inflate to the point where it will only make sense to use in the USA, if then.

There are many other substantial initiatives that Russia et al. ought to be taking over the next two years of transition. Those economic endeavors and financial restructurings MUST be undertaken on two fronts — domestic and international. In the short term there have been two excellent articles written recently by American authors which present a path forward in both arenas. The first article below delineates the necessary domestic initiatives to be taken; the second espouses a loose set of defensive prescriptions and offensive measures that should be implemented post-haste.

Russia's Vulnerability to EU – US Sanctions and Military Encroachments

Russia Under Financial/Economic Assault By The West, Exposes Weaknesses Which Putin Must Eliminate

Conclusion

Illuminati Freemason Albert Pike 'forewarned' future generations about World Wars I, II, and III in his letter to Giuseppe Mazzini dated August 15, 1871. The following excerpt is eerily prophetic in view of the current state of international affairs, exceedingly tense and combative as they are.

"The Third World War must be fomented by taking advantage of the differences caused by the "agenteur" of the "Illuminati" between the political Zionists and the leaders of Islamic World. The war must be conducted in such a way that Islam (the Moslem Arabic World) and political Zionism (the State of Israel) mutually destroy each other. Meanwhile the other nations, once more divided on this issue will be constrained to fight to the point of complete physical, moral, spiritual and economical exhaustion...We shall unleash the Nihilists and the atheists, and we shall provoke a formidable social cataclysm which in all its horror will show clearly to the nations the effect of absolute atheism, origin of savagery and of the most bloody turmoil. Then everywhere, the citizens, obliged to defend themselves against the world minority of revolutionaries, will exterminate those destroyers of civilization, and the multitude, disillusioned with Christianity, whose deistic spirits will from that moment be without compass or direction, anxious for an ideal, but without knowing where to render its adoration, will receive the true light through the universal manifestation of the pure doctrine of Lucifer, brought finally out in the public view. This manifestation will result from the general reactionary movement which will follow the destruction of Christianity and atheism, both conquered and exterminated at the same time."[4]

There is no question that the prevailing conditions of chaos and war throughout the community of nations has been purposefully manufactured. The Anglo-American Axis is quite proficient at engineering conflicts via synthetic terrorism and disaster capitalism whenever and wherever it chooses to. Using this modus operandi they intend to complete the final stages of their New World Order by means of a thoroughly catastrophic World War III, thereby ensuring that every nation will do business the AAA way or not at all.

However, it was also fully intended that this meticulously planned third world war would both begin and end well before the start of 3rd Millennium. The original planners' understanding of occult astrology and cabalistic numerology, hermetic freemasonry and esoteric scriptures absolutely required that this be so. The ruling cabal also knew that the deeper humanity advanced into the Information Age of the 21st century, the more difficult it would be to pull off anything even remotely similar to a WWI or II.

Hence, the likelihood of a "hot phase of the war" is diminishing by the day — literally. Because Pikes's conspiratorial plot to start World War III has been obstructed over so many years (quite deliberately by the Great White Brotherhood) the likelihood of a worldwide armed conflict has been substantially reduced. After all, with the internet criss-crossing the entire planet, schemes of such magnitude (especially false flag attacks on sovereign nations) are much more difficult to pull off. When everyone, and their brother and/or sister, has a smartphone in hand, who can get away with anything in 2015 and beyond?

Simply put, the more refined and enlightened energies of the incoming Aquarian Age do not support an apocalyptic World War III scenario as predicted by Freemason Pike. Whereas WWI and WWII set the world on a new course that was somehow necessary during the last century, a full-scale World War III no longer makes sense. The collective desire for world peace and widely held understanding of universal brotherhood/sisterhood is now too strong and pervasive. Which is why Putin's Russia, Jinping's China and Modi's India will end up on the right side of history in this epic war between East and West[5].

Author's Note

The United States of America is deeply indebted to Russia. Not once, but twice, Russia offered crucial assistance at critical points in U.S. history. During the American Revolution Russia refused to provide much-needed mercenaries to the British Army. Catherine the Great also kept strategic and vital trade channels open with the needful Thirteen Colonies throughout the war.

Despite being geographically removed from the American colonies, Russia under Catherine the Great significantly affected the American Revolution through trade and diplomacy ... The decisions made by Catherine and Panin during the Revolution to continue trade with the colonies, remain officially neutral, refuse Britain's requests for military assistance, and insist on peace talks that linked a resolution of the American Revolution with the settlement of separate European conflicts indirectly helped the Americans win the Revolution and gain their freedom.[6]

Russia also offered invaluable support to the Union during a very vulnerable period of the Civil War.

During the fall of 1863, the darkest hour of the Civil War, part of the Russian fleet arrived at the ports of New York and San Francisco. The first group came in September, and the second in October. There were 12 ships in total.

While the Russians never said why they had come, their arrival was interpreted by many Americans as a concrete expression of Russian friendship. The North seemed to be urgently in need of friends and the arrival of Russian warships dramatically highlighted the fact that not only was Alexander II America's one true friend, but that he was seemingly prepared to fight on our side.

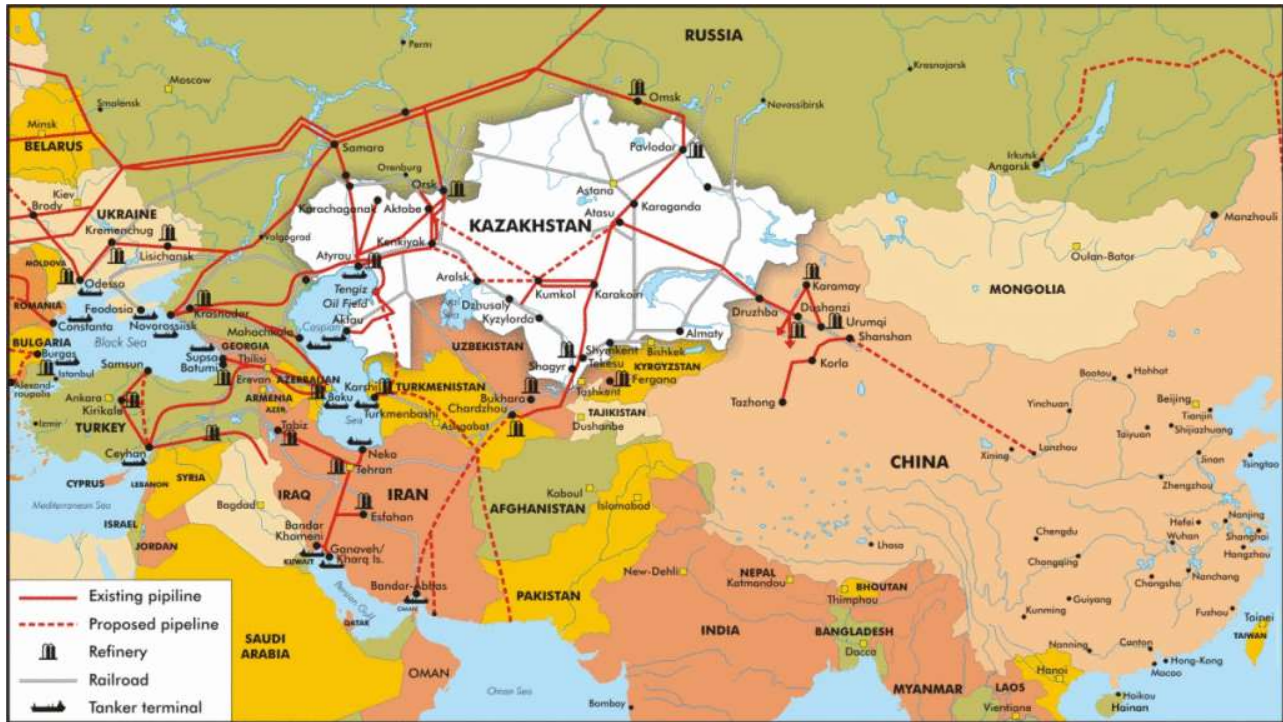

"God bless the Russians!" exclaimed Secretary of the Navy Gideon Welles, and this sentiment was echoed throughout the Union.[7]

These extraordinary gestures of Russian magnanimity beg the question: Why has the USA been so hostile toward Russia for the past century?

There is only one answer ... GREAT BRITAIN. In both cases of vital Russian assistance to the USA, it was Great Britain that was both spurned as well as on the losing side. Like the Romans before them, the British are well known to have very long memories, particularly concerning the highly consequential matters of war and conquest.

It is the United Kingdom, since then, which has continually sown seeds of animosity and ingratitude within the American body politic toward Russia. The UK's own relationship with Russia has been marked by numerous episodes of high level espionage and attempted sabotage, endless treachery and profound betrayal. It is not widely known, but there has been bad blood between the British Monarchy and the Russian Czars going back to the very beginning of The Great Game.

"The Great Game" was a term for the strategic rivalry and conflict between the British Empire and the Russian Empire for supremacy in Central Asia.<sup>[1]</sup> The classic Great Game period is generally regarded as running approximately from the Russo-Persian Treaty of 1813 to the Anglo-Russian Convention of 1907. A less intensive phase followed the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917. In the post-Second World War post-colonial period, the term has continued in use to describe the geopolitical machinations of the Great Powers and regional powers as they vie for geopolitical power and influence in the area.<sup>[2][3][8]</sup>

Modern Map of The Great Game

~ Click on map to enlarge ~

It is this very same dynamic geopolitical conflict — The Great Game — which is driving the biggest events of this new millennium. The British have masterfully manipulated the powers of the AAA to do their bidding; likewise, Russia has enlisted the aid of the BRICS allied nations. Many of the same countries which were once oppressed by British imperialism, especially India, China, and South Africa, are founding members of the BRICS economic union.

Editor's Note

It must be acknowledged that the incessant acts of incitement to war by the British and their American counterparts (as well as their countless agents and proxies around the globe) are a part of a much larger multi-millennial plot to exert “dominion over the Earth”. However, in actuality it is an amorphous, covert organization, which is both nameless and headless, that dictates a hidden agenda from the very top. Those clandestine controllers operate in total secrecy at the very peak of the pinnacle of the pyramid of world power.

Certainly ultra-classified geopolitical policy and top-secret war strategy are formulated at lower levels of the organizational hierarchy, particularly within those participating governments throughout the Anglo-American Axis. False flag implementation plans and the tactical execution of battle plans are overseen and carried out by a network of military services and their special forces, secret services and intelligence agencies, secret societies and paramilitary groups.

While many of the most furtive agents may be ostensibly associated with the British MI6 or American CIA, Israeli MOSSAD or Pakistani ISI, Jesuits or Knights of Malta, Zionists or Jewish Cahilla, Bilderbergers or Trilateral Commission, CFR or RIIA, their oath of loyalty is always given to a power far removed these mere front organizations. Even the mysterious and impenetrable INCUNABULA does not represent the true locus of earthly power that rules the realm.

No matter who it is that is really “calling the shots”, their trademark MO is unmistakable and known by the ubiquitous false flag operation. The false flag attacks on 9/11 (NYC & DC), 3-11 (Madrid), and 7/7 (London), for instance, were all perpetrated by the same network of co-conspirators. Surely their controllers exist in the shadows of the City of London Financial District, the UK Government and the British Monarchy. They similarly move in the dark, back alleys of Wall Street, the US Federal Government and Military-Security Complex, as well as in the labyrinthine Vatican Bank, Roman Curia and Catholic Papacy.

Nevertheless, it is the British point-men over the last two centuries who first initiated The Great Game against the Russian Motherland and who, to this very day, sustain its momentum. As masters of the English language, they have used their extraordinary powers of deception to corral all the other English-speaking nations into playing the same earth-shattering ‘game’. The British Crown that actually exists in the inner City of London (Financial District) has likewise been used to conduct every means of financial manipulation and economic terrorism in order to enforce a regime of compliance throughout the Anglo-American Axis, and beyond.

Truly, the British Empire of old and modern Commonwealth, the English Monarchy of yesteryear and The Crown of today, the British admiralty and Parliamentary statesmen, London financiers and Fleet Street media moguls, have all played key and indispensable roles in The Great Game. However, Russia, along with the other BRICS nations, now realize that this ‘game’ of perpetual war is not so great and, in reality, no game at all. Therefore, the next two to three years will see the AAA juggernaut stopped dead in its tracks, never to terrorize humanity again.

What to Expect in 2015 and 2016

So, can we get more specific about what we'll see in 2015 and 2016?

Here's a list of six things to watch for.

First, watch for the unexpected. War is an unpredictable animal. Economic warfare included. If the U.S. intends to sink Russia, there's no question about it: Russia intends to retaliate. So, if the ruble has been attacked by the U.S., the dollar will be attacked by Russia.

Secondly, the U.S.'s economic attack on Russia is not an attempt to win an economic war with them. All indications are that they can't pull that off. The goal has been to provoke Russia to do something stupid, or to get the Russian people to overthrow Putin. This means that the U.S. cannot keep the oil prices down forever. Instead, they may try to do a few more things to aggravate the Russian economic problems, perhaps even trying to stir up anti-Putin protesters. These efforts will probably fail. Shortly after it becomes clear that Putin isn't budging, I would expect oil prices to gradually increase again — moving closer to market values.

Thirdly, expect the U.S. to continue to provoke Russia in the Ukraine, by supporting worse and worse atrocities against "pro-Russian rebels."

Fourth, Russia will continue to strengthen alliances with China and North Korea, just as the U.S. is trying to steal Cuba away from being a Russian ally close to home. Both sides will continue trying to develop alliances for the hot phase of the war.

Fifth, the war will almost certainly go hot at some point — probably in 2016. Either Russia and its allies will make the first move once it becomes obvious the war is inevitable, or the U.S. will use false-flag attacks. If the propaganda is any indication, this may be a multi-faceted terrorist attack involving cyber-attacks against banks and the power grid, as well as nuclear, biological, or chemical attacks on the mainland. But no one knows for sure. Anyone who pretends to know exactly what will happen, or precisely when it will happen, probably doesn't deserve an audience.

Finally, the dollar will probably experience significant inflation at some point — maybe even catastrophic hyperinflation. This won't be pretty. But it seems to be what Putin is banking on, and he's pretty confident about it.[1]

Glossary

(i) Axis of Evil: The United Kingdom, the United States of America and the Modern State of Israel constitute the real Axis of Evil. George W. Bush as U.S. President would have the world believe that it is Iraq, Iran and North Korea that deserve such a pejorative label. Why? Because each of these countries were operating outside of the rubric of the Central Banking Institutions as exemplified by the U.S. Federal Reserve System. All three nations have been continuously demonized so that wars of aggression might be justified in order to overthrow their uncooperative governments. This exact strategy was executed in Iraq with terribly disastrous results.

(ii) War on Terror = World War III and has been raging under the radar since September 11, 2001 in an effort to bring every nation under the outright domination of the Anglo-American Axis. Iraq was deliberately made a frightening example for the rest of the world to carefully consider. Who will ever forget Shock and Awe 2003?! Likewise, the unprovoked wars of aggression against Afghanistan, Libya, and Syria served the same purpose.

(iii) The Stock Market Crash of 2008 marked beginning of the 2nd Great Depression as a necessary prelude to the hot phase of a planned World War III.

HINT: Let's get serious for a moment. Most of us know by now that the Crash of '29, as well as the Great Depression that followed, were the main events of an intricately engineered financial and economic Armageddon calculated as a necessary prelude to the real Armageddon known as WWII. Historically speaking, a man without a job, or prospects for employment in his homeland, is much more likely to hire himself out to his government as a mercenary fighting in a foreign land. Hasn't this been their (TPTW)* formula for both war and wealth creation for eons? Although it has always worked like a charm, we think the charm has finally worn out. Yes, that old-fashioned Hegelian dialectic based 'problem – reaction – solution' MO has seen its final days. We also think their misbegotten plan to foist WWII upon us has somehow been thwarted by the real TPTB. Yes, they've finally been snookered!
